17 Dead And Six Missing In Charleston Flood

5.4-Inch Rain Turns Creeks To Torrents; Hundreds Homeless

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A torrential cloudburst of monsoon proportions turned a network of creeks into roaring torrents before dawn Thursday, triggering the worst flash floods in this capital city's history.

At least 17 persons were known dead. Six others were missing, lending to the possibility that the death count would climb.

Hundreds of residents who survived the onrushing waters were left homeless. Mayor John Shanklin estimated property damage would mount "into the millions."

Gov. W. W. (Wally) Barron, shortly before noon EDT, declared a state of emergency. He also asked President Kennedy to proclaim the flood-stricken district a major disaster area.

200 Families Homeless

Local sources said approximately 200 families were made homeless in the wake of the disaster. In Washington, national headquarters of the American Red Cross reported that its figures showed 400 families needing shelter. The Red Cross dispatched a team of 15 trained disaster workers to Charleston.

The state's largest city, with a population of 85,706, stretches nearly six miles along the narrow Kanawha Valley and is rimmed by foothills of the Appalachian Mountain range.

The floods struck violently while most of the hill-rimmed city slept. Victims jolted out of their beds in nightclothing told of "walls of water" at times 15 feet high which rode the crest of the floods.

"Hears Flood"

Death played no favorites. The youngest victim was a 2-year-old boy who was missing and feared drowned. The oldest victim was 85.

Miss Almedia Jeffrey "heard" the flood. She didn't see it. She is blind.

"I was terrified," the 70-year-old spinster said following her rescue. "I was dozing in my chair when all of a sudden I heard this loud rush and crashing noise. I heard someone yelling 'Get out, get out, the Hollow's going.' "

The "Hollow" is along Garrison Ave., one of the hardest hit sections and where the flood waters frist struck.

Two men gambled and lost when the flash floods hit. They evacuated a home and took shelter in a chicken coop in a yard on higher ground. The house suffered only minor damage. All that was left of the chicken coop was a mass of twisted, mud-spattered debris. The two men were found dead.

Baby Forgotten, Survives

A 15-month-old boy miraculously survived the flood even though he was unwillingly left behind when other members of the family fled to safety. Rescue workers found little Fritz Hamilton "laughing and playing" in his crib after the flood had subsided.

West Berlin's Mayor Doesn't Look For War

BERLIN (AP) — Despite the increased flow of refugees into West Berlin and Communist blasts at a big Protestant rally here, Mayor Willy Brandt declared Thursday he saw no reason for panic.

He said he did not believe there would be war because of Berlin. But he cautioned it would be silly not to consider the possible consequences of the situation.

"It would be frivolous not to keep clearly in mind the things that are also preoccupying responsible statesmen—I have never said the crisis we are dealing with is devoid of any risk," he told a news conference.

Brandt said that in the first 18 days of this month, 15,524 East Germans—or about double the average rate — had registered in West Berlin. Thousands more flew out of the city without registering.

Questioned on what to do about the refugees, who have made Berlin a thorn in the side of the Communists, Brandt said, "We cannot sit here in safety and say: 'Don't come'. . . ."

Asthe Socialist candidate for Chancellor of West Germany, Brandt said he would not negotiate with Red leader Walther Ulbricht if elected.

He condemned the East German regime for "incompetence and shabbiness" and said this was exemplified by its action against the church rally in Berlin. Communists assailed what they called the "NATO church meeting" for bringing pilgrims here from East Germany.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A giant Titan missile blasted into the sky Thursday night carrying a load of mechanical "decoy" targets designed to foil enemy defenses if the missiles ever were fired in anger.

Senate Unit Backs Kennedy's Foreign Aid Loan Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee late Thursday approved a $4,326,500,000 foreign aid program, along with the full authority President Kennedy asked for a five-year long-term economic development loan program.

The committee put off a final vote on the measure until Friday after trimming only $436 million from Kennedy's total requests for $4,762,500,000 in spending and lending authority for this fiscal year, which started July 1.

The Senate group accepted the chief feature of the program virtually without change. This was his request for authority to borrow $8.8 billion from the Treasury over the next five years for easy-term economic development loans abroad.

Then, in a long afternoon session, the committee voted Kennedy authority for $1.8 billion in funds for military arms aid for the defense pact allies, only $85 million less than he asked for that purpose.

It cut $200 million from Kennedy's request for $500 million as a contingency fund for use at his discretion to meet unforeseen crises which may threaten to erupt in brush fires.

Voting amid mounting East-West tension over Berlin, the committee approved the five-year economic development loan fund plan by a vote of 10-7.

A rough fight still lies ahead on the Senate floor and in the House. The House Foreign Affairs Committee is now considering the legislation.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate committee and an advocate of the President's program, conceded to reporters that the battle is far from won.

"I would guess the Senate would accept the borrowing authority approach," he said, "but it may make changes in details and amounts."

The Senate group not only granted Kennedy's request for authority to borrow funds from the Treasury—a procedure denounced by some critic as "back door financing" — but also approved the amounts he requested in full.

One Republican, Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, joined nine Democrats in approving the President's plan. On the opposing side were two Democrats and five Republicans.

Mail Rate Hike Chances Slim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Post Office Committee Thursday all but killed the postal rate hike President Kennedy was counting on to offset part of the defense spending deficit caused by the Berlin crisis.

It was the second top-priority Kennedy proposal to be shelved this week. The House Rules Committee Tuesday pigeonholed his $2.5 billion public school aid bill and two related measures.

The post office committee virtually ruled out any postal rate boost this year by voting 13 to 19 to postpone further consideration to Aug. 17. Supporters and opponents alike agreed that this meant the measure would be lost in the adjournment rush.

The committee deferred action on a trimmed version of Kennedy's original proposal which would raise an additional $592 million in revenue annually by requiring five cents postage on first class letters, eight cents on airmail letters and higher rates on other mail.

Grissom Waits As Weather Woes Pile Up

BULLETIN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)— Weathermen Thursday night gave a tentative "go-ahead" to plans to rocket astronaut Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom into space shortly after daybreak.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla (AP)—Weather woes piled up Thursday for astronaut Virgil I. Grissom, casting serious doubt on whether he will be able to rocket into space Friday—or even next week.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration meteorologists predicted marginal weather for this area Friday, offering no better than even odds that the sky will be clear enough to permit the second man-in-space shot.

However, the Redstone crew went ahead with a preliminary countdown and reported all missile systems in "go" condition.

If a hope still remains late Thursday night, the count will be resumed at 10:30 p.m., with the aim of a 6 a.m. firing. A final decision on the launching attempt will be made at 2 a.m.

Loading of liquid oxygen into the fuel tanks, which normally starts near the beginning of the final 6½-hour countdown, will be delayed until three hours before scheduled launch time.

This would allow for a "scrub" as late as 3 a.m. without the necessity of another two-or three-day postponement. Once the "lox" flow into the tanks, it takes about 48 hours to empty, dry and clean them before the rocket is again ready to go.

If the shot is washed out before fueling, it could be attempted again on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the first tropical storm of the season, packing winds up to 65 miles an hour, was churning up in the Caribbean about 1,500 miles southeast of this missile test center.

While no immediate effect was foreseen in the launch or landing areas, the space agency said, the storm—called Anna — may snarl things by early next week if Grissom is not sent off on his flight by then.

Hurricane "Anna" Forms In Caribbean

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane "Anna," the first tropical storm of the season, formed in the Caribbean Sea north of Venezuela Thursday and quickly wound up winds of 90 mile-an-hour force.

Anna threatened a chain of islands off the north coast of Venzuela Thursday night as the storm moved westward over the Caribbean at 17 m.p.h. It posed no immediate threat to the U.S. mainland, 1,400 miles to the northwest.

At 6 p.m. EDT the Weather Bureau said the storm's center was near latitude 12.3 north, longitude 66.1 west. This was about 450 miles due south of San Juan, Pureto Rico.

Government Goes In Red $3.9 Billion

Deficit $1.7 Billion More Than JFK's Estimate In March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government went $3.9 billion into the red in the year ended June 30 — about $1.7 billion more than President Kennedy forecast in his last official estimate, it was reported Thursday.

The administration attributed the size of the deficit chiefly to a dip in individual income tax collections caused by the 1960-61 business recession and a speedup in government spending which "was more rapid" than the Kennedy administration had anticipated.

A joint statement by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and Budget Director David E. Bell gave the following figures for fiscal 1961, the government's business year which ended June 30:

Revenue $77.6 billion.
Spending $81.5 billion.
Deficit $3.9 billion.

The $3.9 billion deficit compared with Kennedy's March 28 estimate that the government would go $2.2 billion in the hole.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last January forecast a thin revenue surplus at $79 million. A year earlier, in laying his 1961 budget before Congress, Eisenhower anticipated a whopping $4.2 billion surplus.

About six weeks ago, Secretary Dillon said the 1961 deficit might be nearly $3 billion. The President himself made no specific forecast after March 28.

The Dillon-Bell statement said nothing about the outlook for fiscal 1962 which began July 1. The last official estimate forecast a $3.7 billior deficit. Budget Bureau planners acknowledge, however, that about $5 billion might be a more realistic appraisal.

Dillon and Bell laid heavy emphasis on the business recession in explaining the $3.9 billion deficit for 1961. They said the business slump whittled $856 million from expected individual income tax collections and added $329 million to refunds. Individual tax collections totalled $46.1 billion. Refunds amounted to $5.8 billion.

The decline in individual tax receipts and the increase in refunds were partially offset by corporate taxes. At $21.8 billion, they were up $65 million from the previous estimate.

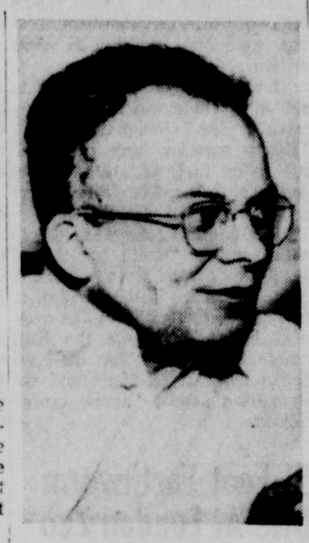

The deficit would have been even bigger except that West Germany repaid ahead of time $500 million owed the United States.

Reds Charge Miss Universe Contest Rigged

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communists Thursday accused the United States of rigging the Miss Universe contest to spur the flight of East German refugees to the West.

The official Communist youth newspaper "Young World" said Marlene Schmidt, 24-year old German electronics engineer, was chosen Miss Universe at Miami Beach Saturday only because she fled to West Germany from the Soviet zone a year ago.

It said the United States hoped that other East German girls would flee to the West in imitation of Miss Universe.

Kennedy Makes Defense Moves On Two Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Thursday moved ahead on two fronts with his plan to step up defenses against the Soviet threat hanging over Berlin.

Kennedy had aides shaping up a detailed program which the President will present to the American people in a nationwide radio-television speech Tuesday night and to Congress the following day.

In a related action—related because he regards civil defense as part of the nation's preparedness—Kennedy transferred major civil defense undertakings from the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization to the Pentagon with a view to increasing the U.S. ability to withstand attack. He called for a stepped-up program for building bomb and fallout shelters.

On the diplomatic front, Kennedy arranged for prompt relay to major Western allies of the details on what he termed his "final judgement" reached at a National Security Council meeting Wednesday on combatting the Berlin threat.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked the British, French and West German ambassadors to a briefing Friday afternoon.

Top Pentagon officials, headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, arranged to leave for Paris and London Saturday to confer with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, and British defense officials.

The U.S. ambassador to NATO, Thomas K. Finletter, who attended the NSC session, plans to return to Paris Saturday to report to the 14 NATO allies.

Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, prepared to leave for Paris next week with a small group of U.S. diplomatic experts. Kohler's group and similar units from other major Western allies are to lay the groundwork for a foreign ministers meeting among the Western Big Four in the French capital Aug. 5-7.

Land, Air, Sea Blows Rained On Tunisians

At Least 150 Killed; French Land More Troops; U.N. To Meet

TUNIS (AP)—Unleashing land, air and sea blows, the French smashed holes in the Tunisian blockade of Bizerte Naval Base Thursday in bloody fighting that raged on into the night.

Tunisian sources said their dead had mounted to 150 in two days of fighting, and makeshift hospitals set out under the open sky were overflowing with wounded. The French have mentioned only one dead so far but the toll is believed far higher.

The conflict over Tunisian claims to the base the French retained after granting Tunisia independence moved into the international arena. The U.N. Security Council was called into emergency session Friday to hear Tunisia's complaint charging France with premeditated agression.

In Paris, Premier Michel Debre announced readiness to negotiate for a cease-fire, then went into conference with President Charles de Gaulle. France has refused to negotiate on withdrawal from Bizerte under Tunisia's threats of force.

In the red glare of artillery fire, France sent in more paratroopers. This was warning that France intended to stand firm against Tunisia's attempt to drive the French from the base.

Rockets Hit Barricades

Rocket-firing French planes attacked Tunisian barricades around the naval base.

The Tunisian government charged the French were airlifting Foreign Legionnaires as well as paratroopers from Algeria to Bizerte.

Travelers from Bizerte spoke in terror of French planes firing rockets into Tunisian mud huts. Some said French military dependents living off the base fired at Tunisian soldiers and civilians.

The Tunisian radio said the Bizerte battle had turned into bloody street fighting and "the victims are countless."

Alarming messages flashed from all embassies in the sweltering Tunisian capital 40 miles southeast of the Bizerte battle scene.

Calm reigned in the city of Tunis but policemen put on steel helmets and carried tommyguns.

The government radio reported "death volunteers" clashed with French Sahara troops in a march to plant the Tunisian flag at a point in the desert 500 miles to the south of Bizerte.

French Troops In Bizerte City, Tunisia Reports

BIZERTE, Tunisia, Friday (UPI) — France today moved troops into the city of Bizerte after ordering Tunisian troops to leave, Tunisian authorities said.

The Tunisians said they would remain in the city of 47,000, which adjoins the big French air and naval base.

"The Tunisian army will oppose any attempt to occupy the city, notwithstanding the threat of aerial bombardment and of street fighting," the governor of the city said.

Tunisia reported French paratroopers fired into a crowd of Tunisian demonstrators early today, killing 25 of them.

Short Weighted Cereal Packages Seized By FDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday it had ordered the seizure of puffed wheat and puffed rice in Camden, N. J., and Baltimore because of short weighted packages.

John L. Harvey, FDA deputy commissioner, said the shipments short weighted up to 15 per cent on wheat packages and 6 per cent on rice packages. They were made by the Quaker Oats Co. at Shiremanstown, Pa.

"Although the company was aware of the short weight problem as early as last April, it continued distribution of the short weight packages until action was taken by the Food and Drug Administration," an FDA announcement said.

Because of the false character of the labeling, further seizures are anticipated, an agency spokesman stated.

Flood Leaves Grim Reminders

By RALPH IZARD

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The sun beamed brightly on Rutledge Road on Upper Elk Two-Mile Creek Thursday, and the blue skies gave little indication of the torrents that swept the area Wednesday night.

But the grim reminders were present — uprooted trees, huge piles of rubble and buildings completely demolished.

And then the most grim reminder of all—the presence of State Police and National Guardsmen seeking some trace of persons listed as missing.

Already two bodies had been pulled from the wreckage along the creek.

The big black car bearing the license "one" drove up the road. A solemn Gov. W. W. Barron and several other equally serious-faced riders viewed the spectacle and left.

Many times cars would stop at the mouth of the road, timid faces would peer through the windows, and a deep voice would say, "I live here. Can I go in?"

And the officers would say, again and again: "I'm sorry, but you'll have to park here and walk up."

And this is just what they did. Entire tamiles—mom, dad and the kids—would leave their cars and walk through the ankle-deep mud, hoping to salvage something from what once was their home.

It was a scene of destruction. Houses were ripped from their foundations and scattered all over the area. A bicycle was bent completely double. A refrigerator floated down the once serene creek.

The only bridge remaining was a large steel structure that led to the local grade school. And even the strong steel railings on each side of the bridge were bent at 45 degree angles.

Water marks on the school and other buildings still standing were as high as 10 feet.

The rushing water had picked up one house intact and moved it twice the length of a football field before the bulk of a hardware store stopped its progress. A large house trailer was completely crushed between the house and hardware store.

Another trailer was moved some 100 yards and toppled into a ditch on its side.

One elderly woman who lived in the area escaped the rushing water. She was Mrs. Bessie Lucas, in her 80s. She showed her gratitude by making several trips from her home perched on a hillside with pots of coffee to serve the workers.

Ex-Convict Admits His School Blast Story Hoax

HENDERSON, Tex. (UPI)—William Estel Benson, 41, an ex-convict, confessed Thursday that he made up a story about causing the New London, Tex., school explosion that killed 293 persons in 1937 because he "wanted to play the big shot."

"I wanted publicity but it got out of hand," he said. "I got more than I wanted. I can't ask the people to forgive me for all of it, this inhuman thing I have done."

Benson's story Monday night of loosening the joints of gas pipes under the school to get even with a principal who scolded him for smoking revived the grief of families throughout Rusk County, Tex.

The explosion has officially been blamed on an accidental accumulation of gas under the school, that was accidentally ignited. The passage of time has eased, though not erased, the grief of parents who lost as many as three sons and daughters.

Benson himself lost a sister and a cousin in the blast, fifth worst in U.S. history.

Benson appeared for 15 minutes Thursday at a news conference arranged by Dist. Atty. William Ferguson.

He said he played hookey March 18, 1937, when the school blew up. The victims included 274 high school students, 14 teachers and five parents.

Ferguson charged Benson with burglarizing two self-service laundries in Kilgore, Tex., part of which is in Rusk County.

A lie detector test that Benson took Wednesday night in Dallas, Tex., indicated that confessions about burglarizing the laundries were true, Ferguson said. The same test indicated that he was lying about the New London explosion.

McNamara, Norstad To Confer In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced Thursday he will leave Saturday for Europe to discuss allied defenses with Gen. Lauris Norstad.

He will be accompanied by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and by other civilian and military leaders from the Pentagon. It will be his first trip to Europe since taking office.

McNamara said he will confer with Norstad, commander of North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) forces, about Norstad's military requirements.

West Berlin's Mayor Doesn't Look For War

BERLIN (AP) — Despite the increased flow of refugees into West Berlin and Communist blasts at a big Protestant rally here, Mayor Willy Brandt declared Thursday he saw no reason for panic.

He said he did not believe there would be war because of Berlin. But he cautioned it would be silly not to consider the possible consequences of the situation.

"It would be frivolous not to keep clearly in mind the things that are also preoccupying responsible statesmen—I have never said the crisis we are dealing with is devoid of any risk," he told a news conference.

Brandt said that in the first 18 days of this month, 15,524 East Germans—or about double the average rate — had registered in West Berlin. Thousands more flew out of the city without registering.

Questioned on what to do about the refugees, who have made Berlin a thorn in the side of the Communists, Brandt said, "We cannot sit here in safety and say: 'Don't come'. . . ."

Asthe Socialist candidate for Chancellor of West Germany, Brandt said he would not negotiate with Red leader Walther Ulbricht if elected.

He condemned the East German regime for "incompetence and shabbiness" and said this was exemplified by its action against the church rally in Berlin. Communists assailed what they called the "NATO church meeting" for bringing pilgrims here from East Germany.

Senate Unit Backs Kennedy's Foreign Aid Loan Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee late Thursday approved a $4,326,500,000 foreign aid program, along with the full authority President Kennedy asked for a five-year long-term economic development loan program.

The committee put off a final vote on the measure until Friday after trimming only $436 million from Kennedy's total requests for $4,762,500,000 in spending and lending authority for this fiscal year, which started July 1.

The Senate group accepted the chief feature of the program virtually without change. This was his request for authority to borrow $8.8 billion from the Treasury over the next five years for easy-term economic development loans abroad.

Then, in a long afternoon session, the committee voted Kennedy authority for $1.8 billion in funds for military arms aid for the defense pact allies, only $85 million less than he asked for that purpose.

It cut $200 million from Kennedy's request for $500 million as a contingency fund for use at his discretion to meet unforeseen crises which may threaten to erupt in brush fires.

Voting amid mounting East-West tension over Berlin, the committee approved the five-year economic development loan fund plan by a vote of 10-7.

A rough fight still lies ahead on the Senate floor and in the House. The House Foreign Affairs Committee is now considering the legislation.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate committee and an advocate of the President's program, conceded to reporters that the battle is far from won.

"I would guess the Senate would accept the borrowing authority approach," he said, "but it may make changes in details and amounts."

The Senate group not only granted Kennedy's request for authority to borrow funds from the Treasury—a procedure denounced by some critic as "back door financing" — but also approved the amounts he requested in full.

One Republican, Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, joined nine Democrats in approving the President's plan. On the opposing side were two Democrats and five Republicans.

Mail Rate Hike Chances Slim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Post Office Committee Thursday all but killed the postal rate hike President Kennedy was counting on to offset part of the defense spending deficit caused by the Berlin crisis.

It was the second top-priority Kennedy proposal to be shelved this week. The House Rules Committee Tuesday pigeonholed his $2.5 billion public school aid bill and two related measures.

The post office committee virtually ruled out any postal rate boost this year by voting 13 to 19 to postpone further consideration to Aug. 17. Supporters and opponents alike agreed that this meant the measure would be lost in the adjournment rush.

The committee deferred action on a trimmed version of Kennedy's original proposal which would raise an additional $592 million in revenue annually by requiring five cents postage on first class letters, eight cents on air-mail letters and higher rates on other mail.

Grissom Waits As Weather Woes Pile Up

BULLETIN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)— Weathermen Thursday night gave a tentative "go-ahead" to plans to rocket astronaut Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom into space shortly after daybreak.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla (AP)—Weather woes piled up Thursday for astronaut Virgil I. Grissom, casting serious doubt on whether he will be able to rocket into space Friday—or even next week.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration meteorologists predicted marginal weather for this area Friday, offering no better than even odds that the sky will be clear enough to permit the second man-in-space shot.

However, the Redstone crew went ahead with a preliminary countdown and reported all missile systems in "go" condition.

If a hope still remains late Thursday night, the count will be resumed at 10:30 p.m., with the aim of a 6 a.m. firing. A final decision on the launching attempt will be made at 2 a.m.

Loading of liquid oxygen into the fuel tanks, which normally starts near the beginning of the final 6½-hour countdown, will be delayed until three hours before scheduled launch time.

This would allow for a "scrub" as late as 3 a.m. without the necessity of another two-or three-day postponement. Once the "lox" flow into the tanks, it takes about 48 hours to empty, dry and clean them before the rocket is again ready to go.

If the shot is washed out before fueling, it could be attempted again on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the first tropical storm of the season, packing winds up to 65 miles an hour, was churning up in the Caribbean about 1,500 miles southeast of this missile test center.

While no immediate effect was foreseen in the launch or landing areas, the space agency said, the storm—called Anna — may snarl things by early next week if Grissom is not sent off on his flight by then.

Kennedy Makes Defense Moves On Two Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Thursday moved ahead on two fronts with his plan to step up defenses against the Soviet threat hanging over Berlin.

Kennedy had aides shaping up a detailed program which the President will present to the American people in a nationwide radio-television speech Tuesday night and to Congress the following day.

In a related action—related because he regards civil defense as part of the nation's preparedness—Kennedy transferred major civil defense undertakings from the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization to the Pentagon with a view to increasing the U.S. ability to withstand attack. He called for a stepped-up program for building bomb and fallout shelters.

On the diplomatic front, Kennedy arranged for prompt relay to major Western allies of the details on what he termed his "final judgement" reached at a National Security Council meeting Wednesday on combatting the Berlin threat.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked the British, French and West German ambassadors to a briefing Friday afternoon.

Top Pentagon officials, headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, arranged to leave for Paris and London Saturday to confer with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, and British defense officials.

The U.S. ambassador to NATO, Thomas K. Finletter, who attended the NSC session, plans to return to Paris Saturday to report to the 14 NATO allies.

Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, prepared to leave for Paris next week with a small group of U.S. diplomatic experts. Kohler's group and similar units from other major Western allies are to lay the groundwork for a foreign ministers meeting among the Western Big Four in the French capital Aug. 5-7.

Reds Charge Miss Universe Contest Rigged

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communists Thursday accused the United States of rigging the Miss Universe contest to spur the flight of East German refugees to the West.

The official Communist youth newspaper "Young World" said Marlene Schmidt, 24-year old German electronics engineer, was chosen Miss Universe at Miami Beach Saturday only because she fled to West Germany from the Soviet zone a year ago.

It said the United States hoped that other East German girls would flee to the West in imitation of Miss Universe.

Short Weighted Cereal Packages Seized By FDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday it had ordered the seizure of puffed wheat and puffed rice in Camden, N. J., and Baltimore because of short weighted packages.

John L. Harvey, FDA deputy commissioner, said the shipments short weighted up to 15 per cent on wheat packages and 6 per cent on rice packages. They were made by the Quaker Oats Co. at Shiremanstown, Pa.

"Although the company was aware of the short weight problem as early as last April, it continued distribution of the short weight packages until action was taken by the Food and Drug Administration," an FDA announcement said.

Because of the false character of the labeling, further seizures are anticipated, an agency spokesman stated.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A giant Titan missile blasted into the sky Thursday night carrying a load of mechanical "decoy" targets designed to foil enemy defenses if the missiles ever were fired in anger.

Flood Leaves Grim Reminders

By RALPH IZARD

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The sun beamed brightly on Rutledge Road on Upper Elk Two-Mile Creek Thursday, and the blue skies gave little indication of the torrents that swept the area Wednesday night.

But the grim reminders were present — uprooted trees, huge piles of rubble and buildings completely demolished.

And then the most grim reminder of all—the presence of State Police and National Guardsmen seeking some trace of persons listed as missing.

Already two bodies had been pulled from the wreckage along the creek.

The big black car bearing the license "one" drove up the road. A solemn Gov. W. W. Barron and several other equally serious-faced riders viewed the spectacle and left.

Many times cars would stop at the mouth of the road, timid faces would peer through the windows, and a deep voice would say, "I live here. Can I go in?"

And the officers would say, again and again: "I'm sorry, but you'll have to park here and walk up."

And this is just what they did. Entire families—mom, dad and the kids—would leave their cars and walk through the ankle-deep mud, hoping to salvage something from what once was their home.

It was a scene of destruction. Houses were ripped from their foundations and scattered all over the area. A bicycle was bent completely double. A refrigerator floated down the once serene creek.

The only bridge remaining was a large steel structure that led to the local grade school. And even the strong steel railings on each side of the bridge were bent at 45 degree angles.

Water marks on the school and other buildings still standing were as high as 10 feet.

The rushing water had picked up one house intact and moved it twice the length of a football field before the bulk of a hardware store stopped its progress. A large house trailer was completely crushed between the house and hardware store.

Another trailer was moved some 100 yards and toppled into a ditch on its side.

One elderly woman who lived in the area escaped the rushing water. She was Mrs. Bessie Lucas, in her 80s. She showed her gratitude by making several trips from her home perched on a hillside with pots of coffee to serve the workers.

Hurricane "Anna" Forms In Caribbean

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane "Anna," the first tropical storm of the season, formed in the Caribbean Sea north of Venezuela Thursday and quickly wound up winds of 90 mile-an-hour force.

Anna threatened a chain of islands off the north coast of Venzuela Thursday night as the storm moved westward over the Caribbean at 17 m.p.h. It posed no immediate threat to the U.S. mainland, 1,400 miles to the northwest.

At 6 p.m. EDT the Weather Bureau said the storm's center was near latitude 12.3 north, longitude 66.1 west. This was about 450 miles due south of San Juan, Pureto Rico.

Ex-Convict Admits His School Blast Story Hoax

HENDERSON, Tex. (UPI)—William Estel Benson, 41, an ex-convict, confessed Thursday that he made up a story about causing the New London, Tex., school explosion that killed 293 persons in 1937 because he "wanted to play the big shot."

"I wanted publicity but it got out of hand," he said. "I got more than I wanted. I can't ask the people to forgive me for all of it, this inhuman thing I have done."

Benson's story Monday night of loosening the joints of gas pipes under the school to get even with a principal who scolded him for smoking revived the grief of families throughout Rusk County, Tex.

The explosion has officially been blamed on an accidental accumulation of gas under the school, that was accidentally ignited. The passage of time has eased, though not erased, the grief of parents who lost as many as three sons and daughters.

Benson himself lost a sister and a cousin in the blast, fifth worst in U.S. history.

Benson appeared for 15 minutes Thursday at a news conference arranged by Dist. Atty. William Ferguson.

He said he played hookey March 18, 1937, when the school blew up. The victims included 274 high school students, 14 teachers and five parents.

Ferguson charged Benson with burglarizing two self-service laundries in Kilgore, Tex., part of which is in Rusk County.

A lie detector test that Benson took Wednesday night in Dallas, Tex., indicated that confessions about burglarizing the laundries were true, Ferguson said. The same test indicated that he was lying about the New London explosion.

McNamara, Norstad To Confer In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced Thursday he will leave Saturday for Europe to discuss allied defenses with Gen. Lauris Norstad.

He will be accompanied by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and by other civilian and military leaders from the Pentagon. It will be his first trip to Europe since taking office.

McNamara said he will confer with Norstad, commander of North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) forces, about Norstad's military requirements.

Trial Of Eichmann Nears Final Stages

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Prosecuting and defense attorneys completed examination of Adolf Eichmann Thursday and the trial of the former SS colonel on charges of the massacre of six million European Jews neared its final stages.

Eichmann faced further questioning by the three-man Israeli court which is expected to complete taking his testimony Friday. The court then is expected to declare a week-long recess to permit both prosecution and defense to draw up their summations. The trial opened April 11.

Attorney General Gideon Hausner wound up 10-days of gruelling cross-examination at the morning session after Eichmann first admitted and then denied that he ordered the "death march" of 50,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944.

Eichmann underwent two hours of re-direct examination by his chief defense attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, at the afternoon session before the judges began their questioning.

Associate Judge Yitzhak Raveh was the first to question Eichmann who has consistently maintained that anything he did was on orders from superiors.

Raveh asked Eichmann what he meant when he said in his pre-trial interrogation that he followed the "categorical imperative" law of German philosopher Immanuel Kant.

Kant argued that a man should follow his own conscience in obeying superiors as long as their orders are justified.

"I wanted my way of living to set an example within the framework of law," Eichmann replied. "But a superior force prevented my living that way. I knew the orders of the head of state (Hitler) could not be the will of God."

After admitting he was responsible for the "death march" of 50,000 Jews from Budapest to the Austrian border in the late fall of 1944, he backtracked in the very next breath to blame the Nazi ambassador to Hungary, the Nazi police chief in Hungary and the Hungarian fascist "arrow cross" militia.

Three West Va. Fugitives Nabbed

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Three escapees from a West Virginia prison were captured Wednesday by a state trooper.

Trooper Leonard J. Alexander spotted the three still in olive drab prison shirts, riding in a 13-year old car bearing West Virginia license plates.

When Alexander ordered the car to halt he discovered he had taken three men who broke out of Huttonsville State Prison at Huttonsville, W. Va., Tuesday.

Alexander arrested the men as fugitives from justice. They waived extradition and were being held at Broome County jail here for West Virginia authorities.

The men were identified as Bernard Northern, 33, serving two to 10 years for forgery, Norman E. Cisco, 25, serving five years for robbery, and William A. Taylor, 19, serving 10 years for breaking and entering. All are Moundsville, W. Va., residents.

5½-Foot Earthworm Dies At London Zoo

LONDON (AP) — Gertrude, the London Zoo's 5½-foot-long earthworm, is dead.

"We don't think it was eating very well," said a zoo spokesman, "But, of course, it could have been old age."

Asked how old the worm was, the spokesman said: "We don't know, but quite old for a worm, we think."

The worm arrived here June 11 from New York after being caught in the Colombian Andes.

For the second straight day, the French sent in picked paratrooper reinforcements to Bizerte.

An undisclosed number of paratroopers in ful battle dress dropped from several planes on the Bizerte airstrip.

They went immediately into combat, manning points on the perimeter of the base that for two days has been under fire from the Tunisians.

A French announcement said bombers from Bizerte had made a successful air strike on a Tunisian stronghold in a cement plant near the base, destroying Tunisian gun positions.

House Rejects Kennedy NLRB Revamp Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats teamed with Republicans in the House Thursday to reject President Kennedy's plan to reorganize procedures of the National Labor Relations Board. The vote was 231—179.

Later, the Southern Democrat-Republican coalition didn't function when the House rejected, 218-184, a Republican effort to kill the White House plan to abolish the Maritime Board and give most of its powers to the secretary of commerce. This will become effective Aug. 11 unless the Senate vetoes it.

On the NLRB vote, 78 Democrats voted against the White House, along with 153 Republicans. Twelve Republicans joined 167 Democrats in supporting the plan which, in committee hearings, was generally favored by unions and opposed by management spokesmen.

Thursday's votes left only one of seven reorganization plans still unacted upon. That is the program for reorganizing the Home Loan Bank Board. This has drawn no organized opposition.

The NLRB defeat was the third setback suffered by Kennedy on his seven proposals. Earlier, the House, following requests by the broadcasting industry, rejected the plan for the Federal Communications Commission. The Senate turned down the proposal on the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Plans for the Federal Trade Commission and Civil Aeronautics Board went through and now are in effect.

The NLRB plan was up for action in the Senate when the House voted. The Senate then laid it aside permanently since rejection by either House constitutes a veto. The plans become effective 60 days after submission unless so vetoed and the NLRB changes would have become effective Sunday.

The NLRB proposal would have allowed trial examiners in unfair labor practice cases to make initial decisions with these subject to review by the board at its discretion. At present, examiners can make recommendations only and the full five-man board must rule on each case.

Man Held In Theft Of 340 Tons Scrap

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The FBI Thursday arrested a 36-year-old father of six on a charge of stealing 340 tons of scrap iron valued at $6,661 from the U. S. Naval Ordinance Plant in South Charleston, W. Va. last February.

Special Agent Bernard C. Brown in charge of the Pittsburgh FBI, identified the man as Robert L. Sweeney of Pittsburgh's Mt. Washington section.

Sweeney at the time, the FBI said, was employed as an administrative assistant to the job superintendent of a Pittsburgh firm that engaged in dismantling and removing heavy equipment from the plant.

Nazis Get Year At Hard Labor For Boy Attack

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Two members of George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party were sentenced Thursday to 12 months at hard labor for assault on a 13-year-old Jewish boy.

In separate cases, another member of the party was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $100 for assault and battery, while two others were acquitted of misdemeanor charges.

In the case involving the Jewish boy, Juvenile Court Judge Hugh Cregger directed that Robert Garber, 31, and Richard Braun, 26, serve their sentences on state convict road force. He imposed the maximum sentence on the misdemeanor charge after ruling that the evidence was not sufficient to support a felonious assault charge.

The 13-year-old boy, Ricky Farber, testified that on July 8 he was chased by one of the Nazis carrying a lead pipe, threatened, and forced into party's headquarters where he said he was handcuffed.

"What I feel about your exploits and what your organization stands for, I have tried to divorce from this trial as much as possible," Judge Cregger told Braun and Garber as he sentenced them.

The judge sentenced Anthony Edward Wells, 23, to 60 days in jail and fined him $100 for assault and battery on a 16-year-old boy.

Emergency

havoc in the form of a 5.4 inch rainfall in a four-hour period late Wednesday night and early Thursday, turned merciful as rescue operations continued.

The bright morning and afternoon sunshine provided a marked contrast to the storm clouds that hovered over the district for nearly a week, spewing showers and finally "opening up" with the heavy rainfall.

The narrow Kanawha Valley, by the very nature of its terrain, made Charleston and the surrounding district vulnerable targets for the flash floods which resulted.

"It looks like a monsoon struck," said Patrolman William Blackhurst. "Trees were lying all over the roads and one section of a four-lane highway looked like someone had bulldozed dirt over it."

To meet the emergency, more than 250 National Guardsmen were called out. Bulldozers and other heavy equipmet were brought into play.

Electrical power and telephone service were knocked out in many sections.

Camaraderie Prevails 100 Years Later At Manassas

MANASSAS BATTLEFIELD, Va.(AP)—Men in blue and gray bivouacked side by side Thursday night on the eve of the 100th anniversary of First Manassas or Bull Run, the first great battle in the long agony that was the Civil War.

Pulling in from all points of the compass, they unpacked auto trailers, set up tents, ran up the Stars and Stripes or C.S.A. flags, oiled their old muskets, combed their beards, and got set for a grand re-enactment of the battle this weekend.

Symbolic of the camaraderie that contrasts so sharply with the bitterness of 1861 was this announcement.

A wealthy Yankee, proprietor of a summer resort at Lenxo, Mass., has been picked to play the part of Stonewall Jackson and a man from the Old South town of Manassas, Va., has been cast as William Tecumseh Sherman.

Friday, the actual anniversary of the battle, will see a dress rehearsal of the re-enactment. The actual show will go on Saturday, with a repeat performance Sunday.

Two thousand men, mostly members of the North-South Skirmishers Association, will enact the roles of the 30,000 Federals and 30,000 Confederates who were arrayed against each other that sweltering, dusty Sunday in 1861. Only the most crucial events, including a dramatic artillery duel of horse-drawn batteries at the incredibly close distance of 330 yards, will be depicted.

There is no way to show the long, chaotic retreat of the beaten Federal army back to Washington—a 26-mile, stumbling flight impeded by the swarms of panicky northern sightseers, who had driven out from the capital in gigs, hacks and fine carriages to picnic near the battlefield, watch the Federals crush the Rebels and press "on to Richmond."

The traffic jam on the Warrenton-Washington Turnpike (now Route 29-211) was terrific that day, and jittery State Police are keeping their fingers crossed lest it be worse this weekend. Some 80,000 people are expected. Prices ranging from $4 in the grandstand to nothing for standing room.

Camaraderie Prevails 100 Years Later At Manassas

MANASSAS BATTLEFIELD, Va.(AP)—Men in blue and gray bivouacked side by side Thursday night on the eve of the 100th anniversary of First Manassas or Bull Run, the first great battle in the long agony that was the Civil War.

Pulling in from all points of the compass, they unpacked auto trailers, set up tents, ran up the Stars and Stripes or C.S.A. flags, oiled their old muskets, combed their beards, and got set for a grand re-enactment of the battle this weekend.

Symbolic of the camaraderie that contrasts so sharply with the bitterness of 1861 was this announcement.

A wealthy Yankee, proprietor of a summer resort at Lenxo, Mass., has been picked to play the part of Stonewall Jackson and a man from the Old South town of Manassas, Va., has been cast as William Tecumseh Sherman.

Friday, the actual anniversary of the battle, will see a dress rehearsal of the re-enactment. The actual show will go on Saturday, with a repeat performance Sunday.

Two thousand men, mostly members of the North-South Skirmishers Association, will enact the roles of the 30,000 Federals and 30,000 Confederates who were arrayed against each other that sweltering, dusty Sunday in 1861. Only the most crucial events, including a dramatic artillery duel of horse-drawn batteries at the incredibly close distance of 330 yards, will be depicted.

There is no way to show the long, chaotic retreat of the beaten Federal army back to Washington—a 26-mile, stumbling flight impeded by the swarms of panicky northern sightseers, who had driven out from the capital in gigs, hacks and fine carriages to picnic near the battlefield, watch the Federals crush the Rebels and press "on to Richmond."

The traffic jam on the Warrenton-Washington Turnpike (now Route 29-211) was terrific that day, and jittery State Police are keeping their fingers crossed lest it be worse this weekend. Some 80,000 people are expected. Prices ranging from $4 in the grandstand to nothing for standing room.

Nazis Get Year At Hard Labor For Boy Attack

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Two members of George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party were sentenced Thursday to 12 months at hard labor for assault on a 13-year-old Jewish boy.

In separate cases, another member of the party was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $100 for assault and battery, while two others were acquitted of misdemeanor charges.

In the case involving the Jewish boy, Juvenile Court Judge Hugh Cregger directed that Robert Garber, 31, and Richard Braun, 26, serve their sentences on state convict road force. He imposed the maximum sentence on the misdemeanor charge after ruling that the evidence was not sufficient to support a felonious assault charge.

The 13-year-old boy, Ricky Farber, testified that on July 8 he was chased by one of the Nazis carrying a lead pipe, threatened, and forced into party's headquarters where he said he was handcuffed.

"What I feel about your exploits and what your organization stands for, I have tried to divorce from this trial as much as possible," Judge Cregger told Braun and Garber as he sentenced them.

The judge sentenced Anthony Edward Wells, 23, to 60 days in jail and fined him $100 for assault and battery on a 16-year-old boy.

Emergency

havoc in the form of a 5.4 inch rainfall in a four-hour period late Wednesday night and early Thursday, turned merciful as rescue operations continued.

The bright morning and afternoon sunshine provided a marked contrast to the storm clouds that hovered over the district for nearly a week, spewing showers and finally "opening up" with the heavy rainfall.

The narrow Kanawha Valley, by the very nature of its terrain, made Charleston and the surrounding district vulnerable targets for the flash floods which resulted.

"It looks like a monsoon struck," said Patrolman William Blackhurst. "Trees were lying all over the roads and one section of a four-lane highway looked like someone had bulldozed dirt over it."

To meet the emergency, more than 250 National Guardsmen were called out. Bulldozers and other heavy equipmet were brought into play.

Electrical power and telephone service were knocked out in many sections.

City hospitals were swamped with slightly injured and frightened evacuees.

Tawes Urges Legionnaires Keep Up Guard

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland legionnaires were urged by Gov. Tawes Thursday to "continue your crusade for a strong nation, dedicated to a lasting peace but fully prepared to repulse any and all forces that might threaten our freedom."

Delegates to the 43 annual state convention of the American Legion themselves were expected to be asked by one of their posts to back a move for a required course in Maryland public schools on "Americanism versus Communism."

A resolution for a mandatory six-week, 30-hour school course contrasting the American and Communist forms of government was introduced by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Post 81.

The resolution asks legionnaires to back introduction of such a bill in the General Assembly.

Tawes, in his address at opening functions of the three-day convention, said the United States faces in international Communism an "enemy as massive and powerful as it is cruel." He added:

It takes no imagination to surmise what will happen if we for one moment let down our guard . . . In Laos, in Berlin, anywhere a crisis develops, it is evident the Russians disregard principals and heed only strength. All hope of national survival will perish if we falter before the Communist tyranny."

Members of the Legion were holding their convention in downtown Baltimore hotel, while a few blocks away members of the Legion Auxiliary met in their annual state gathering.

The Laurel Unit No. 60 swept auxiliary honors in annual competitive programs by the women of the Legion.

The Laurel unit won the Bessie L. Mercer Memorial Cup, the auxiliary's most coveted award, for the best all-around activity during the past year.

Laurel also won the auxiliary's child welfare, community service, civil defense, music, national security and publicity awards.

The James C. Ludwig Unit 139 of Baltimore won the auxiliary's americanism award, and the Hamilton Unit 20 won the rehabilitation award for service work with hospitalized veterans.

Audit Notice Found In Desk Of Missing Man

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A search of the desk of Orvie B. Thumel Jr., missing Anne Arundel County Sanitary Commission treasurer, has turned up a letter from State Auditor Leo J. Parr.

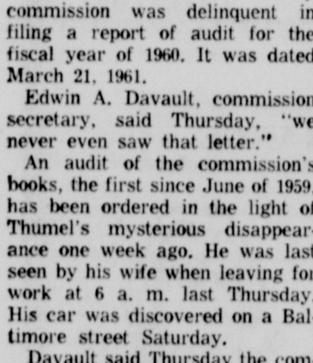

Parr's letter said the sanitary commission was delinquent in filing a report of audit for the fiscal year of 1960. It was dated March 21, 1961.

Edwin A. Davault, commission secretary, said Thursday, "we never even saw that letter."

An audit of the commission's books, the first since June of 1959, has been ordered in the light of Thumel's mysterious disappearance one week ago. He was last seen by his wife when leaving for work at 6 a. m. last Thursday. His car was discovered on a Baltimore street Saturday.

Davault said Thursday the commission had asked Thumel on several occasions to arrange for an audit. "He told us he was back in his posting and would take an audit as soon as it was caught up," Davault said. "The commission has been after him for quite some time to take care of this matter."

Police have issued a 13-state missing person's alert for the 34-year old Millersville man. President Frank W. Wilde of the Anne Arundel County commissioners has called for an immediate probe of the sanitary commission.

Teen-Age Girl Acquitted In Slaying Of Ex-Marine

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—Linda Marie Heavener, a pretty brunette teen-ager, was acquitted of a murder charge Thursday at a 15-minutes hearing at which a verdict was requested clearing her "by reason of insanity at the time of the alleged offense."

Miss Heavener, an 18-year-old graduate of Annapolis High School, sobbed softly during the brief session in Howard County Circuit Court.

She had been charged with the fatal stabbing a year ago of George W. Cooley, a 21-year-old former Marine who died in the kitchen of the girl's home after he had been stabbed above the heart.

The acquittal was requested by State's Atty. T. Hunt Mayfield, who said the prosecution was willing to accept a psychiatrist's report that the girl was not responsible at the time.

Miss Heavener reacted "in a state of extreme panic in the defense of her physical and moral integrity," said the report by Dr. Oscar G. Prado of the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

Dr. Prado's report to the court said Cooley had been drinking heavily and had molested and sexually assaulted the girl while her family was away from home.

Attorneys for the girl had entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity last January. The case was moved here on a change of venue from Anne Arundel County.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Judge A. Bandiere of the Baltimore County Appeal Tax Court has proposed federal legislation that would permit local governments to levy assessments against federal property in use by private industry.

His recommendation to the Maryland congressional delegation came in the wake of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision which held that Baltimore County must rebate some $3 million property taxes collected from the Martin Co. and other firms.

The judge said the federal government should be obliged to share a burden of local taxes, but noted: "The bill would have to be national in scope in order to be fair to all localities and all businesses."

Opening lead: Four of ♥ Today's hand present an interesting case where East, a member of the younger generation, rejected all the standard rules of play. Giving sway to his own natural instincts, he found the only defense to defeat the contract.

The bidding was routine for the first round, but we feel that North's two club rebid, followed by his delayed spade raise, represented an overcautious approach. With this minimum balanced holding containing a stopper in each suit, we would be inclined to try for a nine trick game in preference to one that requires ten tricks. Had North rebid one no trump directly, South would have promptly raised him to three no trump.

West opened the four of hearts and declarer won in his hand with the ace. The jack of spades was led and ducked around to East's queen.

The futility of a heart return was, of course, apparent. The instinctive play, therefore, would be the queen of clubs. Brief analysis, however, made it clear that South had the ace and that clubs would not provide a fertile source for defensive tricks, inasmuch as the dummy's diamonds loomed available for potential discards.

One conclusion East reached with certainty—namely, that West had the ace of spades. This deduction was based on the manner in which declarer attacked the trump suit. Holding the ace himself, he would not have been inclined to take a first round finesse of the jack.

On this line of reasoning, East set out to obtain a diamond ruff, which would be available if South had at least three diamonds. Consequently he played the ace and another diamond and, when West was in with the ace of trumps, the diamond ruff produced trick number four for the defense.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

The Earth's dusty halo and its deep crust, and female fancy are subjects of scientific study:

EARTH'S HALO

Scientists have advanced numerous guesses to explain a cloud or concentration of fine dust around the earth. One idea is it comes from meteorites hitting the moon and spraying off moondust which becomes captured in a belt around the earth.

Another explanation is suggested by Dr. J. H. Fremlin, physicist of the University of Birminghah, England. He thinks perhaps the dust comes from tiny meteorites which just graze the earth's atmosphere, but are slowed down enough by this to be captured by the earth's gravitational field.

UP FROM THE DEEP

Oceanographers are examining specimens of rocks believed to be the first ever obtained from the deepest layer of the earth's crust.

They came from the north wall of the Puerto Rico Trench, which lies under three to four miles of water north of Puerto Rico, and were dredged up by the research ship, Chain, of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

FEMALE FANCY

How important is female fancy in choice of mate, and hence in evolution?

This and other questions of evolution are being studied in blister beetles by Prof. Richard B. Selander of the University of Illinois with a National Science Foundation grant.

There are some 2,500 species of blister beetles, so known because they can blister human skin if bruised or smashed. The beetles vary widely in modifications of antennae, legs, and other parts, particularly among the males, and these male characteristics play a vital part in the courtship and mating, he explains.

So the choice by the female for mate could be important in the evolution of species, along with environment, food, and presence of natural enemies.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — We women must man the battle stations.

The National Man's Legion wants to make it unlawful for a female to hold any job a man might hold.

The legion also wants to strip us of the right to vote.

The ads state that "a multi-billion dollar business awaits America upon the return of 25 million women (married and single) to the home."

Baron said this wave of prosperity would stem from a population boom—say a doubling of the birth rate the first year women stayed home.

Baron said the surrender of women in the work-a-day world also would encourage inventions for prosperity and defense and erase the unemployment problem.

"Today," the ad said, 'It is treason to employ women. The man is 27,000 per cent more creative (superior) to the woman."

Baron said the legion arrived at the 27,000 per cent index of male superiority by thumbing through the U.S. patent index for 1959. Of some 52,000 inventions, only 190 were credited to women.

A look around the typical home testified further to the creative powers of men, according to Baron.

"The match, electricity, refrigerators, stoves, carpets, and the can opener was invented by a man."

Would Fatten Markets

The legion figures a doubling of the birth rate would fatten markets for consumer goods by $5 billion a year.

Baron said the legion really has women at heart.

"Women are selling themselves short," he said. "They don't know their own powers. A woman achieves more by being a woman than by competing with men."

At least — that's the National Man's Legion Opinion.

Science Encyclopedia For Elementary School Use Compiled

CHICAGO (UPI)—The first science encyclopedia ever written especially for elementary school use is being prepared for publication this fall.

A team of about 60 educators and scientists is writing and compiling the 19-volume work under sponsorship of the National College of Education, Evanston, Ill.

While designed for easy use by third to eighth grade pupils, the encyclopedia will be detailed enough to serve as a reference work for high school students.

It also is intended to teach teachers more about science, particularly the physical sciences.

Director of the team producing the encyclopedia is Dr. W. Ray Rucker, dean of the National College.

Rucker said the encyclopedia was needed primarily to foster a "discovery" or research approach to science at the elementary school level. "The big emphasis needs to be on teaching a discovery approach to science that unleashes the fresh imaginations of the younger generation," he said. He maintained this could not be accomplished with textbooks, alone.

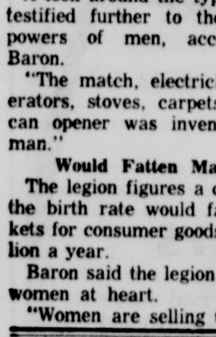

Dr. Helen Challand, chairman of science and mathematics at the college and associate editor of the encyclopedia, explained it emphasizes the physical sciences. "Our elementary schools up to now have been understandably involved in nature study, shying away from the physical sciences," she said. "But with all the current push on the aerospace and nuclear sciences, teachers are forced to go to the physical sciences more and, regrettably, this is one of their weaknesses."

The 19-volume work will include some 2,600 entries, about one million words and 3,000 illustrations in full color. Its factual starting point in some cases will be 10 to 15 years ahead of most current textbooks, editors estimate.

The first hand axes, made in the old stone age, can't be reproduced by modern man.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

The Earth's dusty halo and its deep crust, and female fancy are subjects of scientific study:

EARTH'S HALO

Scientists have advanced numerous guesses to explain a cloud or concentration of fine dust around the earth. One idea is it comes from meteorites hitting the moon and spraying off moondust which becomes captured in a belt around the earth.

Another explanation is suggested by Dr. J. H. Fremlin, physicist of the University of Birminghah, England. He thinks perhaps the dust comes from tiny meteorites which just graze the earth's atmosphere, but are slowed down enough by this to be captured by the earth's gravitational field.

UP FROM THE DEEP

Oceanographers are examining specimens of rocks believed to be the first ever obtained from the deepest layer of the earth's crust. They came from the north wall of the Puerto Rico Trench, which lies under three to four miles of water north of Puerto Rico, and were dredged up by the research ship, Chain, of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

FEMALE FANCY

How important is female fancy in choice of mate, and hence in evolution?

This and other questions of evolution are being studied in blister beetles by Prof. Richard B. Selander of the University of Illinois with a National Science Foundation grant.

There are some 2,500 species of blister beetles, so known because they can blister human skin if bruised or smashed. The beetles vary widely in modifications of antennae, legs, and other parts, particularly among the males, and these male characteristics play a vital part in the courtship and mating, he explains.

So the choice by the female for mate could be important in the evolution of species, along with environment, food, and presence of natural enemies.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — We women must man the battle stations. The National Man's Legion wants to make it unlawful for a female to hold any job a man might hold.

The legion also wants to strip us of the right to vote.

Eugene B. Baron, general secretary of the legion, said in an interview that the organization was formed in 1940.

"Among the founders," he said, "was the late Walter Pitkin, author of 'Life Begins At Forty.' But then the war came along and women were needed. It knocked our program on its ear, you might say."

76 Men Sign Up For New SS Benefits

There have been 76 men between 62 and 65 years of age who have applied for Social Security retirement benefits under the new program in the area served by the Cumberland office of the federal agency.

Women have had the right to retire at age 62 since 1956, according to W. R. Campbell, manager of the local office.

The new amendments to the Social Security law signed by President Kennedy recently, is designed especially to help those who are unable to find employment because of their age or poor health.

But if he retires before he reaches age 65, the monthly amount of benefit paid to him is reduced. He will continue to be paid the reduced amount even after he reaches 65.

Dependent widowers and the dependent fathers of workers who have died also can get benefits at age 62. Their benefits, like those of widows and dependent mothers, are not reduced.

For men who retire early, the amount by which their benefits will be reduced depends on the number of months for which they will receive benefits while still under 65. A worker who retires and claims his benefits as soon as he reaches 62 will qualify for 80 per cent of the amount that would be payable to him at age 65 based on his average earnings up until his retirement. If he waits until he is 63, he will get 86⅔ per cent of his full benefit; and if he waits until 64, the amount will be 93⅓ per cent.

The reductions are figured so that a person may expect to receive, on the average, about the same amount if he takes reduced benefits beginning before he is 65, or waits until 65.

Members of the immediate family of a retired worker can get dependents' benefits if the worker retires at 62 or if he waits. Eligible dependents include a wife 62 or older, or a wife at any age if she has in her care children who are eligible for benefits. The child of a retired worker is eligible if he is under age 18, or if he has been totally disabled since childhood.

The Committee on Finance of the Senate, in recommending this change in the law, said, "The provision of benefits at age 62 for men will help to alleviate the hardships faced by that group of men who, because of ill health, automation, or other technological change, are forced into premature retirement before age 65."

For more information about this change in the law and the other changes made by the new amendments to the law, ask your nearest social security office for your free copy of Leaflet No. 1. Men 62 to 65 years old who decide to take their social security benefits now instead of waiting can also apply for those benefits at their social security office. The offices in Cumberland are located on Pershing Street.

Until 1893, the title of envoy extraordinary, and minister plenipotentiary was the highest title given any U.S. diplomatic representative.

Weight watchers find a good breakfast discourages that urge to nibble.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your Best Boost Is Breakfast

It's the meal easiest to prepare; the quickest to eat. It's timed to generate that much-needed thrust at the hungriest hour of the day. It's the most important meal in our daily diet. And it's the most neglected. It's BREAKFAST—the boost everyone needs for better bounce and balance.

Citrus-skippers, cereal-skimpers and bread-bolters—beware! Your body knows when it's being cheated. . . and it is, every time you trade a quick cup of morning coffee for a fattening snack later in the day. Morning is when your body needs real refreshment and refueling. Without it, your body will drain early of the energy it requires to keep going. It won't have the fight to withstand that afternoon battle against physical and mental fatigue. You'll find yourself turning hot-tempered, tense and tired too soon, too often, with too little reason.

At least one-fourth, if not more, of your day's nourishment belongs on your breakfast menu, whatever the total number of calories you require. All the typical and traditional breakfast foods make this easy to measure—in milk, in the body-building protein of meat and eggs, in vitamin-rich fruits and mineral-rich whole grains. Count the quality, not quantity, if your usual morning appetite is poor. A "better" breakfast isn't necessarily the same as a "bigger" breakfast. It's better selection of foods as well.

You may be satisfied to start your day with a cold slab of last night's pie—but an orange and a bowl of cereal will give you more staying power.

It takes time to train for the breakfast habit. It's not merely a matter of weeks—it means ten extra minutes a day. Don't let the morning rush force you to give a good breakfast the brush-off. Tonight, before you go to bed—set your alarm clock a little ahead. And set your place at the kitchen table, too.

You can inspire your teens to eat better breakfasts by your own example . . . and with my newest pamphlet, "Personality 'Plus' Through Diet." Send for a copy now, to prop on the family table. You may address your request to me, John Robert Powers, through this newspaper, sending 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It will be delivered to you in two weeks.

Two Trials Slated In Hardy County

Trials for the last two of five defendants charged with connection in the death of a Stephens City, Va., man have been scheduled in Hardy County Circuit Court, Moorefield, with the first set for next Wednesday.

The third defendant to be tried, Junior Brown Miley, Wednesday was found not guilty of conspiring to prevent giving aid to a mortally wounded person by a petit jury, which deliberated for seven hours before returning its verdict at 8:35 p. m.

The two cases yet to be heard involve Nolan Shreve and Paige Weese, both of whom are similarly charged.

Wilson C. Zirk, another defendant, was found not guilty of the charges on July 1. He previously was tried for murder in the same case, and the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The fifth defendant, John Rexroad, was found guilty of conspiring to commit murder in the second degree, although his attorney indicated they plan to appeal the decision.

The trials are a result of the murder of Eldridge Ritter, 33, a salesman, who died July 14 of last year from wounds suffered when his arms were forcibly cut on a window of his car.

The theme has been "Living For Jesus."

Craft work will be on display in the fellowship hall.

76 Men Sign Up For New SS Benefits

There have been 76 men between 62 and 65 years of age who have applied for Social Security retirement benefits under the new program in the area served by the Cumberland office of the federal agency.

Women have had the right to retire at age 62 since 1956, according to W. R. Campbell, manager of the local office.

The new amendments to the Social Security law signed by President Kennedy recently, is designed especially to help those who are unable to find employment because of their age or poor health.

But if he retires before he reaches age 65, the monthly amount of benefit paid to him is reduced. He will continue to be paid the reduced amount even after he reaches 65.

Dependent widowers and the dependent fathers of workers who have died also can get benefits at age 62. Their benefits, like those of widows and dependent mothers, are not reduced.

For men who retire early, the amount by which their benefits will be reduced depends on the number of months for which they will receive benefits while still under 65. A worker who retires and claims his benefits as soon as he reaches 62 will qualify for 80 per cent of the amount that would be payable to him at age 65 based on his average earnings up until his retirement. If he waits until he is 63, he will get 86⅔ per cent of his full benefit; and if he waits until 64, the amount will be 93⅓ per cent.

The reductions are figured so that a person may expect to receive, on the average, about the same amount if he takes reduced benefits beginning before he is 65, or waits until 65.

Members of the immediate family of a retired worker can get dependents' benefits if the worker retires at 62 or if he waits. Eligible dependents include a wife 62 or older, or a wife at any age if she has in her care children who are eligible for benefits. The child of a retired worker is eligible if he is under age 18, or if he has been totally disabled since childhood.

The Committee on Finance of the Senate, in recommending this change in the law, said, "The provision of benefits at age 62 for men will help to alleviate the hardships faced by that group of men who, because of ill health, automation, or other technological change, are forced into premature retirement before age 65."

For more information about this change in the law and the other changes made by the new amendments to the law, ask your nearest social security office for your free copy of Leaflet No. 1. Men 62 to 65 years old who decide to take their social security benefits now instead of waiting can also apply for those benefits at their social security office. The offices in Cumberland are located on Pershing Street.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your Best Boost Is Breakfast

It's the meal easiest to prepare, the quickest to eat. It's timed to generate that much-needed thrust at the hungriest hour of the day. It's the most important meal in our daily diet. And it's the most neglected. It's BREAKFAST—the boost everyone needs for better bounce and balance.

Citrus-skippers, cereal-skimpers and bread-bolters—beware! Your body knows when it's being cheated. . . and it is, every time you trade a quick cup of morning coffee for a fattening snack later in the day. Morning is when your body needs real refreshment and refueling. Without it, your body will drain early of the energy it requires to keep going. It won't have the fight to withstand that afternoon battle against physical and mental fatigue. You'll find yourself turning hot-tempered, tense and tired too soon, too often, with too little reason.

At least one-fourth, if not more, of your day's nourishment belongs on your breakfast menu, whatever the total number of calories you require. All the typical and traditional breakfast foods make this easy to measure—in milk, in the body-building protein of meat and eggs, in vitamin-rich fruits and mineral-rich whole grains. Count the quality, not quantity, if your usual morning appetite is poor. A "better" breakfast isn't necessarily the same as a "bigger" breakfast. It's better selection of foods as well.

You may be satisfied to start your day with a cold slab of last night's pie—but an orange and a bowl of cereal will give you more staying power.

It takes time to train for the breakfast habit. It's not merely a matter of weeks—it means ten extra minutes a day. Don't let the morning rush force you to give a good breakfast the brush-off. Tonight, before you go to bed—set your alarm clock a little ahead. And set your place at the kitchen table, too.

You can inspire your teens to eat better breakfasts by your own example . . . and with my newest pamphlet, "Personality 'Plus' Through Diet." Send for a copy now, to prop on the family table. You may address your request to me, John Robert Powers, through this newspaper, sending 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It will be delivered to you in two weeks.

Two Trials Slated In Hardy County

Trials for the last two of five defendants charged with connection in the death of a Stephens City, Va., man have been scheduled in Hardy County Circuit Court, Moorefield, with the first set for next Wednesday.

The third defendant to be tried, Junior Brown Miley, Wednesday was found not guilty of conspiring to prevent giving aid to a mortally wounded person by a petit jury, which deliberated for seven hours before returning its verdict at 8:35 p. m.

The two cases yet to be heard involve Nolan Shreve and Paige Weese, both of whom are similarly charged.

Wilson C. Zirk, another defendant, was found not guilty of the charges on July 1. He previously was tried for murder in the same case, and the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The fifth defendant, John Rexroad, was found guilty of conspiring to commit murder in the second degree, although his attorney indicated they plan to appeal the decision.

The trials are a result of the murder of Eldridge Ritter, 33, a salesman, who died July 14 of last year from wounds suffered when his arms were forcibly cut on a window of his car.

C., and Richmond, Va. He will operate from headquarters in the Richmond plant and take over his new duties about August 1.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a cousin who thinks she knows it all. Some of her ideas are really way out there. She loves to be right about everything — makes bets with people about the spelling of words, trick political questions, and so on, and she carries the proof right in her purse and collects on the spot.

The other day she made the statement that the weather often shapes peoples' lives because it affects their moods and decisions. This sounds loony to me. In fact, it's so nuts that I bet her you wouldn't put it in your column.. If she wins this one, too, I'll shoot myself—Kissin' Karl.

DEAR KARL: Put that pistol down, Boy—she's right. Behavior studies indicate that people are more irritable when the barometer is low. On cloudy days they tend to be more quarrelsome, depressed, less cooperative and less efficient. When the weather is gloomy people are apt to start fights, drink too much, break engagements and begin divorce proceedings. So pay off, Buster—and by the way, I hope it's a nice day out there in San Jose.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are both perfectionists and I'm afraid some of this has rubbed off on our only son.

He's a freshman, 15, an A student, participates in athletics and is in the school band. What worries us is his consuming drive to be tops in everything. If a math paper isn't perfect he sulks. If his golf game is over par he throws the clubs. If his tennis game is off he throws the racket.

We feel he should be in better control of his emotions and I'm worried about his ability to get along with people. Nobody likes a poor sport, which he certainly is.

Please don't tell us he needs a psychiatrist. A close friend of ours is one, and he says Don is not disturbed. What's wrong with the boy and what can we do to help?—ILLINI.

DEAR ILLINI: It's grossly unfair to put a psychiatrist-friend on the spot by asking him for an evaluation of a member of your family. Your son needs help (probably not intensive therapy) but he needs help, nevertheless, from a trained person.

Although you may TELL your son he doesn't need to excel in everything, he senses that excellence is expected. When he does less he feels that he has failed the family.

He sounds like an exceptional lad who needs to have a few personality kinks straightened out. The time to do it is now.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I came here from Australia three years ago and I would like help in understanding something about Americans which is a mystery to me.

Why do American drivers blow the horn on their automobiles when it is obvious the cars ahead of them can't move? And it seems to be contagious. When one horn starts, others follow. Why is this? —UNSOLVED EQUATION.

DEAR UNSOLVED: I once heard it expressed this way: The number of blasts from auto horns during a traffic snarl-up is equal to the sum of the squares at the wheel.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Old tubs and wash basins that are badly discolored can be improved by scrubbing with a brush dipped in a paste made of hydrogen peroxide and cream of tartar.

Serve lots of cottage cheese this summer. Cottage cheese is good atop pancakes with jelly; at lunch in sandwiches; as dessert for dinner; with spices and seasoning; with vegetables; with meat, fish, and eggs; with other dairy foods and in many other ways.

Rubber-covered cords kept in the kitchen should be sponge-bathed periodically. Grease can do permanent damage to rubber.

Boil carrots in their skins for best flavor and vitamin content. Mash and serve with seasoning.

Keep sandwiches fresher longer by sealing the wax paper edges with an iron.

Preserves And Personality

Depth researchers would have us believe a woman's personality shows up in the preserves she serves and that it all started back in her mud pie days. We wouldn't know about that but it is a fact that some persons are endowed with creative ability whereas others have little or none.

If you are the creative type, you probably find it fun to serve something which causes family and friends to ask, "What makes it taste so good and so different?" Creative or not, add a gentle touch of ground ginger, pure vanilla or brandy flavoring to pear or peach preserves or use the recipe given below and your status as a preserve maker will zoom.

If you have to buy the peaches, better hurry and do your preserving while choice fruit is still on the market at reasonable prices.

Peach Preserves
With A Touch of Orange and Mace

2 lbs. sliced peaches
1 orange
2 cups water
2 lbs. sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ teaspoon ground mace

Wash, rinse and drain peaches. Cut the thin yellow part of peel from orange; save a 2 inch strip of the yellow. Chop rest of orange; add the piece of yellow and cook in the 2 cups water until white peel is soft. Remove yellow piece; add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar dissolves; set aside to cool. Peel and slice peaches lengthwise. Add peaches, lemon juice (won't need if orange is quite tart), and mace to the orange syrup. Cook until peaches are "clear" and syrup is about as thick as warm honey.

Pour preserves into shallow glass or enamelware pan. Cover and let stand in cool place 12 to 24 hours. Reheat until peaches are boiling hot. Quickly pour into hot pint fruit jars. Put lid on jar; screw band tight.

Note: The preserves may be canned as soon as cooked but quality is better if fruit is given time to plump before canning.

This Week In Congress
by Rep. Charles Mathias

Certainly none of us have any dispute with the fact that today's government has become big business. It must provide services for many people; it must meet the international challenges of the hour. Nevertheless, fiscal responsiblity should and must remain a prime ingredient in all of our governmental planning. If it is not, we must be willing to accept the shameful blame of burdening ourselves and our children with spiraling inflation, and a weak, defenseless attitude on the part of our people as a consequence of bigger and better handouts from the Government.

If we are going to increase our expenditures by the huge amounts the Administration is now asking for, then for goodness sake let us search for areas and ways in which Government waste may be eliminated, unnecessary duplication of work abolished, and long overdue interdepartmental coordination accomplished. If such an effort of fiscal responsibility is made, then necessary increases in expenditures may be mollified, with a consequential lessening of their impact on our economy.

The disturbing abuses of sound and sensible Government management have given me cause for concern—particularly now, when it is coupled with the enormous fiscal appropriations which the Administration has requested. Therefore, four of my House colleagues and I recently wrote the President of this situation. While Mr. Kennedy is presently steering a majority of the Congress in voting new billions, we respectfully suggested that he lend the same influence and fervor in implementing economy measures which would not deprive one American of social welfare, nor any foreign nation of American assistance, nor impede a single worthwhile project.

My colleagues and I outlined five principal areas in which Federal funds might be conserved through more efficient operation of Federal machinery and wiser control over Federal outlays. First and foremost, we suggested implementation of the Budget Reform Act which President Kennedy himself co-sponsored in the 85th Congress. This law will expire in the present year, without ever once having been tried. It is extremely disappointing to note that the President has not taken advantage of his opportunity to fulfill the promise he and his colleagues made to the taxpayers at the time the law was enacted.

Second, we suggested that the President's leadership would steer legislation through Congress to eliminate Government competition with private enterprise, a situation existing most flagrantly in the Department of Defense.

Third, we proposed that President Kennedy call upon the Secretary of Defense to carry out the McCormack-Curtis Amendment to the Defense Reorganization Act of 1958. This provides for full integration of common supply and service activities, removing the restriction in the National Security Act which calls for separate management and administration of supplies and services. These activities should be integrated and placed at one level responsible directly to the Secretary of Defense and free from control by any of the services. We noted that these powers are already vested in the Secretary.

Fourth, we asked for coordination of the medical services now provided by 26 major departments and agencies, with 66 separate units performing these services. Legislative action would be required to create a Federal Advisory Council of Health to effectuate this recommendation, and here again the President's support would be invaluable in speeding such action.

Old tubs and wash basins that are badly discolored can be improved by scrubbing with a brush dipped in a paste made of hydrogen peroxide and cream of tartar.

Serve lots of cottage cheese this summer. Cottage cheese is good atop pancakes with jelly; at lunch in sandwiches; as dessert for dinner; with spices and seasoning; with vegetables; with meat, fish, and eggs; with other dairy foods and in many other ways.

Rubber-covered cords kept in the kitchen should be sponge-bathed periodically. Grease can do permanent damage to rubber.

Boil carrots in their skins for best flavor and vitamin content. Mash and serve with seasoning.

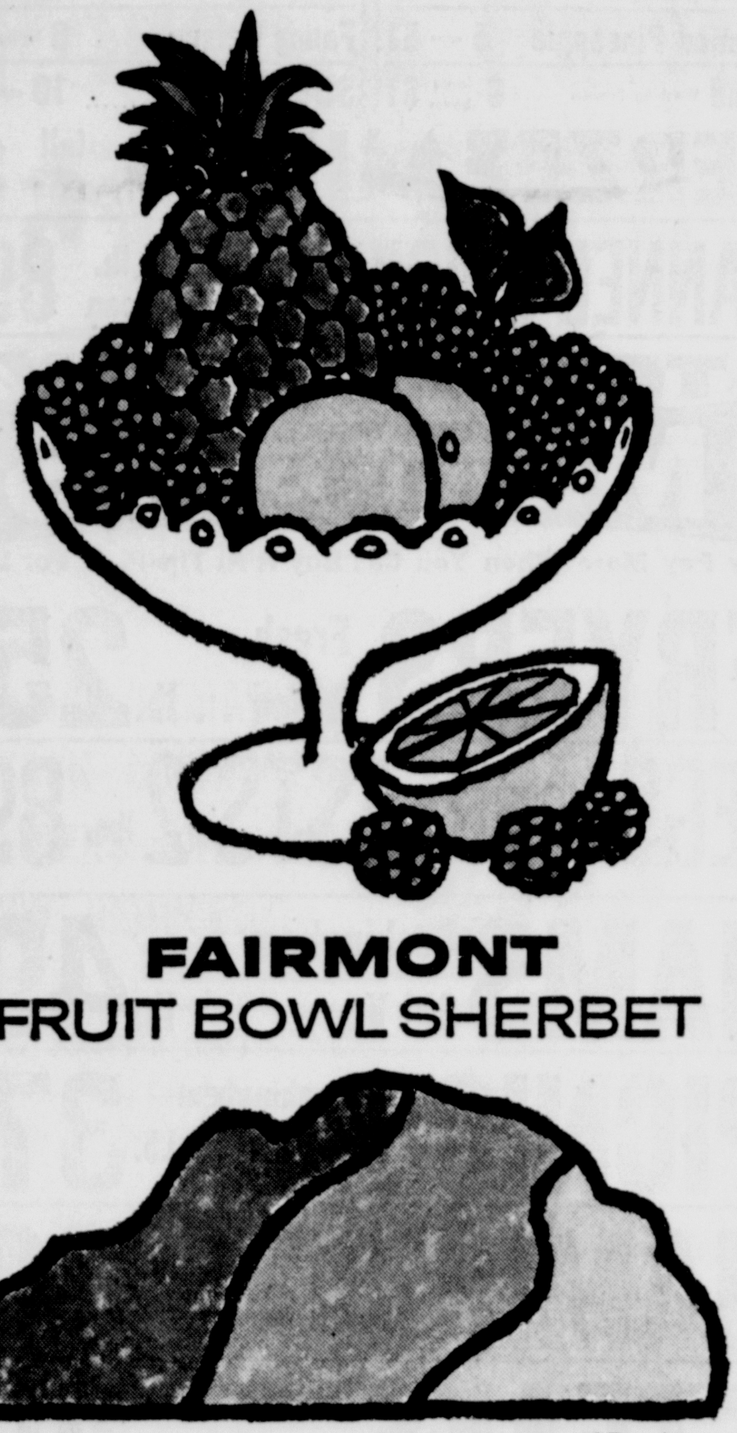

Keep sandwiches fresher longer by sealing the wax paper edges with an iron.

Preserves And Personality

Depth researchers would have us believe a woman's personality shows up in the preserves she serves and that it all started back in her mud pie days. We wouldn't know about that but it is a fact that some persons are endowed with creative ability whereas others have little or none.

If you are the creative type, you probably find it fun to serve something which causes family and friends to ask, "What makes it taste so good and so different?" Creative or not, add a gentle touch of ground ginger, pure vanilla or brandy flavoring to pear or peach preserves or use the recipe given below and your status as a preserve maker will zoom.

If you have to buy the peaches, better hurry and do your preserving while choice fruit is still on the market at reasonable prices.

Peach Preserves
With A Touch of Orange and Mace

2 lbs. sliced peaches
1 orange
2 cups water
2 lbs. sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ teaspoon ground mace

Wash, rinse and drain peaches. Cut the thin yellow part of peel from orange; save a 2 inch strip of the yellow. Chop rest of orange; add the piece of yellow and cook in the 2 cups water until white peel is soft. Remove yellow piece; add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar dissolves; set aside to cool. Peel and slice peaches lengthwise. Add peaches, lemon juice (won't need if orange is quite tart), and mace to the orange syrup. Cook until peaches are "clear" and syrup is about as thick as warm honey.

Pour preserves into shallow glass or enamelware pan. Cover and let stand in cool place 12 to 24 hours. Reheat until peaches are boiling hot. Quickly pour into hot pint fruit jars. Put lid on jar; screw band tight.

Note: The preserves may be canned as soon as cooked but quality is better if fruit is given time to plump before canning.

This Week In Congress
by Rep. Charles Mathias

Certainly none of us have any dispute with the fact that today's government has become big business. It must provide services for many people; it must meet the international challenges of the hour. Nevertheless, fiscal responsiblity should and must remain a prime ingredient in all of our governmental planning. If it is not, we must be willing to accept the shameful blame of burdening ourselves and our children with spiraling inflation, and a weak, defenseless attitude on the part of our people as a consequence of bigger and better handouts from the Government.

If such an effort of fiscal responsibility is made, then necessary increases in expenditures may be mollified, with a consequential lessening of their impact on our economy.

The disturbing abuses of sound and sensible Government management have given me cause for concern—particularly now, when it is coupled with the enormous fiscal appropriations which the Administration has requested. Therefore, four of my House colleagues and I recently wrote the President of this situation. While Mr. Kennedy is presently steering a majority of the Congress in voting new billions, we respectfully suggested that he lend the same influence and fervor in implementing economy measures which would not deprive one American of social welfare, nor any foreign nation of American assistance, nor impede a single worthwhile project.

This law will expire in the present year, without ever once having been tried. It is extremely disappointing to note that the President has not taken advantage of his opportunity to fulfill the promise he and his colleagues made to the taxpayers at the time the law was enacted.

Second, we suggested that the President's leadership would steer legislation through Congress to eliminate Government competition with private enterprise, a situation existing most flagrantly in the Department of Defense.

Third, we proposed that President Kennedy call upon the Secretary of Defense to carry out the McCormack-Curtis Amendment to the Defense Reorganization Act of 1958. This provides for full integration of common supply and service activities, removing the restriction in the National Security Act which calls for separate management and administration of supplies and services. These activities should be integrated and placed at one level responsible directly to the Secretary of Defense and free from control by any of the services. We noted that these powers are already vested in the Secretary.

Fourth, we asked for coordination of the medical services now provided by 26 major departments and agencies, with 66 separate units performing these services. Legislative action would be required to create a Federal Advisory Council of Health to effectuate this recommendation, and here again the President's support would be invaluable in speeding such action.

Fifth, we suggested that President Kennedy direct the Bureau of the Budget, which is invested with the power by law, to coordinate management of the Government's vast real estate holdings. This step would result in substantial savings.

Waste, duplication, and extravagance in Government spending benefit no one. The President of the United States can be a powerful force in eliminating this shameful abuse of the American tax dollar. I can assure you that our common desire for sensible fiscal policy will propel my inquiry and demand for corrective action by the Administration in this area.

Ice Cream And Cake Topped With Apple Sauce

Serve ice cream and cake and you know you have a hit. Top it with this Chilled Spicy Apple Sauce and you turn the hit into a wow. For what you've done is add a spicy tingle to the rich velvet of the cream and airy sweetness of the cake. Most refreshing for a warm day . . . and how easy!

You simply take canned apple sauce, spice it with cinnamon and nutmeg, give it the edgy tang of lemon juice and the subdued sweetness of brown sugar. Blend all this over gentle heat, then chill it ice cold. Now pour the spicy sauce over the ice cream and cake and let it skid down luxuriously. If you're in the mood, go on from there with a sprinkle of chopped nuts or a dab of whipped cream. They're nice, but not essential. The dessert is a winner just as it stands.

This chilled topping offers such piquant zest that it can be served as a dessert in its own right. You might try it, too, over the morning cereal, or as a topping for baked custard or junket or rice pudding. Once the family has tasted this spicy sauce, it's likely to become a family favorite that you make again and again. Do try it soon.

Chilled Spicy Apple Sauce Topping

- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- ⅔ cup light brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 6 3" sponge cake squares or Mary Ann cakes
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- Whipped cream)—For garnish
- Chopped nuts)— if desired

Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg; heat until sugar dissolves. Chill. At dessert time; place sponge cake squares on individual serving plates, top each with scoop of ice cream. Pour spicy chilled apple sauce over each. If desired, top with a dab of whipped cream or a few chopped nuts. Makes 6 servings.

Cheese Casserole

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup flour
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 pint liquid from peas and milk to fill measure
- 1½ cups grated, process American cheese
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 5 cups ½-inch soft bread cubes
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1 hard-cooked egg
- 3 green pepper rings

Melt butter in a small saucepan. Blend in flour, salt and dry mustard. Add liquid from peas and milk and cook until thick. Add cheese and peas; stir until cheese melts. In a greased (8-inch) square baking dish, arrange a layer of bread cubes and then one of cheese sauce, using half of each ingredient. Pour beaten eggs carefully and evenly over the cheese sauce and repeat with another layer of bread cubes and cheese sauce. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for forty minutes. Garnish with sliced hard-cooked egg and green pepper rings.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Looking at the Capitol Hill score board, we see that although it is holding a tight checkrein on the President's demands for additional executive powers, Congress has passed these things: aid to depressed areas; higher minimum wage; more money for unemployment pay, plus still more under the title of "Aid to children of jobless workers"; new and bigger Social Security retirement payments; feed-grains program; authorization for 73 new Federal judgeships (2 of which will be in Maryland); new taxes for highways; plans to control water pollution; and new aids to housing. On the other side, Congress has not yet passed these things wanted by the President: Additional Federal medical care for the aged under the Social Security insurance system; Federal aid to local schools; broad overhauling of farm subsidy laws (Senate and House committees seem to be vying to see which can cut the biggest hunks out of the Administration bill designed to be more costly than ever and to give the farm program more White House production control); greatly liberalized 5-year Foreign Aid plan giving the President almost unlimited control and authority to take unappropriated money out of the Treasury for the program (this will be trimmed before it has a chance of passing); broad tax revision; and postage rate increase. Many other measures have not been acted upon, but those I have mentioned are the ones which have received the widest public attention.

Ever so often, we are reminded of the good stuff of which Americans are made. A case in point is the action of the city officials of Newburgh, New York, in attempting to make some sense out of the "welfare program" in their city. Resenting the misuse of public funds on undeserving moochers the Newburgh city fathers drew up some regulations. Among them were requirements that (a) no one except the blind, aged and disabled receive relief more than three months out of any year; (b) relief be forbidden to mothers of more than one illegitimate child; and (c) no family receive more relief than the take-home wages of the lowest paid city employee. Praiseworthy as may be the honest thinking of this action, it was stopped dead in its tracks by the professional welfare-state boys who held up their hands in horror at such common sense. "Why, the State might lose as much as $200,000,000 of 'Federal money' if such regulations were put into effect," they wailed. At a hurriedly called hearing, where the Newburgh officials were not permitted to discuss the merits of their new regulations, they were overruled. And so, the "professionals" could take a sigh of relief and continue to loaf and draw the maximum number of benefit checks before going to work. (There are, of course, many deserving cases temporarily on the unemployment compensation rolls, but these were not to be affected by the proposed Newburgh restrictions.) Before the legal technicians took over and rescued the undeserving, we were favored with a fleeting glimpse of garss-roots honesty at Newburgh as refreshing as a breath of clean air.

The Tax Foundation reports that government workers (Federal, state and local) now outnumber farmers.

The Federal government is now the biggest land owner, property manager, renter, mover and hauler, medical clinician, lender, insurer, mortgage broker, debtor, and employer in all history.

An excellent editorial on the subject of paternalistic government in last week's issue of the famous old Maryland newspaper, Cecil Whig, ends with these meaningful words: "When the Government decides to take care of everyone's needs, through excessive taxes and actual competition with business, the climate is destroyed in which men may aid one another with dignity. Nothing is worse for growing children than an indulgent, sentimental and possessive parent. And nothing is worse for a society of free individuals than an indulgent, sentimental and possessive government."

The air show put on by the Soviets in Moscow last week was impressive. Among the new models that zoomed over the Soviet capital were a jet-and-rocket-powered fighter and a giant delta-winged supersonic bomber. The air show made it clear that, for all their talk and propaganda about missile might and ICBM strength, the Soviets are not ignoring their piloted bomber power. They are strengthening and improving it—along with missile development. The show made it evident that the Soviets have continued with the development of all classes of aircraft. We should do the same. The Soviet air show strengthened the position of those in Congress who pushed through an appropriation of half a billion dollars more than the President had requested for defense and called on the White House to spend it on more B-52s or B-58s or on the giant B-70s, all manned bombers. It is an interesting commentary on Kremlin tactics that more often than not when a Foreign Aid or Defense program has been in hot water in the United States the Soviets come along with some bluster, threat, aggression, or show of force that has assured adoption of the increased programs.

We are making progress in our defense preparation. The world's first nuclear-powered cruiser, "U.S.S. Long Beach," completed its sea trials last week. With some atomic warships soon to come, the missile-armed "Long Beach" will give the United States a nuclear flotilla on the ocean's surface to supplement the striking power of the nation's nuclear submarines.

Last week, we showed off our mightiest war rocket—firing an advanced-model Atlas more than 9,000 miles to the Indian Ocean. Distance covered was almost 500 miles longer than anything Russia has shown with war rockets.

An electric-powered, high speed torpedo, the Mark 45, developed by Westinghouse for the U.S. Navy's Bureau of Weapons, has gone into production at the Baltimore plant of Westinghouse Electric Corporation's Ordnance Department. A $6,500,000 contract was awarded the Baltimore firm.

MOM'S SUMMER LANGUAGE—I understand that mothers of small fry have their own interpretation for common political expressions. Now, to you and me "Freedom Riders" means one thing, but to Mom it means something quite different. Here's a chance to catch up with Mom's Summer Language:

Population Explosion: School is out;

Accelerated Science Program: Learning to identify strange bugs and animals found in overall pockets; (acceleration comes when mother finds the critters alive;)

Social Security: The feeling a teen-ager gets from wearing clam diggers and pancho shirts;

Labor Agreement: What Mom hopes to enforce during two weeks at the lake or the shore; (it will be a surprise if she can get even fringe benefits;)

Depressed Areas: The pocketbook after a vacation trip;

Workman's Compensation: Dad slaving over a hot barbecue pit after a hard day at the office;

Freedom Rider: Dad driving away from it all to his nice, quiet job every morning;

Ice Cream And Cake Topped With Apple Sauce

Serve ice cream and cake and you know you have a hit. Top it with this Chilled Spicy Apple Sauce and you turn the hit into a wow. For what you've done is add a spicy tingle to the rich velvet of the cream and airy sweetness of the cake. Most refreshing for a warm day . . . and how easy!

You simply take canned apple sauce, spice it with cinnamon and nutmeg, give it the edgy tang of lemon juice and the subdued sweetness of brown sugar. Blend all this over gentle heat, then chill it ice cold. Now pour the spicy sauce over the ice cream and cake and let it skid down luxuriously. If you're in the mood, go on from there with a sprinkle of chopped nuts or a dab of whipped cream. They're nice, but not essential. The dessert is a winner just as it stands.

This chilled topping offers such piquant zest that it can be served as a dessert in its own right. You might try it, too, over the morning cereal, or as a topping for baked custard or junket or rice pudding. Once the family has tasted this spicy sauce, it's likely to become a family favorite that you make again and again. Do try it soon.

Chilled Spicy Apple Sauce Topping

- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- ⅔ cup light brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 6 3" sponge cake squares or Mary Ann cakes
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- Whipped cream)—For garnish
- Chopped nuts)— if desired

Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg; heat until sugar dissolves. Chill. At dessert time; place sponge cake squares on individual serving plates, top each with scoop of ice cream. Pour spicy chilled apple sauce over each. If desired, top with a dab of whipped cream or a few chopped nuts. Makes 6 servings.

Cheese Casserole

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅛ cup flour
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 pint liquid from peas and milk to fill measure
- 1½ cups grated, process American cheese
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 5 cups ½-inch soft bread cubes
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1 hard-cooked egg
- 3 green pepper rings

Melt butter in a small saucepan. Blend in flour, salt and dry mustard. Add liquid from peas and milk and cook until thick. Add cheese and peas; stir until cheese melts. In a greased (8-inch) square baking dish, arrange a layer of bread cubes and then one of cheese sauce, using half of each ingredient. Pour beaten eggs carefully and evenly over the cheese sauce and repeat with another layer of bread cubes and cheese sauce. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for forty minutes. Garnish with sliced hard-cooked egg and green pepper rings.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Looking at the Capitol Hill score board, we see that although it is holding a tight checkrein on the President's demands for additional executive powers, Congress has passed these things: aid to depressed areas; higher minimum wage; more money for unemployment pay, plus still more under the title of "Aid to children of jobless workers"; new and bigger Social Security retirement payments; feed-grains program; authorization for 73 new Federal judgeships (2 of which will be in Maryland); new taxes for highways; plans to control water pollution; and new aids to housing. On the other side, Congress has not yet passed these things wanted by the President: Additional Federal medical care for the aged under the Social Security insurance system; Federal aid to local schools; broad overhauling of farm subsidy laws (Senate and House committees seem to be vying to see which can cut the biggest hunks out of the Administration bill designed to be more costly than ever and to give the farm program more White House production control); greatly liberalized 5-year Foreign Aid plan giving the President almost unlimited control and authority to take unappropriated money out of the Treasury for the program (this will be trimmed before it has a chance of passing); broad tax revision; and postage rate increase. Many other measures have not been acted upon, but those I have mentioned are the ones which have received the widest public attention.

Ever so often, we are reminded of the good stuff of which Americans are made. A case in point is the action of the city officials of Newburgh, New York, in attempting to make some sense out of the "welfare program" in their city. Resenting the misuse of public funds on undeserving moochers the Newburgh city fathers drew up some regulations. Among them were requirements that (a) no one except the blind, aged and disabled receive relief more than three months out of any year; (b) relief be forbidden to mothers of more than one illegitimate child; and (c) no family receive more relief than the take-home wages of the lowest paid city employee. Praiseworthy as may be the honest thinking of this action, it was stopped dead in its tracks by the professional welfare-state boys who held up their hands in horror at such common sense. "Why, the State might lose as much as $200,000,000 of 'Federal money' if such regulations were put into effect," they wailed. At a hurriedly called hearing, where the Newburgh officials were not permitted to discuss the merits of their new regulations, they were overruled. And so, the "professionals" could take a sigh of relief and continue to loaf and draw the maximum number of benefit checks before going to work. (There are, of course, many deserving cases temporarily on the unemployment compensation rolls, but these were not to be affected by the proposed Newburgh restrictions.) Before the legal technicians took over and rescued the undeserving, we were favored with a fleeting glimpse of garss-roots honesty at Newburgh as refreshing as a breath of clean air.

The Tax Foundation reports that government workers (Federal, state and local) now outnumber farmers.

The Federal government is now the biggest land owner, property manager, renter, mover and hauler, medical clinician, lender, insurer, mortgage broker, debtor, and employer in all history.

An excellent editorial on the subject of paternalistic government in last week's issue of the famous old Maryland newspaper, Cecil Whig, ends with these meaningful words: "When the Government decides to take care of everyone's needs, through excessive taxes and actual competition with business, the climate is destroyed in which men may aid one another with dignity. Nothing is worse for growing children than an indulgent, sentimental and possessive parent. And nothing is worse for a society of free individuals than an indulgent, sentimental and possessive government."

The air show put on by the Soviets in Moscow last week was impressive. Among the new models that zoomed over the Soviet capital were a jet-and-rocket-powered fighter and a giant delta-winged supersonic bomber. The air show made it clear that, for all their talk and propaganda about missile might and ICBM strength, the Soviets are not ignoring their piloted bomber power. They are strengthening and improving it—along with missile development. The show made it evident that the Soviets have continued with the development of all classes of aircraft. We should do the same. The Soviet air show strengthened the position of those in Congress who pushed through an appropriation of half a billion dollars more than the President had requested for defense and called on the White House to spend it on more B-52s or B-58s or on the giant B-70s, all manned bombers. It is an interesting commentary on Kremlin tactics that more often than not when a Foreign Aid or Defense program has been in hot water in the United States the Soviets come along with some bluster, threat, aggression, or show of force that has assured adoption of the increased programs.

We are making progress in our defense preparation. The world's first nuclear-powered cruiser, "U.S.S. Long Beach," completed its sea trials last week. With some atomic warships soon to come, the missile-armed "Long Beach" will give the United States a nuclear flotilla on the ocean's surface to supplement the striking power of the nation's nuclear submarines.

Last week, we showed off our mightiest war rocket—firing an advanced-model Atlas more than 9,000 miles to the Indian Ocean. Distance covered was almost 500 miles longer than anything Russia has shown with war rockets.

An electric-powered, high speed torpedo, the Mark 45, developed by Westinghouse for the U.S. Navy's Bureau of Weapons, has gone into production at the Baltimore plant of Westinghouse Electric Corporation's Ordnance Department. A $6,500,000 contract was awarded the Baltimore firm.

MOM'S SUMMER LANGUAGE—I understand that mothers of small fry have their own interpretation for common political expressions. Now, to you and me "Freedom Riders" means one thing, but to Mom it means something quite different. Here's a chance to catch up with Mom's Summer Language:

Population Explosion: School is out;

Accelerated Science Program: Learning to identify strange bugs and animals found in overall pockets; (acceleration comes when mother finds the critters alive;)

Social Security: The feeling a teen-ager gets from wearing clam diggers and pancho shirts;

Labor Agreement: What Mom hopes to enforce during two weeks at the lake or the shore; (it will be a surprise if she can get even fringe benefits;)

Depressed Areas: The pocketbook after a vacation trip;

Workman's Compensation: Dad slaving over a hot barbecue pit after a hard day at the office;

Freedom Rider: Dad driving away from it all to his nice, quiet job every morning;

Coal Production Declines In State During 1960

Coal production in Maryland, confined to the two westernmost counties, declined in 1960 from 1959, according to the annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines released yesterday by Frank T. Powers, director.

While the output in Garrett County dropped considerably, it was slightly higher in Allegany County.

Total tonnage for 1960 was 759,686 compared to 839,029 for the previous year.

Garrett County dropped from 633,029 tons in 1959 to 546,681 tons last year, while Allegany went from 206,634 tons to 213,004 in 1960.

The number of miners in Allegany County dropped from 252 in 1959 to 247 last year while Garrett County went from 439 to 423.

Most of the coal was strip mined, Powers' report said. Of the overall total, of 750,686 tons, 493,338 tons were dug by power shovels and drag lines.

Machine mine coal amounted to 202,160 tons while pick-mined coal totaled 64,187 tons.

Allegany County's breakdown in this category was 122,302 tons, strip; 55,190, machine, and 35,512 tons, pick.

Garrett County showed 371,035 strip; 146,970, machine, and 28,675, pick.

The tonnage by basin was Georges Creek, 398,557; Upper Potomac, 262,698; Castleman, 63,091; Lower Youghiogheny, 30,249, and Upper Youghiogheny, 5,089.

By seam in Allegany County, the tonnage was Bakerstown, 68,312; Franklin, 51,992; Tyson, 42,404; Pittsburgh, 30,568; Waynesburg, 10,590; Freeport, 6,059; Kittanning, 2,631, and Parker, 446.

In Garrett County, the breakdown was as follows: Kittanning, 207,265; Freeport, 158,288; Bakerstown, 85,024; Franklin, 61,084; Pittsburgh, 23,336; Clarion, 5,089; Brush Creek, 331, and C-Prime, 261.

Refractory clay mining showed a drop of 50 per cent, from 39,796 tons in 1959 to 18,050 in 1960.

ABL Drivers To Be Tested

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory has inaugurated a testing program of its approximately 1,200 employes who operate passenger cars, trucks, cranes and other vehicles within the confines of the Rocket Center, W. Va., facility.

The program, according to Charles Walters, transportation supervisor, includes a written test as well as a driver test. The testing is expected to be completed by the first of August, Walters stated.

An eight-man team is conducting the testing which is being handled on a departmental basis. The testing team is composed of Leroy Hershberger, Ward Haines, Robert Growden, Robert Reed, Harry Hansel, George Smith, Arthur Williamson and Augustine Diaz.

Walters explained that the project was undertaken in connection with the ABL safety program, and in an attempt to improve the in and off-plant transportation of material and personnel.

The maypole had its origin in English villages of the Middle Ages.

Final Plans Are Made For Fishing Rodeo

Sponsoring organizations have completed plans for the 13th annual Fishing Rodeo for children to be held Saturday, August 5, at the Battie Mixon fishing area, Oldtown.

Sponsors are the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Cumberland Outdoor Club and the Cumberland Recreation Department.

The event will be held between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Arrangements have been made with the Game and Inland Fish Commission to block off a half-mile area from July 26 through August 5, according to Isaac Long of the Oldtown Club, who said permission was granted by Ernest A. Vaughn, commission director. Approximately 2,000 fish will be stocked during that period.

Long, who is also in charge of invitations, said approximately 80 had been sent to local and state leaders.

Other assignments include C. E. Golden, judges stand; the Oldtown Club, R. C. Brown, president, refreshments; Outdoor Club, R. E. Dougherty, president, Walter W. Ensminger and L. D. Davis, arrangements for crippled children and those at the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children camp to attend the rodeo; Allegany Chapter American Red Cross, first aid and ambulance; Golden, measuring and weighing of fish; the Recreation Department staff, recording of catch; and the Cumberland Auxiliary Police, policing of area under the direction of Harry Whisner.

Obtaining of prizes has been assigned to the Sportsmen's Club, Mapleside and Oldtown areas; Outdoor Club, South End and Central section; and the Recreation Department, north End and central section.

Trophies will be presented as follows: The P. O. Weber trophy for largest bass by the Outdoor Club; and Battie Mixon trophy by the Oldtown Club for the largest catfish; and the Oldtown Veterans of Foreign Wars trophy for the largest bluegill.

It is expected that 1,200 children will attend the event open to all through the ages of 16 years. No fishing license will be necessary that day only, officials said.

Others attending the planning meeting Wednesday night were W. F. Wagner, president of the C&O Canal Club; Charles E. Himer, Charles Davis and James W. Fatkin.

Lindner Will Head State Beekeepers

Other officers are L. B. Shearman Jr., Glenarm, vice president; James M. Marsh, University Park, treasurer, and Arthur Strang, Silver Spring, secretary.

Richard Van Horn of Cumberland and James I. Hamilton were named to the executive committee.

Lindner said the association hopes to form a program that will include a short course in beekeeping for the public at the University of Maryland under the direction of George J. Abrams, state apiarist.

He also added that the group hopes to further the control of diseases of honeybees and also to investigate the effect of poison sprays and insecticides on bees.

Coal Production Declines In State During 1960

Coal production in Maryland, confined to the two westernmost counties, declined in 1960 from 1959, according to the annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines released yesterday by Frank T. Powers, director.

While the output in Garrett County dropped considerably, it was slightly higher in Allegany County.

Total tonnage for 1960 was 759,686 compared to 839,029 for the previous year.

Garrett County dropped from 633,029 tons in 1959 to 546,681 tons last year, while Allegany went from 206,634 tons to 213,004 in 1960.

The number of miners in Allegany County dropped from 252 in 1959 to 247 last year while Garrett County went from 439 to 423.

Most of the coal was strip mined, Powers' report said. Of the overall total, of 750,686 tons, 493,338 tons were dug by power shovels and drag lines.

Machine mine coal amounted to 202,160 tons while pick-mined coal totaled 64,187 tons.

Allegany County's breakdown in this category was 122,302 tons, strip; 55,190, machine, and 35,512 tons, pick.

Garrett County showed 371,035 strip; 146,970, machine, and 28,675, pick.

The tonnage by basin was Georges Creek, 398,557; Upper Potomac, 262,698; Castleman, 63,091; Lower Youghiogheny, 30,249, and Upper Youghiogheny, 5,089.

By seam in Allegany County, the tonnage was Bakerstown, 68,312; Franklin, 51,992; Tyson, 42,404; Pittsburgh, 30,568; Waynesburg, 10,590; Freeport, 6,059; Kittanning, 2,631, and Parker, 446.

In Garrett County, the breakdown was as follows: Kittanning, 207,265; Freeport, 158,288; Bakerstown, 85,024; Franklin, 61,084; Pittsburgh, 23,336; Clarion, 5,089; Brush Creek, 331, and C-Prime, 261.

Refractory clay mining showed a drop of 50 per cent, from 39,796 tons in 1959 to 18,050 in 1960.

Final Plans Are Made For Fishing Rodeo

Sponsoring organizations have completed plans for the 13th annual Fishing Rodeo for children to be held Saturday, August 5, at the Battie Mixon fishing area, Oldtown.

Sponsors are the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Cumberland Outdoor Club and the Cumberland Recreation Department.

The event will be held between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Arrangements have been made with the Game and Inland Fish Commission to block off a half-mile area from July 26 through August 5, according to Isaac Long of the Oldtown Club, who said permission was granted by Ernest A. Vaughn, commission director. Approximately 2,000 fish will be stocked during that period.

Long, who is also in charge of invitations, said approximately 80 had been sent to local and state leaders.

Other assignments include C. E. Golden, judges stand; the Oldtown Club, R. C. Brown, president, refreshments; Outdoor Club, R. E. Dougherty, president, Walter W. Ensminger and L. D. Davis, arrangements for crippled children and those at the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children camp to attend the rodeo; Allegany Chapter American Red Cross, first aid and ambulance; Golden, measuring and weighing of fish; the Recreation Department staff, recording of catch; and the Cumberland Auxiliary Police, policing of area under the direction of Harry Whisner.

Obtaining of prizes has been assigned to the Sportsmen's Club, Mapleside and Oldtown areas; Outdoor Club, South End and Central section; and the Recreation Department, north End and central section.

Trophies will be presented as follows: The P. O. Weber trophy for largest bass by the Outdoor Club; and Battie Mixon trophy by the Oldtown Club for the largest catfish; and the Oldtown Veterans of Foreign Wars trophy for the largest bluegill.

It is expected that 1,200 children will attend the event open to all through the ages of 16 years. No fishing license will be necessary that day only, officials said.

Others attending the planning meeting Wednesday night were W. F. Wagner, president of the C&O Canal Club; Charles E. Himer, Charles Davis and James W. Fatkin.

ABL Drivers To Be Tested

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory has inaugurated a testing program of its approximately 1,200 employes who operate passenger cars, trucks, cranes and other vehicles within the confines of the Rocket Center, W. Va., facility.

The program, according to Charles Walters, transportation supervisor, includes a written test as well as a driver test. The testing is expected to be completed by the first of August, Walters stated.

An eight-man team is conducting the testing which is being handled on a departmental basis. The testing team is composed of Leroy Hershberger, Ward Haines, Robert Growden, Robert Reed, Harry Hansel, George Smith, Arthur Williamson and Augustine Diaz.

Walters explained that the project was undertaken in connection with the ABL safety program, and in an attempt to improve the in and off-plant transportation of material and personnel.

The maypole had its origin in English villages of the Middle Ages.

Lindner Will Head State Beekeepers

Other officers are L. B. Shearman Jr., Glenarm, vice president; James M. Marsh, University Park, treasurer, and Arthur Strang, Silver Spring, secretary.

Richard Van Horn of Cumberland and James I. Hamilton were named to the executive committee.

Lindner said the association hopes to form a program that will include a short course in beekeeping for the public at the University of Maryland under the direction of George J. Abrams, state apiarist.

He also added that the group hopes to further the control of diseases of honeybees and also to investigate the effect of poison sprays and insecticides on bees.

Jesse James Jailed

That's Jesse James Stover, 44, of Ghent, Raleigh County, who was given a two-year sentence Wednesday on moonshining charges.

A federal agent explained to Federal Judge John Field that Stover told him he wanted sentencing because he didn't think an investigation of him or his past would hold up. Stover had been in jail previously.

Boy's Essay Appropriate For Farm Safety Week

The prize-winning Future Farmers of America speech prepared by a 15-year-old Mount Airy Senior High School student is appropriate for Farm Safety Week, which will be marked next week.

"Safety on the Farm" is the title of Kerry Weldon's speech, which took top honors in the junior public speaking contest at the recent FFA convention.

In his talk the young student pointed out that the tractor is the most widely used farm implement and therefore the most deadly of all farm machinery.

"One false move and you could be killed instantly. Whenever you are on a tractor you must remember that it is not a toy and should not be treated as one. One quarter of all the farm accidents were attributed to the failure of exercising caution while operating a tractor.

Young Weldon cited an accident that happened in front of his high school when a youth who was operating a tractor was involved in a collision with an auto. Both drivers were injured.

"All farm machinery should be treated with extreme respect," according to Weldon, who said, "One can lose an arm in a baler by getting too close to the moving parts, and the silage chopper could snuff out your life in a second if you fail to exercise extreme caution in its use.

"The sharp edges of the plow and harrow can slice through flesh in a wink. Not enough can be said about the necessity of treating all your farm machinery as if it were charged with 1,000 volts of electricity."

In his talk he touched on the danger of using electric tools, falling from ladders, and the age-old enemy, fire.

Carport Appliaction Referred To Board

Thomas M. Wagner has referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals an application to build a carport at his home, 907 Kentucky Avenue.

The application was turned down by the building engineer on grounds of violation of a section of the city's zoning law which requires that one-fifth of the width of a lot be in side yards.

One Bright Spot In The Drought

Drought has descended on the northern Great Plains, where normally one-fifth of our wheat and one-seventh of our beef is raised. A farmer walking across his fields sends up little puffs of dust with every step, and the driest part of the summer is just starting.

Ever since the federal government set out to improve the farmer's lot it's been a matter of considerable interest to city dwellers how things are down on the farm. This year it's a $6 billion question, and before the drought is over will be even higher.

Already government emergency measures are being set in motion. Government crop insurance, for example, is paying off at the rate of $11 an acre and the soil bank's doors are open for emergency cattle feeding. Emergency government loans at half the prevailing rate of interest are available to distressed farmers, as is surplus stock feed.

About the only bright spot in this dusty picture is the likelihood our mountains of surplus grain will not increase this year and may even shrink. Even Canada, which shares the drought, may find her own surplus so reduced as to lessen her urge to peddle it to Communist nations.

Naturally there will be pressure on Washington to move in and restore the Great Plains to bountiful production. The plight of the drought-stricken farmers commands genuine sympathy, but it also poses the question of how much new government aid should be spent to restore unneeded and uneconomic farm production.

Harsh as it seems in terms of the farmers involved, this drought may offer the government an out from its present untenable farm program.

Being Walked By The Dog

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Drug Industry

It is difficult quite to understand what Senator Kefauver is getting at in his investigation of the drug industry. If it is prices that he seeks to regulate, then why not regulate all prices of all goods? If he objects to labels and trade names, he makes a mistake because sensible folks not only demand original labels when they buy a medicine but get to know it by name of the bottle. The day when the doctor scrawls in Latin so that no one can read what he says, not even the pharmacist, is over. We want to know what is it that goes into us. Also there is the advantage of not taking the wrong medicine, the killer instead of the healer.

Senator Kefauver, in a previous investigation, gave the impression that he was bringing the underworld to the surface. It was exciting to watch Frank Costello testify before a television camera. When that investigation was all over, the underworld was still in business, as potent as ever, pushing heroin as actively as possible; organized vice continued to compete with private immoral persons; graft in public office became increasingly scientific. Precisely what Senator Kefauver accomplished by his crime investigation is not clear. He dropped the whole business.

Now since December 1959, he has been going after the legitimate drug business. He does not claim that any of these companies are engaged in illegal practices. No one is sent to prison as a result of this investigation. Nothing is being done to stop manufacturers from spending millions of dollars for research. It is therefore difficult to discover precisely what the Senator seeks to accomplish.

I have gone through the material diligently, seeking to discover why I have to take expensive pills when I feel so good and can do twice as much work as I used to do. The Senatorial committee's reports do not help me at all. In fact, I find much of their information to be baby-stuff, uninformative and not very helpful. Of course, drugs are expensive; so are tombstones.

Recently when my secretary was dying, all sorts of isotopes were used and I presumed that they cost a lot of money. The total bill was enormous. But if one of the isotopes could have saved her life, it would have been cheap at any price.

Nowhere is so much done for the sick as in this country and it is done mostly by private pharmaceutical companies that spend their money on research and then on promoting the drug. Much of this expenditure may be wasted because the research does not prove out. However, one success may save thousands of human lives and how much is a life worth?

Furthermore there is danger in what Senator Kefauver is doing. Patients and their families lose confidence in particular drugs that get front page attention because they are played up at a committee hearing. I know that nobody several years ago survived the series of illnesses that I had, but I have survived and am more active than ever. I am amused by friends who come up to me to say: "How wonderful you look, but do you feel as well as you look?" Sure, and I am doing more work.

And if someone tells me that the bag of medicines I carry about with me are expensive, I must laugh, particularly when I read circulars advertising graves. I would rather pay for a medicine than a grave any day. So what is the complaint?

Apparently Senator Kefauver says that the manufacturers charge too much. Much of the testimony that I have read has to do with faulty arithmetic. This is quite natural and reminds me when I was young in Shanghai. Some of us were interested in making an extra dollar out of China's share of what was known as reparation dyes; that is, the dyes seized from the Germans after World War I. We were very enthusiastic but not sound businessmen. We added a 10 per cent profit to the cost and lost lots of money. We had, of course, failed to include interest on the money, exchange from one currency to another, shipping, insurance and all sorts of other charges. We subsequently calculated that a 200 per cent mark-up would have brought us a slight profit. It is just simple arithmetic.

President Wrote Most Of U.S. Reply To Khrushchev In Own Handwriting

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Only a few intimates were aware of it, but President Kennedy went through agonies of the soul before he finally dispatched the U. S. reply to Premier Khrushchev on Berlin. He finally scrawled most of the American note in his own handwriting.

Outwardly relaxed and confident, the young President rocked calmly in his straight-backed rocker, occasionally lit a long cigar as he discussed the grim alternates in Berlin.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, bolstered by the advice of his military chiefs, favored calling Khrushchev's bluff. He pointed out that Russia has never started a war against an equal power, suggested that Khrushchev would back away from a military showdown.

In reply to Kennedy's prodding questions, however, McNamara acknowledged that we could not defeat Russia on the battlefield without dropping the atom bomb, and that Russia could win any limited war. Thus the terrible choice would be up to the United States whether to accept defeat in Germany or plunge the world into the holocaust of a nuclear war.

Bewar Of Emotions

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was more cautious, warned against getting caught on an escalator of rising tensions. Such "political escalation," as he called it, could carry the nation beyond the point of retreat into an inevitable war.

In short, he favored a strong, but not a militant, stand.

He also reported there was a strong undercurrent of feeling in the State Department that the United States should avoid an unyielding line on Berlin; should follow a moderate course.

This school of thought contended that Khrushchev was hurting himself with all his rocket-rattling, that the United States could win more friends by appearing reasonable and flexible.

Kennedy suggested to Rusk that the moderates submit a specific program on how they would handle the Berlin crisis. They countered with a proposal to take the issue to the United Nations General Assembly in September. They proposed charging Khrushchev with threatening the peace over Berlin, and calling for economic sanctions if Khrushchev failed to accept the UN verdict.

The President pointed out that the UN verdict might favor Khrushchev, that the neutralist nations might be persuaded to accept Khrushchev's suggestion of a "free city."

Allied "No"

However, the idea was circulated among our allies for their reaction. From Paris came the violent opposition of President de Gaulle, who was dead determined to keep the UN out of any Berlin solution. Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany was also opposed. The British, however, flirted with the idea, suggested that the United Nations might even send a force into Berlin to keep the peace.

In the end, the allies coordinated their diplomacy in preparing their separate notes to the Kremlin. De Gaulle held out to the end for even tougher notes. He opposed the slightest suggestion that the West could be willing to negotiate over Berlin, even as part of an over-all European settlement.

The President, in scrawling much of the American note in his own handwriting, explained to aids that he intended to stand firm in Berlin and wanted Khrushchev to know it. But at the same time, he didn't want to use such provocative language that Khrushchev would be forced to carry out his warlike threats in order to save face.

The Diplomatic Cables

U. S. Ambassador Thompson believes that Nikita Khrushchev is under terrific pressure from the Chinese Communists, and that this is the reason he is acting so tough. The Chinese have some allies within the Kremlin high command who side with them, not with Khrushchev. So, rather than be accused of softness, Khrushchev's strategy will continue to be to rebuff any allied offer of compromise. . . The American Embassy at Seoul has warned that conditions in South Korea are so chaotic a new revolution can be expected any minute. Members of the South Korean military clique are packing pistols, screaming around town in jeeps, plotting and conniving against each other. . . CIA Director Allen Dulles has joined in a search for his successor. Dulles will step down after CIA moves its operations to its magnificent new headquarters on the banks of the Potomac. He has gone over a long list of potential successors and has now decided there is no one inside CIA who can succeed him. He will suggest a non-controversial outsider.

Report On China: The Great Leap Backward

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The most astonishing information that has come through the Iron Curtain in a long time has been brought out of Communist China by very recent peasant refugees.

According to these pitiful runaway farmers, the Chinese Communists have now abandoned the basic principle of their rural "communes" which used to be so proudly described as "Communism in its purest form." The farm land is no longer worked by large peasant labor-gangs under communal direction. Instead, it has been broken up into family-sized plots to be worked by individual peasant families.

Nothing could be more contrary to the original theory and intention of the communes. They were at first intended, not merely to liquidate the last vestiges of the peasants' "individualism," but also to do away with that other reactionary hangover, family life itself.

For the peasants themselves, it must be added, this great leap backward is unlikely to bring much improvement. Although the commune lands have been broken up, the apparatus of the commune remains untouched. The commune is now the landlord. The peasant is now a serf. He is in fact worse off by far than the sharecroppers of the evil Chiang Kai-shek time, since he is both tied to the land and required to give the commune landlord far more of the crop.

Technically the new arrangement is not share-cropping, since a fixed rent in grain has been set for each peasant plot of an acre or two. The quantity is higher for good land, less for poor land; but the rent must be delivered in full even if the harvest is poor. The rents reported appear to amount to between two-thirds and three-quarters of the normal main crop of grain—which makes the old-style feudalists look like soft-hearted philanthropists.

So far, only a very small number of the most recent refugees have described this astonishing change of system. The descriptions, though independently given, have been mutually consistent. But the great majority of refugees from Communist China come from the corner of Kwantung closest to Macao and Hong Kong. Thus it is still arguable that the change may be a local phenomenon specially designed to halt the continuing flight from the misery of the Chinese Communist countryside.

Given the rigid character of Chinese Communism, however, it seems much more likely that a general change of system is being made. Or at a minimum, this looks like a local experiment aimed to prepare for a later general change. If this is correct, what is the reason for the great leap backward?

The immediate, practical reason is easy to discern. According to the best expert estimates, over 20 per cent of the farmers in China's fields are showing the first symptoms of beri-beri, because of prolonged semi-starvation. Labor gangs composed of peasants in this condition cannot be expected to work the fields with much efficiency, when they have no hope of individual reward. But desperate peasant families can be expected to scrabble fairly hard, if they simply hope to get whatever is left over, after the state's lion-share of the crop.

Yet mere farming efficiency is not enough to explain this change in the commune system, to which Mao Tse-tung was so totally committed. Fear, in fact, is the only possible explanation of this kind of Communist self-reversal. It may be fear of the kind of peasant unrest that could produce an internal political explosion. It may be fear of a harvest so catastrophically bad that it would be politically dangerous. But some sort of fear is there, behind this new Chinese measure.

In sum, the very gravest and most shocking estimates of the condition of the Chinese countryside must now be regarded as largely confirmed. It remains to be seen whether Mao Tse-tung will go even further. He may also abandon or sharply modify his program of forced industrialization, which the communes were originally designed to finance. But even if he does not make this final retreat, Mao's changed orders to the communes, if confirmed by additional refugee evidence, mean that Communist China is in very bad trouble indeed.

It may seem strange that Nikita S. Khrushchev is roaring his loudest threats at the Western allies at the precise moment when this kind of trouble exists in China, and when the situation in East Germany is also notoriously bad.

Perhaps there is a certain connection. Perhaps there is a danger of developments which will make Communism look very unlike the way of the future. Perhaps success at Berlin is needed, as a morale builder and a political preventive.

ADLAI 'BEST' — Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, a Wisconsin Democrat, took a poll in his district recently to find out who were the "best" and "worst" of President Kennedy's appointments.

The result: Adlai Stevenson's appointment to the United Nations was listed as the best, with 39.2 per cent making the selection. Others were:

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, 20.9 per cent; Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, 8.5; Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, 7.6; Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, 6-1; Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, 5.6, and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, 4.1.

The fellow who won the dubious distinction of being the worst Kennedy appointment was G. Mennen Williams as an assistant secretary of state. Kastenmeier attributed this to "adverse publicity" suffered by Williams, whom he described as "one of the hardest-working, quickest-learning New Frontiersmen."

RACIAL PRIDE—Among President Kennedy's administrative assistants is one Mike Manatos, of Greek derivation. With pardonable pride, the Greek community in Washington noted that Manatos was the Greek who had risen highest in the history of the federal government. They therefore organized an affair to pay him, and his race, due honor.

A non-Greek was one of the featured speakers at the affair. He was Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming. McGee pointed out in his address that the Greeks who hid in the Trojan horse were pikers compared to the inroads made by Greeks in Washington.

"The Greeks have us surrounded," McGee declared. " 'Spartacus' is playing across the street; uptown, Melina Mercouri is playing, and Mike Manatos is playing at the White House."

By Jim Bishop

It all started when Momma Longo decided that her family had out-grown her. She is a tiny perfume bottle of a woman with a black atomizer. She had a good family, but the boys had grown faster than she had figured, and now nobody needed momma, except for food.

The house in Long Branch was well kept. That was the trouble. When she cleaned it, the house stayed clean, In the evening, she dreamed her way through the washing of the dishes, and then there was nothing. Tom was an expert carpenter, a fine wood worker. But momma had heard all those stories years before.

One boy was going to be a craftsman like his father. The other, who was bigger than a hundred dollars worth of lasagna, was still in school. She didn't realize it, but almost all women in the mid-forties have a problem called: "What to do. What to do."

Mrs. Thomas Longo has a lot of energy in that small body. She told her husband that she was going to look for a business; something to keep her occupied. Tom looked at his sons. They had a nice home, a good business, a bank account, and no debts. "Who," he said wisely, "can hope to understand a woman?"

Momma went out. She took the car and went around window shopping. When she came to Sea Bright, N. J., she found an empty store window. She studied it. The place was across the street from the beach. It was a narrow, three-story building sandwiched tight between other buildings. She liked it. She asked about the rent.

"I'm going to open a little Italian restaurant," said Momma at dinner. Tom looked at his boys and shrugged. When in doubt, his expression said, it is always best to humor the ladies. If not, they turn on you like tigers. They humored momma.

She rented the store. It wasn't much. The walls were cracked; the front door was too narrow. The back room was small for a kitchen and it would need more ventilation before a pizza oven was put in. She didn't want a fancy place. When it became apparent that she was dead serious, Tom and the boys said that they would pitch in and help her to get started.

After that, she would be on her own because the wood working business earned the true bread and butter. Mrs. Longo hired two waitresses, put them in white nylon, built a couple of booths, put a juke box in, and polished the pots and pans.

She looked over her savings and decided to spend enough for a neon sign out front. A few customers came in, looked around warily, and sat. The younger son got a big wooden shovel and shoved the cheese pies in the hot oven. Mother mixed the hot sauces, chopped the onions and the peppers, broke the macaroni and slid it into boiling water, and was happy.

She was useful again. If nobody needed her at home, hungry people needed her elsewhere. She fed them at reasonable prices, and she fed them well. She used her own recipes — the ones she got from her mother — and the big platters of food came out of the kitchen trailing plumes of steam.

The little cash register sang its one note song and Momma arrived home: "How about us? We're your family." If they were hungry, she said, they could come to the restaurant. Free.

She was busy. In the evening, people were waiting at the entrance for tables to empty. The teen-age set took over the place after school each day. Momma hired more waitresses, and she hired a girl to help her in the kitchen.

Tom had a queasy feeling that his whole career was going down a drain. His wife's hobby was earning too much money. It amounted to almost as much as he and his son made with wood and saws. Then it passed his income.

Longo was licked. He quit his business. He and Mrs. Longo bought the Sea Bright building. Tom salved his pride by doing the upstairs apartment in fine grained woods. Then he and his son redecorated the restaurant and put in concealed lighting.

Everybody in town likes the Longos. A few years ago, the Chamber of Commerce selected Tom to deliver the address to the graduating class of the elementary school. All the kids knew him. It wasn't a great speech, but the applause was deafening.

He told the children how one must persist, have courage, in the hard world of business. One must never admit defeat. It's too bad Mrs. Longo didn't hear it. She was busy in the restaurant . . .

Sun Can Cause Permanent Damage To Skin

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons, especially oldsters, seek the sun because it contributes to their feeling of well being. Sun-bathing young people want to tan because it is fashionable and gives the illusion of health and vitality.

There is no sense in kidding ourselves; the sun is capable of burning and may damage the skin permanently. A moderately severe sunburn is relieved by the application of cold compresses or of a spray or ointment containing one of the corticosteroids. But sunburn is not a transient, unpleasant experience. Scientists have demonstrated residual damage in the skin 4 to 15 months after being burned.

The relationship between sunlight and skin cancer is well known. These lesions occur frequently on exposed parts of the body, especially in individuals with light skin and blue eyes. The disease is twice as prevalent in southerners as in northerners and is more frequent in out of door and rural workers than in those who spend most of their time indoors.

Many other disorders of the skin have been traced to sunlight. Some persons are allergic to ultraviolet and develop hives, eczema, blisters, or various forms of dermatitis following exposure. Others get cold sores on the lips after being out of doors some time.

A variety of substances eaten or applied may make the skin sensitive to light. These include drugs such as the phenothiazine tranquilizers and the oral diabetic pills, as well as many cosmetics and plant agents. Citrus oil and bergomot oil used in perfumes are common offenders.

Dermatitis also has been reported among persons who rubbed certain plants on the skin prior to going out of doors in the sun. Typical examples are parsnips, carrots, and meadow grass.

CROOKED TOES

K. Z. writes: Should crooked toes be straightened by operation?

REPLY

Only when the distortion is causing trouble.

HAND TREMOR

R. W. writes: Our son's hands started shaking when he was in high school and the condition grew worse in college. The army doctors called it intention tremor. Now that he is working, it is proving most bothersome. Is this shaking curable?

REPLY

I doubt it unless it represents a nervous habit that can be corrected via psychiatry.

WORRIES ABOUT HEART

D. J. writes: I know a woman who worries about heart disease even though the doctor told her the electrocardiogram was normal. Does this test rule out all types of heart disease?

REPLY

No. Her physician undoubtedly considered other factors such as the location of pain, when it comes on, the blood pressure reading, the pulse rate, and the results of examination with a stethoscope.

MUMPS EXPOSURE

Mrs. J. T. writes: My 7 year old, who hasn't had mumps, was exposed to the disease yesterday. Can anything be done to prevent his getting the disease?

REPLY

By the time this reply appears, your boy will or will not have developed mumps. At this age, it is better to let nature take its course. Sterility from mumps rarely occurs before the age of puberty.

TOBACCO EYE

G. S. writes: Could smoking two packs of cigarets a day lead to tobacco eye?

REPLY

Possibly but no specific number of cigarets can be blamed. Some smokers note a decrease in acuteness of vision, especially in bright light, because they are susceptible to tobacco. In others, the general health plays a role.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

As they stepped out into the cool summer night, and left the noisy, overheated cocktail party within, a wife faced her husband squarely and demanded, "Elmer, did anybody tell you in there that you were ordained the life of the party, the greatest wit, the greatest raconteur, and the greatest lover boy in town?"

"No, dear," admitted the puzzled husband. "I can't say anybody did."

"Exactly," said the wife grimly. "Now tell me this: just where did you get the idea?"

Two parrots were carving up a third parrot who was not within earshot. "I tell you," croaked one, "that parrot's owner is a lush." "How can you tell?" asked the other. "It's obvious," said the first parrot. "Did you ever hear of another bird who keeps saying, 'Polly wants a canape?' "

Have you heard about the town's clumsiest butcher? Every time you buy meat from him his hands get in the weigh.

Candy was enjoyed by the ancients as long ago as 2000 B. C., according to the Corn Industries Research Foundation. No wonder most of us moderns have a well-developed sweet tooth!

Licorice was considered a medicine 'way back when. In those days we doubt that any youngsters hid when the doctor came.

The Aztecs were the first to discover the delights of chocolate. However, as old Hernando Cortez quickly found out, the ancient Mexicans were far from a bunch of "candy kids."

Approximately half of our imported candy comes from the United Kingdom. So, it's not surprising that for a long time now, our good relations with the British have been the sweetest!

One Bright Spot In The Drought

Drought has descended on the northern Great Plains, where normally one-fifth of our wheat and one-seventh of our beef is raised. A farmer walking across his fields sends up little puffs of dust with every step, and the driest part of the summer is just starting.

Ever since the federal government set out to improve the farmer's lot it's been a matter of considerable interest to city dwellers how things are down on the farm. This year it's a $6 billion question, and before the drought is over will be even higher.

Already government emergency measures are being set in motion. Government crop insurance, for example, is paying off at the rate of $11 an acre and the soil bank's doors are open for emergency cattle feeding. Emergency government loans at half the prevailing rate of interest are available to distressed farmers, as is surplus stock feed.

About the only bright spot in this dusty picture is the likelihood our mountains of surplus grain will not increase this year and may even shrink. Even Canada, which shares the drought, may find her own surplus so reduced as to lessen her urge to peddle it to Communist nations.

Naturally there will be pressure on Washington to move in and restore the Great Plains to bountiful production. The plight of the drought-stricken farmers commands genuine sympathy, but it also poses the question of how much new government aid should be spent to restore unneeded and uneconomic farm production.

Harsh as it seems in terms of the farmers involved, this drought may offer the government an out from its present untenable farm program.

Being Walked By The Dog

These Days

The Drug Industry

It is difficult quite to understand what Senator Kefauver is getting at in his investigation of the drug industry. If it is prices that he seeks to regulate, then why not regulate all prices of all goods? If he objects to labels and trade names, he makes a mistake because sensible folks not only demand original labels when they buy a medicine but get to know it by name of the bottle. The day when the doctor scrawls in Latin so that no one can read what he says, not even the pharmacist, is over. We want to know what is it that goes into us. Also there is the advantage of not taking the wrong medicine, the killer instead of the healer.

Senator Kefauver, in a previous investigation, gave the impression that he was bringing the underworld to the surface. It was exciting to watch Frank Costello testify before a television camera. When that investigation was all over, the underworld was still in business, as potent as ever, pushing heroin as actively as possible; organized vice continued to compete with private immoral persons; graft in public office became increasingly scientific. Precisely what Senator Kefauver accomplished by his crime investigation is not clear. He dropped the whole business.

Now since December 1959, he has been going after the legitimate drug business. He does not claim that any of these companies are engaged in illegal practices. No one is sent to prison as a result of this investigation. Nothing is being done to stop manufacturers from spending millions of dollars for research. It is therefore difficult to discover precisely what the Senator seeks to accomplish.

I have gone through the material diligently, seeking to discover why I have to take expensive pills when I feel so good and can do twice as much work as I used to do. The Senatorial committee's reports do not help me at all. In fact, I find much of their information to be baby-stuff, uninformative and not very helpful. Of course, drugs are expensive; so are tombstones.

Recently when my secretary was dying, all sorts of isotopes were used and I presumed that they cost a lot of money. The total bill was enormous. But if one of the isotopes could have saved her life, it would have been cheap at any price.

Nowhere is so much done for the sick as in this country and it is done mostly by private pharmaceutical companies that spend their money on research and then on promoting the drug. Much of this expenditure may be wasted because the research does not prove out. However, one success may save thousands of human lives and how much is a life worth?

Furthermore there is danger in what Senator Kefauver is doing. Patients and their families lose confidence in particular drugs that get front page attention because they are played up at a committee hearing. I know that nobody several years ago survived the series of illnesses that I had, but I have survived and am more active than ever. I am amused by friends who come up to me to say: "How wonderful you look, but do you feel as well as you look?" Sure, and I am doing more work.

And if someone tells me that the bag of medicines I carry about with me are expensive, I must laugh, particularly when I read circulars advertising graves. I would rather pay for a medicine than a grave any day. So what is the complaint?

Apparently Senator Kefauver says that the manufacturers charge too much. Much of the testimony that I have read has to do with faulty arithmetic. This is quite natural and reminds me when I was young in Shanghai. Some of us were interested in making an extra dollar out of China's share of what was known as reparation dyes; that is, the dyes seized from the Germans after World War I. We were very enthusiastic but not sound businessmen. We added a 10 per cent profit to the cost and lost lots of money. We had, of course, failed to include interest on the money, exchange from one currency to another, shipping, insurance and all sorts of other charges. We subsequently calculated that a 200 per cent mark-up would have brought us a slight profit. It is just simple arithmetic.

President Wrote Most Of U.S. Reply To Khrushchev In Own Handwriting

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Only a few intimates were aware of it, but President Kennedy went through agonies of the soul before he finally dispatched the U. S. reply to Premier Khrushchev on Berlin. He finally scrawled most of the American note in his own handwriting.

Outwardly relaxed and confident, the young President rocked calmly in his straight-backed rocker, occasionally lit a long cigar as he discussed the grim alternates in Berlin.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, bolstered by the advice of his military chiefs, favored calling Khrushchev's bluff. He pointed out that Russia has never started a war against an equal power, suggested that Khrushchev would back away from a military showdown.

In reply to Kennedy's prodding questions, however, McNamara acknowledged that we could not defeat Russia on the battlefield without dropping the atom bomb, and that Russia could win any limited war. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was more cautious, warned against getting caught on an escalator of rising tensions. Such "political escalation," as he called it, could carry the nation beyond the point of retreat into an inevitable war.

In short, he favored a strong, but not a militant, stand.

He also reported there was a strong undercurrent of feeling in the State Department that the United States should avoid an unyielding line on Berlin; should follow a moderate course.

This school of thought contended that Khrushchev was hurting himself with all his rocket-rattling, that the United States could win more friends by appearing reasonable and flexible.

Allied "No"

However, the idea was circulated among our allies for their reaction. From Paris came the violent opposition of President de Gaulle, who was dead determined to keep the UN out of any Berlin solution. Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany was also opposed. The British, however, flirted with the idea, suggested that the United Nations might even send a force into Berlin to keep the peace.

In the end, the allies coordinated their diplomacy in preparing their separate notes to the Kremlin. De Gaulle held out to the end for even tougher notes. He opposed the slightest suggestion that the West could be willing to negotiate over Berlin, even as part of an over-all European settlement.

The President, in scrawling much of the American note in his own handwriting, explained to aids that he intended to stand firm in Berlin and wanted Khrushchev to know it. But at the same time, he didn't want to use such provocative language that Khrushchev would be forced to carry out his warlike threats in order to save face.

C. Edwin Kline, Silver Spring, Md. — Despite the statement of GOP Senator Scott of Pennsylvania, Adlai Stevenson did not demand that American airplanes be withheld from the Cuban freedom fighters' operation over the Bay of Pigs. This story was put out by William Pawley, right-hand adviser to the late Dictator Trujilio. Stevenson knew nothing about the Cuban operation and was highly embarrassed at having not been informed.

Correction — I was in error in placing Chile's per capita income at around $100. According to United Nations estimates it was $475 in 1960.

W. H. Morgantown, W. Va. — Sen. Jennings Randolph's initiative in letting blind persons achieve economic independence by operating newsstands in government buildings employed 2,216 blind persons in the fiscal year ending June, 1960. The total sales were $38,219,340, with net profits to the blind operators of $7,541,304. Senator Randolph says: "The claims of the handicapped are not an appeal for charity but for the right to live a full, constructive potentialities."

The Diplomatic Cables

U. S. Ambassador Thompson believes that Nikita Khrushchev is under terrific pressure from the Chinese Communists, and that this is the reason he is acting so tough. The Chinese have some allies within the Kremlin high command who side with them, not with Khrushchev. So, rather than be accused of softness, Khrushchev's strategy will continue to be to rebuff any allied offer of compromise. . . The American Embassy at Seoul has warned that conditions in South Korea are so chaotic a new revolution can be expected any minute. Members of the South Korean military clique are packing pistols, screaming around town in jeeps, plotting and conniving against each other. . . CIA Director Allen Dulles has joined in a search for his successor. Dulles will step down after CIA moves its operations to its magnificent new headquarters on the banks of the Potomac. He has gone over a long list of potential successors and has now decided there is no one inside CIA who can succeed him. He will suggest a non-controversial outsider.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It all started when Momma Longo decided that her family had out-grown her. She is a tiny perfume bottle of a woman with a black atomizer. She had a good family, but the boys had grown faster than she had figured, and now nobody needed momma, except for food.

The house in Long Branch was well kept. That was the trouble. When she cleaned it, the house stayed clean, In the evening, she dreamed her way through the washing of the dishes, and then there was nothing. Tom was an expert carpenter, a fine wood worker. But momma had heard all those stories years before.

One boy was going to be a craftsman like his father. The other, who was bigger than a hundred dollars worth of lasagna, was still in school. She didn't realize it, but almost all women in the mid-forties have a problem called: "What to do. What to do."

Mrs. Thomas Longo has a lot of energy in that small body. She told her husband that she was going to look for a business; something to keep her occupied. Tom looked at his sons. They had a nice home, a good business, a bank account, and no debts. "Who," he said wisely, "can hope to understand a woman?"

Momma went out. She took the car and went around window shopping. When she came to Sea Bright, N. J., she found an empty store window. She studied it. The place was across the street from the beach. It was a narrow, three-story building sandwiched tight between other buildings. She liked it. She asked about the rent.

"I'm going to open a little Italian restaurant," said Momma at dinner. Tom looked at his boys and shrugged. When in doubt, his expression said, it is always best to humor the ladies. If not, they turn on you like tigers. They humored momma.

She rented the store. It wasn't much. The walls were cracked; the front door was too narrow. The back room was small for a kitchen and it would need more ventilation before a pizza oven was put in. She didn't want a fancy place. When it became apparent that she was dead serious, Tom and the boys said that they would pitch in and help her to get started.

After that, she would be on her own because the wood working business earned the true bread and butter. Mrs. Longo hired two waitresses, put them in white nylon, built a couple of booths, put a juke box in, and polished the pots and pans.

She looked over her savings and decided to spend enough for a neon sign out front. A few customers came in, looked around warily, and sat. The younger son got a big wooden shovel and shoved the cheese pies in the hot oven. Mother mixed the hot sauces, chopped the onions and the peppers, broke the macaroni and slid it into boiling water, and was happy.

She was useful again. If nobody needed her at home, hungry people needed her elsewhere. She fed them at reasonable prices, and she fed them well. She used her own recipes — the ones she got from her mother — and the big platters of food came out of the kitchen trailing plumes of steam.

The little cash register sang its one note song and Momma arrived home: "How about us? We're your family." If they were hungry, she said, they could come to the restaurant. Free.

She was busy. In the evening, people were waiting at the entrance for tables to empty. The teen-age set took over the place after school each day. Momma hired more waitresses, and she hired a girl to help her in the kitchen.

Tom had a queasy feeling that his whole career was going down a drain. His wife's hobby was earning too much money. It amounted to almost as much as he and his son made with wood and saws, Then it passed his income.

Longo was licked. He quit his business. He and Mrs. Longo bought the Sea Bright building. Tom salved his pride by doing the upstairs apartment in fine grained woods. Then he and his son redecorated the restaurant and put in concealed lighting.

Everybody in town likes the Longos. A few years ago, the Chamber of Commerce selected Tom to deliver the address to the graduating class of the elementary school. All the kids knew him. It wasn't a great speech, but the applause was deafening.

He told the children how one must persist, have courage, in the hard world of business. One must never admit defeat. It's too bad Mrs. Longo didn't hear it. She was busy in the restaurant . . .

Sun Can Cause Permanent Damage To Skin

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons, especially oldsters, seek the sun because it contributes to their feeling of well being. Sun-bathing young people want to tan because it is fashionable and gives the illusion of health and vitality.

There is no sense in kidding ourselves; the sun is capable of burning and may damage the skin permanently. A moderately severe sunburn is relieved by the application of cold compresses or of a spray or ointment containing one of the corticosteroids. But sunburn is not a transient, unpleasant experience. Scientists have demonstrated residual damage in the skin 4 to 15 months after being burned.

The relationship between sunlight and skin cancer is well known. These lesions occur frequently on exposed parts of the body, especially in individuals with light skin and blue eyes. The disease is twice as prevalent in southerners as in northerners and is more frequent in out of door and rural workers than in those who spend most of their time indoors.

Many other disorders of the skin have been traced to sunlight. Some persons are allergic to ultraviolet and develop hives, eczema, blisters, or various forms of dermatitis following exposure. Others get cold sores on the lips after being out of doors some time.

A variety of substances eaten or applied may make the skin sensitive to light. These include drugs such as the phenothiazine tranquilizers and the oral diabetic pills, as well as many cosmetics and plant agents. Citrus oil and bergomot oil used in perfumes are common offenders.

Dermatitis also has been reported among persons who rubbed certain plants on the skin prior to going out of doors in the sun. Typical examples are parsnips, carrots, and meadow grass.

CROOKED TOES

K. Z. writes: Should crooked toes be straightened by operation?

REPLY

Only when the distortion is causing trouble.

HAND TREMOR

R. W. writes: Our son's hands started shaking when he was in high school and the condition grew worse in college. The army doctors called it intention tremor. Now that he is working, it is proving most bothersome. Is this shaking curable?

REPLY

I doubt it unless it represents a nervous habit that can be corrected via psychiatry.

WORRIES ABOUT HEART

D. J. writes: I know a woman who worries about heart disease even though the doctor told her the electrocardiogram was normal. Does this test rule out all types of heart disease?

REPLY

No. Her physician undoubtedly considered other factors such as the location of pain, when it comes on, the blood pressure reading, the pulse rate, and the results of examination with a stethoscope.

MUMPS EXPOSURE

Mrs. J. T. writes: My 7 year old, who hasn't had mumps, was exposed to the disease yesterday. Can anything be done to prevent his getting the disease?

REPLY

By the time this reply appears, your boy will or will not have developed mumps. At this age, it is better to let nature take its course. Sterility from mumps rarely occurs before the age of puberty.

TOBACCO EYE

G. S. writes: Could smoking two packs of cigarets a day lead to tobacco eye?

REPLY

Possibly but no specific number of cigarets can be blamed. Some smokers note a decrease in acuteness of vision, especially in bright light, because they are susceptible to tobacco. In others, the general health plays a role.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

As they stepped out into the cool summer night, and left the noisy, overheated cocktail party within, a wife faced her husband squarely and demanded, "Elmer, did anybody tell you in there that you were ordained the life of the party, the greatest wit, the greatest raconteur, and the greatest lover boy in town?"

"No, dear," admitted the puzzled husband. "I can't say anybody did."

"Exactly," said the wife grimly. "Now tell me this: just where did you get the idea?"

Two parrots were carving up a third parrot who was not within earshot. "I tell you," croaked one, "that parrot's owner is a lush." "How can you tell?" asked the other. "It's obvious," said the first parrot. "Did you ever hear of another bird who keeps saying, 'Polly wants a canape?'"

Have you heard about the town's clumsiest butcher? Every time you buy meat from him his hands get in the weigh.

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

Candy was enjoyed by the ancients as long ago as 2000 B. C., according to the Corn Industries Research Foundation. No wonder most of us moderns have a well-developed sweet tooth!

Licorice was considered a medicine 'way back when. In those days we doubt that any youngsters hid when the doctor came.

The Aztecs were the first to discover the delights of chocolate. However, as old Hernando Cortez quickly found out, the ancient Mexicans were far from a bunch of "candy kids."

Approximately half of our imported candy comes from the United Kingdom. So, it's not surprising that for a long time now, our good relations with the British have been the sweetest!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — That delightful Frenchman Charles Boyer is back doing business at his former stand—or so I assume from the title of his next movie, "The Roue" for Carlo Ponti. Mons. Boyer stepped completely out of character to play the bulbous nosed "character" and father of Horst Bucholtz in "Fanny." He was just wonderful and rated rave reviews—but he wasn't sexy, his specialty.

"The Roue" sounds as if this will be remedied. Already lined up for Charles to make love to are such charmers as Mary Ure, Michele Morgan and Silvana Mangano. The co-starring male role re-united Boyer with Horst Bucholtz.

The day Jerry Wald returned home with news about Jean Negulesco's movie "Jessica" now being made in Rome, I received a long letter from Dusty (Mrs. Negulesco). Jerry said Jean has another "3 Coins in a Fountain" in his new picture.

"I saw 'Jessica' and it's very good," Jerry said. "I hadn't expected Dusty's lyrics would be anything special, but they will surprise you, and it's her first job."

Jerry said he heard the news of Ernest Hemingway's death while a friend who is associated with the Vatican was taking him through the Sistine Chapel in Rome. The friend remarked how it was that Hemingway die? Jerry's next picture, "A Young Man," which was to have been made in Rome, is by Hemingway, but it will be filmed in Hollywood now, because all the studios available to 20th Century-Fox in Rome are being used for "Cleopatra."

The rumors flew thick and fast when Sharon Hugueny became sick on the "77 Sunset Strip" set and had to go home, that she and Bob Evans were expecting a baby. I checked with both of them, and each denied it.

Said Sharon, "I am only 17, and very young to have a baby."

Bob told me that next week he completes his four-year contract with Darryl Zanuck.

"In all the four years I was with Darryl," Bob said, "I never made one picture for him. But I did make two for 20th Century-Fox. But I am grateful to him, because I have invested the money I earned, even when I wasn't working." Bob is not going to sign another acting contract, and plans to enter a different branch of motion picture business, but he declined to say what he has in mind.

Pat Boone was afraid I would think he was red-appling me if he had written me direct about something that happened in Johannesburg. So he wrote it to a friend who sent it to me:

"We arrived in Johannesburg at 4:30 in the morning and were bowled over that 10,000 people had spent the night at the airport awaiting our party. When we reached the hotel there were 5,000 more and it got a little rough. But thanks to the South African cops I got in with only a torn shirt and a woman slugging the promoter.

"The kids in the lobby put up a sign for me to sing and when I asked what they would like to hear they yelled 'Louella'! We later found out that "Louella' is one of my biggest sellers here."

I don't mind being red-appled like this, Pat. And I'm equally sure the song compsoer Jimmy McHugh won't mind.

I had heard that Marie McDonald had sent her four-year-old Tina to Harry Karl and Debbie Reynolds, and I wondered how Tina was getting along with Carrie Frances Fisher, who is about the same age. Debbie told me that nothing was ever said about Tina's visiting them.

"I was told that Debbie would come to visit her father," Debbie told me, "and I was delighted. She is a wonderful child, 11-year-old and was with us for four days in Palm Springs. I was hoping it was true that she was going to be with us, but her mother must have changed her mind, because Debbie has not arrived."

When I was told that Jane Fonda is reading the script of "The Ugly American" for the role of of the wife of the ambassador I thought she seemed a little young for the part. But maybe Marlon Brando, the co-producer and star, doesn't feel she's too young for him.

Anyway, at the rate things are going getting this best seller befor the cameras somewhere in the Far East, both Marlon and Jane will be a bit older. Jane is completing 'Walk on the Wild Side" at Columbia and I hear she is very good—which is what you expect of Hank Fonda's talented daughter.

Kiwanis Club Hears Report On Convention

Keyser Delegate Visits Toronto

KEYSER — "Kiwanis is Here" was the subject of a talk given Wednesday to members of the local club by Gerould Klinestiver, who along with Henry Hornak was an official delegate to the forty-sixth annual convention of Kiwanis International in Toronto, Ontario, July 2-6.

Klinestiver selected his topic from a common expression often heard when signposts are noted in over 5,000 communities in the United States and Canada designating the functioning of the service club in that particular locale.

He said that all the various ideals and goals of the organization were in evidence at the convention which attracted 18,337 delegates and their wives, the largest crowd in the history of the club.

He said the highlights of the five-day gathering were speeches by International President, I. O. Tally Jr., of Fayetteville, N. C., by the Prime Minister of Canada, and the election of James M. Moler, of Charles Town, to the international board of trustees.

Special action included passage of a resolution to establish Kiwanis clubs in other countries of the world besides Canada and additional emphasis placed on farm-city relations.

Klinestiver said the Prime Minister lauded Kiwanians for their part in keeping peace and friendly relations between the two countries of Canada and the U. S. while President Tally stressed that "the education of ourselves as everyday citizens and the education of others for this end is our duty and our destiny."

Mr. and Mrs. Klinestiver and Mr. and Mrs. Hornak joined others from West Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma, and Montana for the annual banquet held by these groups in the Old Mill.

Further discussion was held on the interclub picnic at Cacapon Park on July 30 with the Berkeley Springs club as the host. President James Watson instructed Charles Rennix, chairman of the nominating committee, that the district governor has requested that new officers be elected prior to September 1 in order that they may attend the district convention to be held at Blackwater Falls State Park.

Harold Wimer, a recent graduate of West Virginia University who has accepted employment at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, was a guest of his father.

MT. SAVAGE — The Cheerful Card Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Alma Brailer. Five hundred was played and refreshments served.

Prizes were won by Miss Mary Murray, Mrs. Francis King and Mrs. Wilbert Logsdon. Mrs. Walter Meade will be the next hostess.

Automation Will Be Panel Topic At Poultry Festival

MOOREFIELD—Leading poultrymen are turning more and more to labor-saving devices to help with the chores. Automation is one of the subjects to be discussed at the West Virginia Poultry Convention to be held here August 2-4.

This phase of the program will be handled in the form of a panel discussion on the topic "What Price Automation?" Harold M. Hyre, associate professor of poultry science at West Virginia University, will be moderator of the panel. Other members of the panel include H. H. Kauffman, professor of poultry husbandry, Pennsylvania State University; R. H. Strickler, Harrisonburg, Va., general manager, Rocco Feeds, and W. Byron Moore, associate extension poultryman at WVU. These men will discuss "Size and Labor Efficiency," "Capital Needs," and "Bird Performance."

Moore has collected laying flock records from Mountain State poultrymen for the past several years. These records show the laying performance of most of the leading strains, and Moore will have an up-to-date summary to present to the group.

Other topics to be discussed are "The Consumption of Poultry and Eggs" by Prof. M. J. Stodelman of Purdue University, Indiana; "The Use of Lights in the Poultry House" by M. C. Skogland, head of the poultry science department, University of New Hampshire, and Dr. Homer Patrick, head of the department of poultry science, West Virginia University, and "Turkey Ranges" by H. H. Kauffman of The Pennsylvania State University.

In addition to the educational program, there will be the Poultry Festival, consisting of the crowning of the Poultry Queen, the Poultry Parade, and a chicken barbecue.

"This Poultry Convention and Festival has become one of the leading annual poultry events of the eastern part of the United States," Hyre commented. "West Virginia poultrymen and others interested in this great industry cannot afford to miss this affair."

Kiwanis Club Hears Report On Convention

Keyser Delegate Visits Toronto

KEYSER — "Kiwanis is Here" was the subject of a talk given Wednesday to members of the local club by Gerould Klinestiver, who along with Henry Hornak was an official delegate to the forty-sixth annual convention of Kiwanis International in Toronto, Ontario, July 2-6.

Klinestiver selected his topic from a common expression often heard when signposts are noted in over 5,000 communities in the United States and Canada designating the functioning of the service club in that particular locale.

He said that all the various ideals and goals of the organization were in evidence at the convention which attracted 18,337 delegates and their wives, the largest crowd in the history of the club.

He said the highlights of the five-day gathering were speeches by International President, I. O. Tally Jr., of Fayetteville, N. C., by the Prime Minister of Canada, and the election of James M. Moler, of Charles Town, to the international board of trustees.

Special action included passage of a resolution to establish Kiwanis clubs in other countries of the world besides Canada and additional emphasis placed on farm-city relations.

Klinestiver said the Prime Minister lauded Kiwanians for their part in keeping peace and friendly relations between the two countries of Canada and the U. S. while President Tally stressed that "the education of ourselves as everyday citizens and the education of others for this end is our duty and our destiny."

Mr. and Mrs. Klinestiver and Mr. and Mrs. Hornak joined others from West Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma, and Montana for the annual banquet held by these groups in the Old Mill.

Further discussion was held on the interclub picnic at Cacapon Park on July 30 with the Berkeley Springs club as the host. President James Watson instructed Charles Rennix, chairman of the nominating committee, that the district governor has requested that new officers be elected prior to September 1 in order that they may attend the district convention to be held at Blackwater Falls State Park.

Harold Wimer, a recent graduate of West Virginia University who has accepted employment at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, was a guest of his father.

Automation Will Be Panel Topic At Poultry Festival

MOOREFIELD—Leading poultrymen are turning more and more to labor-saving devices to help with the chores. Automation is one of the subjects to be discussed at the West Virginia Poultry Convention to be held here August 2-4.

This phase of the program will be handled in the form of a panel discussion on the topic "What Price Automation?" Harold M. Hyre, associate professor of poultry science at West Virginia University, will be moderator of the panel. Other members of the panel include H. H. Kauffman, professor of poultry husbandry, Pennsylvania State University; R. H. Strickler, Harrisonburg, Va., general manager, Rocco Feeds, and W. Byron Moore, associate extension poultryman at WVU. These men will discuss "Size and Labor Efficiency," "Capital Needs," and "Bird Performance."

Moore has collected laying flock records from Mountain State poultrymen for the past several years. These records show the laying performance of most of the leading strains, and Moore will have an up-to-date summary to present to the group.

Other topics to be discussed are "The Consumption of Poultry and Eggs" by Prof. M. J. Stodelman of Purdue University, Indiana; "The Use of Lights in the Poultry House" by M. C. Skogland, head of the poultry science department, University of New Hampshire, and Dr. Homer Patrick, head of the department of poultry science, West Virginia University, and "Turkey Ranges" by H. H. Kauffman of The Pennsylvania State University.

In addition to the educational program, there will be the Poultry Festival, consisting of the crowning of the Poultry Queen, the Poultry Parade, and a chicken barbecue.

"This Poultry Convention and Festival has become one of the leading annual poultry events of the eastern part of the United States," Hyre commented. "West Virginia poultrymen and others interested in this great industry cannot afford to miss this affair."

Samuel Llewellyn is chairman of the Highway Safety and Courtesy Campaign for Rising Sun Lodge here.

Funds Allocated For Five W. Va. Hospitals

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The State Board of Health approved Thursday tentative allocation of $443,299 in federal Hill-Burton hospital construction funds for 1961-62 to five West Virginia hospitals and one nursing home.

Action on requests from other hospitals and final approval of tentative allotments was deferred by the board until Sept. 21. State Health Director N. H. Dyer said the postponement was due primarily to the fact that Congress has not yet acted on proposed 1961-62 allocations of Hill-Burton funds.

The present tentative allocation from Congress for the state is about $2.8 million. Dyer said this possibly might be increased by about $300,000 in pending legislation. He said the board had received requests for Hill-Burton aid totaling about $5.4 million.

The Hill-Burton funds, which are matched on a 50-50 basis with local funds, are used for construction of hospital and other medical facilities.

Tentative allocations approved Thursday included:

—Camden - Clark Memorial, Parkersburg, $164,000, for nurses training school facilities.

—Charleston General, $66,952, for building construction.

—St. Joseph's, Parkersburg, $60,000, building construction.

—Cabell-Huntington, Huntington, $42,036, to complete financing of approved projects.

—Jackson General, Ripley, $109,687, to complete 1960-61 allocation for construction.

—St. Barbara's Nursing Home, Monongah, $624 for requipment.

Guard Captain Outlines Flood Rescue Efforts

By Capt. CALVIN CLAYPOOL
West Virginia National Guard
As Told To
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The people around here told me it rained three times Wednesday night.

They said the water would come up and then go down. That happened twice.

The third time the water just roared down out of the hollow.

I've never seen anything like it in my life. Houses were swept off their foundations into the middle of the road. Others looked like they were just picked up and dumped 10 yards away.

The people were walking around with dazed expressions on their faces ... like they were still in shock.

There must have been a dozen houses washed into the road at the spot where I was. Big bulldozers just pushed them over to the curb.

The one who had the closest shave was only 15-months old, little Fritz Hamilton. The Hamilton house was hit when the house next door was washed off its foundation.

Just before that, the father, Frank Hamilton, took his wife—who is pregnant — across the street to a neighbor's house. Then he went back and took their little girl, Ginger, across. But he couldn't make it back for Fritz — the water was too deep and too swift. His house had been pushed about 10 yards off its foundation by then.

They could hear Fritz crying in the bedroom and could see that the water was up to the level of his crib. But when the water receded a man went in, and there the baby was — lying there on his mattress and the bottom of it was wet. He was laughing and playing.

Four Nursing Homes Refused W. Va. Licenses

KEYSER — Four area nursing homes will be refused licenses to operate by the West Virginia Health Department due to various hazards cited by State Fire Marshal Basil E. Wright, Charleston.

Wright recommended that 1961-62 permits be denied 22 nursing homes in West Virginia.

Among nursing homes mentioned are Kidwell's, Romney; Ours and Pulliam, both of Keyser, and White Gables, Parsons.

Health Director N. H. Dyer, who actually issues the licenses, said he would follow Wright's recommendations. Both have authority to close institutions unless they take steps to comply with safety regulations.

On the basis of sanitation, Dyer said most all hospitals and nursing homes are making good efforts to comply and few, if any, licenses are expected to be refused for failure to meet health standards.

School Job Underway

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — Work is progressing on the new addition to Franklin High School and renovation of the second floor of the school's vocational agriculture building, according to Superintendent Floyd J. Dahmer.

The contract for the construction of the two new rooms, which will be used for a laboratory and a commercial room, was awarded early in the spring to the Hill-Kingwood for $34,145.

Work has progressed to the point where the rooms will be roofed in the near future. Furniture and equipment for installation in the new laboratory room was purchased in May from the West Virginia Seating Company of Huntington for $7,067.10. It consists primarily of chemistry-physics tables. Orders also have been placed, using NDEA funds matched by the Board of Education, for instructional supplies for use in the laboratory.

When completed, the laboratory will be modern in every respect and will meet an urgent need at the school.

Renovation of the upstairs of the vo-ag building to provide a cafeteria also is receiving attention.

The Harrisonburg Insulation Service is installing an acoustical tile ceiling at a cost of $2,359, and Hartman's Furniture Store of Franklin has been awarded a $3,312 contract to lay tile on the entire second floor of the building and stairway.

Partitions in the upstairs have been removed and the interior is being painted by Ralph M. Rexrode. Tables will be purchased for the dining room after the beginning of the fiscal year. When completed, the room will seat between 200 and 250.

The board also is repairing other school buildings in Pendleton County, including the installation of a new roof on Brandywine School.

Other business transacted by the board includes the purchase of a panel truck and a 48-passenger school bus at a total cost of $5,554.47.

Survivor Tells How Daughter Died In Flood

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — "She was hard-headed but she was good. She'd help me out all the time but sometimes she got mad and told me to shut up and then we laughed.'

That's the affectionate recollection 69-year-old Clide Hart had of his 10-year-old daughter Nancy Lou, crushed to death between two houses, including the Hart's which was swept from its foundation by roaring flood waters here early Thursday.

"She was hard-headed. Maybe that's why she's dead." Mrs. Sophia Hart, 55, nodded in agreement as she sat in an old rocker at the home of a friend, mending what was left of their clothes.

Her eyes, dry and unbelieving, made it apparent she was still dazed by the night-long nightmare.

"Everything was dark and the water was coming up to our waists and the furniture was starting to move around when me and the wife started to get dressed to leave," Hart said. "I told Nancy, my little girl, to stay up on the bed witht he pooch.

Caught In Vise

"I opened the front door and that' when the water got us. I told Nancy to get hold of her mother's hand but she jumped off the bed instead and that's the last we saw of Nancy."

The crippled man said the rushing waters wedged him between a 2-by-4 and the trunk of a tree, where he remained for three hours before "some of those rescue boys carried me to a car and took me to a hospital."

"The wife was trapped somewhere, too, and I never did meet up with her again until they told her I was at Union Mission." That's where the tragedy-stricken couple was reunited.

Mrs. Leo Robinson and her four children were evacuated from their home in Snow Hill, two or three miles from the Hart residence.

"Me and the kids (aged 5 to 9) started back to bed after we heard the rain and that's when the hill came down on us," Mrs. Robinson said. "Our house is still there but it's going to take a lot of cleaning up to put it in shape again."

Barely Escapes

Slightly built Judy Haynes, 18-year-old mother of a 21-month-old daughter, had a smiliar story to tell Red Cross workers at Stonewall Jackson High School.

"The high water washed out a foot bridge and a car bridge in front of the house. I left with Annette after I looked up and saw my neighbor's house a-hanging'."

Mrs. Lillian Pryor, a resident of hard-hit northwest Charleston, said "me and the kids was scared to death."

"Lord, we had a big flood," she said. "We were in the house and the water just started coming up through the floor."

She said she and her daughters, ages 11 and 14, "just screamed until some policeman came and carried us away."

"I couldnt' save nothing, just what I got here." Next to her on a Red Cross cot in the high school gymnasium was a little bundle of clothing wrapped in a bedspread.

Funds Allocated For Five W. Va. Hospitals

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The State Board of Health approved Thursday tentative allocation of $443,299 in federal Hill-Burton hospital construction funds for 1961-62 to five West Virginia hospitals and one nursing home.

Action on requests from other hospitals and final approval of tentative allotments was deferred by the board until Sept. 21. State Health Director N. H. Dyer said the postponement was due primarily to the fact that Congress has not yet acted on proposed 1961-62 allocations of Hill-Burton funds.

The present tentative allocation from Congress for the state is about $2.8 million. Dyer said this possibly might be increased by about $300,000 in pending legislation. He said the board had received requests for Hill-Burton aid totaling about $5.4 million.

The Hill-Burton funds, which are matched on a 50-50 basis with local funds, are used for construction of hospital and other medical facilities.

Tentative allocations approved Thursday included:

—Camden - Clark Memorial, Parkersburg, $164,000, for nurses training school facilities.

—Charleston General, $66,952, for building construction.

—St. Joseph's, Parkersburg, $60,000, building construction.

—Cabell-Huntington, Huntington, $42,036, to complete financing of approved projects.

—Jackson General, Ripley, $109,687, to complete 1960-61 allocation for construction.

—St. Barbara's Nursing Home, Monongah, $624 for requipment.

Guard Captain Outlines Flood Rescue Efforts

By Capt. CALVIN CLAYPOOL
West Virginia National Guard
As Told To
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The people around here told me it rained three times Wednesday night.

They said the water would come up and then go down. That happened twice.

The third time the water just roared down out of the hollow.

I've never seen anything like it in my life. Houses were swept off their foundations into the middle of the road. Others looked like they were just picked up and dumped 10 yards away.

The people were walking around with dazed expressions on their faces ... like they were still in shock.

There must have been a dozen houses washed into the road at the spot where I was. Big bulldozers just pushed them over to the curb.

The one who had the closest shave was only 15-months old, little Fritz Hamilton. The Hamilton house was hit when the house next door was washed off its foundation.

Just before that, the father, Frank Hamilton, took his wife—who is pregnant — across the street to a neighbor's house. Then he went back and took their little girl, Ginger, across. But he couldn't make it back for Fritz — the water was too deep and too swift. His house had been pushed about 10 yards off its foundation by then.

They could hear Fritz crying in the bedroom and could see that the water was up to the level of his crib. But when the water receded a man went in, and there the baby was — lying there on his mattress and the bottom of it was wet. He was laughing and playing.

Four Nursing Homes Refused W. Va. Licenses

KEYSER — Four area nursing homes will be refused licenses to operate by the West Virginia Health Department due to various hazards cited by State Fire Marshal Basil E. Wright, Charleston.

Wright recommended that 1961-62 permits be denied 22 nursing homes in West Virginia.

Among nursing homes mentioned are Kidwell's, Romney; Ours and Pulliam, both of Keyser, and White Gables, Parsons.

Health Director N. H. Dyer, who actually issues the licenses, said he would follow Wright's recommendations. Both have authority to close institutions unless they take steps to comply with safety regulations.

On the basis of sanitation, Dyer said most all hospitals and nursing homes are making good efforts to comply and few, if any, licenses are expected to be refused for failure to meet health standards.

School Job Underway

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — Work is progressing on the new addition to Franklin High School and renovation of the second floor of the school's vocational agriculture building, according to Superintendent Floyd J. Dahmer.

The contract for the construction of the two new rooms, which will be used for a laboratory and a commercial room, was awarded early in the spring to the Hill-Kingwood for $34,145.

Work has progressed to the point where the rooms will be roofed in the near future. Furniture and equipment for installation in the new laboratory room was purchased in May from the West Virginia Seating Company of Huntington for $7,067.10. It consists primarily of chemistry-physics tables. Orders also have been placed, using NDEA funds matched by the Board of Education, for instructional supplies for use in the laboratory.

When completed, the laboratory will be modern in every respect and will meet an urgent need at the school.

Renovation of the upstairs of the vo-ag building to provide a cafeteria also is receiving attention.

The Harrisonburg Insulation Service is installing an acoustical tile ceiling at a cost of $2,359, and Hartman's Furniture Store of Franklin has been awarded a $3,312 contract to lay tile on the entire second floor of the building and stairway.

Partitions in the upstairs have been removed and the interior is being painted by Ralph M. Rexrode. Tables will be purchased for the dining room after the beginning of the fiscal year. When completed, the room will seat between 200 and 250.

The board also is repairing other school buildings in Pendleton County, including the installation of a new roof on Brandywine School.

Other business transacted by the board includes the purchase of a panel truck and a 48-passenger school bus at a total cost of $5,554.47.

Survivor Tells How Daughter Died In Flood

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — "She was hard-headed but she was good. She'd help me out all the time but sometimes she got mad and told me to shut up and then we laughed.'

That's the affectionate recollection 69-year-old Clide Hart had of his 10-year-old daughter Nancy Lou, crushed to death between two houses, including the Hart's which was swept from its foundation by roaring flood waters here early Thursday.

"She was hard-headed. Maybe that's why she's dead." Mrs. Sophia Hart, 55, nodded in agreement as she sat in an old rocker at the home of a friend, mending what was left of their clothes.

Her eyes, dry and unbelieving, made it apparent she was still dazed by the night-long nightmare.

"Everything was dark and the water was coming up to our waists and the furniture was starting to move around when me and the wife started to get dressed to leave," Hart said. "I told Nancy, my little girl, to stay up on the bed witht he pooch.

Caught In Vise

"I opened the front door and that' when the water got us. I told Nancy to get hold of her mother's hand but she jumped off the bed instead and that's the last we saw of Nancy."

The crippled man said the rushing waters wedged him between a 2-by-4 and the trunk of a tree, where he remained for three hours before "some of those rescue boys carried me to a car and took me to a hospital."

"The wife was trapped somewhere, too, and I never did meet up with her again until they told her I was at Union Mission." That's where the tragedy-stricken couple was reunited.

Mrs. Leo Robinson and her four children were evacuated from their home in Snow Hill, two or three miles from the Hart residence.

"Me and the kids (aged 5 to 9) started back to bed after we heard the rain and that's when the hill came down on us," Mrs. Robinson said. "Our house is still there but it's going to take a lot of cleaning up to put it in shape again."

Barely Escapes

Slightly built Judy Haynes, 18-year-old mother of a 21-month-old daughter, had a smiliar story to tell Red Cross workers at Stonewall Jackson High School.

"The high water washed out a foot bridge and a car bridge in front of the house. I left with Annette after I looked up and saw my neighbor's house a-hanging'."

Mrs. Lillian Pryor, a resident of hard-hit northwest Charleston, said "me and the kids was scared to death."

"Lord, we had a big flood," she said. "We were in the house and the water just started coming up through the floor."

She said she and her daughters, ages 11 and 14, "just screamed until some policeman came and carried us away."

"I couldnt' save nothing, just what I got here." Next to her on a Red Cross cot in the high school gymnasium was a little bundle of clothing wrapped in a bedspread.

Tigers Outslug Orioles, 15-8, To Regain First Place

Jim Gentile, Colavito Each Hit 2 Homers

Detroit Scores 8 In Seventh; Lead Yanks By One Point

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers exploded for eight runs in the seventh—their biggest inning of the season—to wallop the Baltimore Orioles 15-8 Thursday and climb back into the American League lead.

Rocky Colavito hit two home runs, his 26th and 27th of the season, to drive in five runs and lead the Tiger attack.

Jim Gentile hit one three-run homer and another with the bases empty for Baltimore. Brooks Robinson and Hank Foiles also hit bases empty homers for the Orioles in the slugfest and Jake Wood blasted one for the Tigers.

The victory boosted the Tigers into first place, half a game in front of the idle New York Yankees.

Gentile's three-run homer in the first inning had given the Orioles a 3-0 lead but the Tigers came back in the second to make it 3-2 when Al Kaline doubled and Wood homered.

The Tigers went ahead in the third with another pair of runs. The Orioles came right back in the fourth to score twice and take a 5-4 lead.

Then in the fifth inning, Colavito lined a pitch by Oriole starter Steve Barber off the upper deck facing in rightfield after Kaline had walked to put the Tigers in front to stay. Detroit added another run in the inning before the Orioles made it 7-6 in the sixth on Brooks Robinson's solo homer.

Then the Tigers lowered the boom with their eight-run outburst in the seventh.

Big blow in the rally was Colavito's second homer of the game with two mates on base.

Gentile and Foiles wound up the free-hitting battle with solo homers in the ninth. Gentile now has hit eight homers in seven games against the Tigers.

Hal Woodeshick, the second of four Tiger pitchers, gained his fourth victory against three defeats. Barber suffered his eighth defeat against 10 victories.

the Cas Taylors

It seems that week after week we talk about baseball or sports of some sort. This just naturally happens because of our personal interest in sports and because many of our regular customers share our interest.

But make no mistake about it there are many other things to note about The Cas Taylors'.

The fresh clean and delightful atmosphere attracts many people. And certainly, our delicious food and drink brings people back again and again and again.

But along with these things of special importance is the feeling of belonging . . . the comfortable relaxation you feel once you walk through our doors. Everything is low key with you yourself setting your own conversational pace . . . from sitting quietly in the corner alone (if you choose) to high level discussions about earth-shaking events and ideas —who will break Ruth's record?, how properly to mix a really dry martini!, and, even such truly important things as space flight and the Berlin crisis.

Briefly and candidly, The The Cas Taylors' is a pleasant place to spend your leisure moments.

Bucs' Gibbon Scores First Major Shutout

Tosses 4-Hitter, Beats Cubs, 4-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Joe Gibbon of the Pittsburgh Pirates tossed his first major league shutout Thursday night, blanking the Chicago Cubs 4-0 on four hits.

Gibbon fanned nine, walked three and during one stretch he faced 14 Chicago batters without yielding a hit. It was the lanky left-hander's eighth triumph in 12 decisions.

Only Jerry Kindall, Al Heist and George Altman were able to tag Gibbon for safeties. Kindall got a pair of doubles and Heist and Altman each collected singles.

The Pirates gave Gibbon all the help he needed, banging out 11 hits and jumping on Cub starter Jack Curtis for single tallies in the first and seventh innings and a pair of runs in the fourth.

Back to back singles by Dick Stuart and Don Hoak, a sacrifice bunt and Bill Mazeroski's two-run bloop single gave the Pirates their two tallies in the fourth.

Stuart drove in Pittsburgh's first run with a double in the first inning with Joe Christopher on second base.

Curtis, who was lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth, was charged with the loss, his fourth against six victories.

Bethesda's Don Dell Pulls Tennis Upset

Defeats McKinley, Wimbledon Finalist, In Clay Court Test

CHICAGO (AP) — Fifth-seeded Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., Thursday scored a resounding upset in the quarterfinals of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament, eliminating the Wimbledon Finalist, Chuck McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

The 20-year-old McKinley, second-seeded behind Bernard (Tut) Bartzen in the week long meet at the River Forest Tennis Club, won the first two games of the 1¾ hour match but then seemed baffled by the deliberate, consistent play of Dell.

Dell's semifinal opponent Saturday will be Dennis Ralston, the No. 4 seed from Bakersfield, Calif., who won his quarterfinal match by default from No. 6 Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif. Crawford, trailing 6-2, 6-1, quit because of a blood blister on his racket hand as he lagged 4-1 in the third set.

The other semifinal match, which will be Friday, will pit Bartzen, who scored a four-set quarterfinal victory over No. 7 Allan Fox of Los Angeles, and Marine Corp. Jon Douglas, the former Stanford football quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif.

Douglas had easy going Thursday, brushing aside the No. 8 Larry Nagler of Hollywood, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Bartzen, seeking his fourth Clay Court crown, started and finished fast in eliminating the NCA champion Fox 6-0, 2-6, 6-4, 6-0.

Tigers Outslug Orioles, 15-8, To Regain First Place

Jim Gentile, Colavito Each Hit 2 Homers

Detroit Scores 8 In Seventh; Lead Yanks By One Point

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers exploded for eight runs in the seventh—their biggest inning of the season—to wallop the Baltimore Orioles 15-8 Thursday and climb back into the American League lead.

Rocky Colavito hit two home runs, his 26th and 27th of the season, to drive in five runs and lead the Tiger attack.

Jim Gentile hit one three-run homer and another with the bases empty for Baltimore. Brooks Robinson and Hank Foiles also hit bases empty homers for the Orioles in the slugfest and Jake Wood blasted one for the Tigers.

The victory boosted the Tigers into first place, half a game in front of the idle New York Yankees.

Gentile's three-run homer in the first inning had given the Orioles a 3-0 lead but the Tigers came back in the second to make it 3-2 when Al Kaline doubled and Wood homered.

The Tigers went ahead in the third with another pair of runs. The Orioles came right back in the fourth to score twice and take a 5-4 lead.

Then in the fifth inning, Colavito lined a pitch by Oriole starter Steve Barber off the upper deck facing in rightfield after Kaline had walked to put the Tigers in front to stay. Detroit added another run in the inning before the Orioles made it 7-6 in the sixth on Brooks Robinson's solo homer.

Then the Tigers lowered the boom with their eight-run outburst in the seventh.

Big blow in the rally was Colavito's second homer of the game with two mates on base.

Gentile and Foiles wound up the free-hitting battle with solo homers in the ninth. Gentile now has hit eight homers in seven games against the Tigers.

Hal Woodeshick, the second of four Tiger pitchers, gained his fourth victory against three defeats. Barber suffered his eighth defeat against 10 victories.

Bucs' Gibbon Scores First Major Shutout

Tosses 4-Hitter, Beats Cubs, 4-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Joe Gibbon of the Pittsburgh Pirates tossed his first major league shutout Thursday night, blanking the Chicago Cubs 4-0 on four hits.

Gibbon fanned nine, walked three and during one stretch he faced 14 Chicago batters without yielding a hit. It was the lanky left-hander's eighth triumph in 12 decisions.

Only Jerry Kindall, Al Heist and George Altman were able to tag Gibbon for safeties. Kindall got a pair of doubles and Heist and Altman each collected singles.

The Pirates gave Gibbon all the help he needed, banging out 11 hits and jumping on Cub starter Jack Curtis for single tallies in the first and seventh innings and a pair of runs in the fourth.

Back to back singles by Dick Stuart and Don Hoak, a sacrifice bunt and Bill Mazeroski's two-run bloop single gave the Pirates their two tallies in the fourth.

Stuart drove in Pittsburgh's first run with a double in the first inning with Joe Christopher on second base.

Curtis, who was lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth, was charged with the loss, his fourth against six victories.

Bethesda's Don Dell Pulls Tennis Upset

Defeats McKinley, Wimbledon Finalist, In Clay Court Test

CHICAGO (AP) — Fifth-seeded Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., Thursday scored a resounding upset in the quarterfinals of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament, eliminating the Wimbledon Finalist, Chuck McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

The 20-year-old McKinley, second-seeded behind Bernard (Tut) Bartzen in the week long meet at the River Forest Tennis Club, won the first two games of the 1¾ hour match but then seemed baffled by the deliberate, consistent play of Dell.

Dell's semifinal opponent Saturday will be Dennis Ralston, the No. 4 seed from Bakersfield, Calif., who won his quarterfinal match by default from No. 6 Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif. Crawford, trailing 6-2, 6-1, quit because of a blood blister on his racket hand as he lagged 4-1 in the third set.

The other semifinal match, which will be Friday, will pit Bartzen, who scored a four-set quarterfinal victory over No. 7 Allan Fox of Los Angeles, and Marine Corp. Jon Douglas, the former Stanford football quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif.

Douglas had easy going Thursday, brushing aside the No. 8 Larry Nagler of Hollywood, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

the Cas Taylors

It seems that week after week we talk about baseball or sports of some sort. This just naturally happens because of our personal interest in sports and because many of our regular customers share our interest.

But make no mistake about it there are many other things to note about The Cas Taylors'.

The fresh clean and delightful atmosphere attracts many people. And certainly, our delicious food and drink brings people back again and again and again.

But along with these things of special importance is the feeling of belonging . . . the comfortable relaxation you feel once you walk through our doors. Everything is low key with you yourself setting your own conversational pace . . . from sitting quietly in the corner alone (if you choose) to high level discussions about earth-shaking events and ideas —who will break Ruth's record?, how properly to mix a really dry martini?, and, even such truly important things as space flight and the Berlin crisis.

Briefly and candidly, The The Cas Taylors' is a pleasant place to spend your leisure moments.

Barney Tucker Is Named Head Coach At Oldtown High

Bishields Gets Coaching Post At Cresaptown

Chapman Succeeds Cuba; Nile Chaney To Replace Munson

Edgar A. "Barney" Tucker, former Fort Hill High School football and track star, who has served as assistant grid and cage mentor at Ridgeley High School, has been named head coach at Oldtown High School and George Bishields, former Mt. Savage High School athlete, is the new basketball and track coach at Cresaptown Junior High School.

These and other changes in the Allegany County public high school coaching ranks were announced yesterday by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education.

Both of the new head coaches were graduated from Shepherd College at Shepherdstown, W.Va.

Kellough Coached 6 Years

At Oldtown, Tucker replaces Ronnie Kellough, who has been head basketball coach there for six consecutive years. Kellough has tutored basketball at Oldtown since the 1955-56 season when the school made its debut in the sport.

Tucker excelled in football with Coach Bill Hahn's teams at Fort Hill and also was an outstanding track star. He was graduated in 1949, served in the Air Force and attended Shepherd College where he starred on the gridiron.

Bishields, replaces Norman Nightengale as coach of basketball and track at Cresaptown. George was a three sports star at Mt. Savage where he excelled in baseball, basketball and soccer and was the leading pitcher in the Pen-Mar Baseball League for Zihlman in 1957, the year he was graduated from high school.

Other changes in the county concern the assistant coaching posts at Allegany and Beall high schools.

Chapman Replaces Cuba

Ronnie Chapman replaces Paul Cuba as first football assistant to head coach Ed Schwarz at Allegany and Nile "Bob" Chaney takes the place of Frank R. Munson, as assistant to Gerard "Jerry" Calhoun, Beall High's head football coach.

A graduate of Frostburg State, Chapman was 1950 football captain at Allegany High School and played an end position. He assisted Schwarz last season. Carlton Shore, one-time Fort Hill guard, and member of the Allegany High faculty, has been Schwarz's other assistant.

Cuba, who played football at Pitt under the late "Doc" Sutherland, served as aide at Allegany under Chester G. Payne and Schwarz. Paul gave up his post as assistant coach but will remain as a member of the faculty.

Frank Munson Resigns

Munson, who directs the Beall High School band, stepped down as assistant football coach, a post he has held for several years. Chaney, who has been junior varsity coach at Beall, is a graduate of Ridgeley High School and Shepherd College.

James W. Manges will remain as head coach at LaSalle High School this year. Fred Corbin will return as asssitant but there is some uncertainty as to whether Dickie Beard will be back as assistant. Manges made his debut as head coach of the Explorers last year.

Dan Athletics, Braves Win In Little League

The Braves broke a deadlock for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday by defeating the Senators, 13-2, at Constitution Park for their 10th win in 12 games this year.

The triumph pushed Manager Bert Lawler's Braves one-half game ahead of the idle Indians (9-2) in the tight pennant race.

Herbie Springer pitched his fifth victory without a defeat despite walking 12 batters. Springer whiffed nine and allowed only two hits — a double by Joe Felten and a single by Nelson Carroll.

Springer belted two triples and Pat McLean and George Franklin one each while Jim Brannon had a double and triple and Perky Yates a single and a two-bagger to pace the Braves' heavy hitting.

The triumph was the fourth in a row for the Braves while the Senators (1-11) have dropped six straight tilts.

At Penn Avenue, Manager Bob Ziler's Athletics won an extra-inning thriller by shoving over two runs in the top of the seventh to beat the Dodgers, 4-3.

Gary Long picked up his first mound victory although he was relieved by Kyle Geatz in the seventh. The Athletics' hurler belted a tie-breaking home run to lead off the seventh and the winners added what proved to be the winning tally on a walk and a two-bagger by Blair Norris.

Tommy Clay, who relieved Poncho Klosterman in the 7th, was the losing pitcher. The Dodgers rallied for one run in the bottom of the seventh on a hit batsman and three walks.

Long had a double in addition to his homer, Norris hit a homer and double, Terry Ashby and Kyle Geatz each had two hits to lead the Athletics at bat. Piper had a pair of singles for the Dodgers. The results:

Carl Shaffer and Jerry O'Baker combined to hurl a one-hit shutout as Barrelville's Old Germans blanked Corriganville, 4-0, yesterday in a County Softball League game at Barrelville.

Ellerslie's Vern Lowery picked up his 16th pitching triumph to tie Hyndman's Junior Brelsford for winning honors in the circuit as Ellerslie defeated Stringtown yesterday, 10-5.

Greenpoint Inn claimed a forfeit win over Kennell's Mill when the latter failed to field a team for their game. The win enabled the Old Exports to gain a half-game on the idle Hyndman Vets who are leading the league.

Barrelville broke a scoreless deadlock in the third when Jon Witt hit a two-run homer and added another pair in the fourth on a solo homer by Ronnie Neubiser, two singles and an error.

The win went to Shaffer who hurled one-hit ball for six innings before being relieved by Jerry O'Baker who blanked Corriganville in the seventh. Newt Carter's single in the fourth was the only hit obtained by the losers.

Witt smacked a double in addition to his home run to pace Barrelville at the plate.

Ellerslie scored seven runs in the fourth inning and added three more in the fifth to ice its 16th win. Vern Lowery smashed a grand slam homer in the big fourth while Charles Shaffer hit a homer and double for the winners. Carl May had a double for the only extra base hit for Stringtown.

Lowery pitched until the sixth when he was relieved by Dick Wilson who gave way to Herb Devore in the seventh for Ellerslie. Adam Budnick was the losing pitcher. The results:

Barney Tucker Is Named Head Coach At Oldtown High

Bishields Gets Coaching Post At Cresaptown

Chapman Succeeds Cuba; Nile Chaney To Replace Munson

Edgar A. "Barney" Tucker, former Fort Hill High School football and track star, who has served as assistant grid and cage mentor at Ridgeley High School, has been named head coach at Oldtown High School and George Bishields, former Mt. Savage High School athlete, is the new basketball and track coach at Cresaptown Junior High School.

These and other changes in the Allegany County public high school coaching ranks were announced yesterday by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education.

Both of the new head coaches were graduated from Shepherd College at Shepherdstown, W.Va.

Kellough Coached 6 Years

At Oldtown, Tucker replaces Ronnie Kellough, who has been head basketball coach there for six consecutive years. Kellough has tutored basketball at Oldtown since the 1955-56 season when the school made its debut in the sport.

Tucker excelled in football with Coach Bill Hahn's teams at Fort Hill and also was an outstanding track star. He was graduated in 1949, served in the Air Force and attended Shepherd College where he starred on the gridiron.

Bishields, replaces Norman Nightengale as coach of basketball and track at Cresaptown. George was a three sports star at Mt. Savage where he excelled in baseball, basketball and soccer and was the leading pitcher in the Pen-Mar Baseball League for Zihlman in 1957, the year he was graduated from high school.

Other changes in the county concern the assistant coaching posts at Allegany and Beall high schools.

Chapman Replaces Cuba

Ronnie Chapman replaces Paul Cuba as first football assistant to head coach Ed Schwarz at Allegany and Nile "Bob" Chaney takes the place of Frank R. Munson, as assistant to Gerard "Jerry" Calhoun, Beall High's head football coach.

A graduate of Frostburg State, Chapman was 1950 football captain at Allegany High School and played an end position. He assisted Schwarz last season. Carlton Shore, one-time Fort Hill guard, and member of the Allegany High faculty, has been Schwarz's other assistant.

Cuba, who played football at Pitt under the late "Doc" Sutherland, served as aide at Allegany under Chester G. Payne and Schwarz. Paul gave up his post as assistant coach but will remain as a member of the faculty.

Frank Munson Resigns

Munson, who directs the Beall High School band, stepped down as assistant football coach, a post he has held for several years. Chaney, who has been junior varsity coach at Beall, is a graduate of Ridgeley High School and Shepherd College.

James W. Manges will remain as head coach at LaSalle High School this year. Fred Corbin will return as asssitant but there is some uncertainty as to whether Dickie Beard will be back as assistant. Manges made his debut as head coach of the Explorers last year.

Dan Athletics, Braves Win In Little League

The Braves broke a deadlock for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday by defeating the Senators, 13-2, at Constitution Park for their 10th win in 12 games this year.

The triumph pushed Manager Bert Lawler's Braves one-half game ahead of the idle Indians (9-2) in the tight pennant race.

Herbie Springer pitched his fifth victory without a defeat despite walking 12 batters. Springer whiffed nine and allowed only two hits — a double by Joe Felten and a single by Nelson Carroll.

Springer belted two triples and Pat McLean and George Franklin one each while Jim Brannon had a double and triple and Perky Yates a single and a two-bagger to pace the Braves' heavy hitting.

The triumph was the fourth in a row for the Braves while the Senators (1-11) have dropped six straight tilts.

At Penn Avenue, Manager Bob Ziler's Athletics won an extra-inning thriller by shoving over two runs in the top of the seventh to beat the Dodgers, 4-3.

Gary Long picked up his first mound victory although he was relieved by Kyle Geatz in the seventh. The Athletics' hurler belted a tie-breaking home run to lead off the seventh and the winners added what proved to be the winning tally on a walk and a two-bagger by Blair Norris.

Tommy Clay, who relieved Poncho Klosterman in the 7th, was the losing pitcher. The Dodgers rallied for one run in the bottom of the seventh on a hit batsman and three walks.

Long had a double in addition to his homer, Norris hit a homer and double, Terry Ashby and Kyle Geatz each had two hits to lead the Athletics at bat. Piper had a pair of singles for the Dodgers. The results:

Ellerslie's Vern Lowery picked up his 16th pitching triumph to tie Hyndman's Junior Brelsford for winning honors in the circuit as Ellerslie defeated Stringtown yesterday, 10-5.

Greenpoint Inn claimed a forfeit win over Kennell's Mill when the latter failed to field a team for their game. The win enabled the Old Exports to gain a half-game on the idle Hyndman Vets who are leading the league.

Barrelville broke a scoreless deadlock in the third when Jon Witt hit a two-run homer and added another pair in the fourth on a solo homer by Ronnie Neubiser, two singles and an error.

The win went to Shaffer who hurled one-hit ball for six innings before being relieved by Jerry O'Baker who blanked Corriganville in the seventh. Newt Carter's single in the fourth was the only hit obtained by the losers.

Witt smacked a double in addition to his home run to pace Barrelville at the plate.

Ellerslie scored seven runs in the fourth inning and added three more in the fifth to ice its 16th win. Vern Lowery smashed a grand slam homer in the big fourth while Charles Shaffer hit a homer and double for the winners. Carl May had a double for the only extra base hit for Stringtown.

Turning a corner at 13 m.p.h. puts as much wear on your tires as driving 10 miles on the highway at 40 m.p.h.!

These stop-action photos show how a tire tread looks while turning a corner. They were shot from beneath a glass highway, built by B. F. Goodrich to study actual tire wear. Here the tire begins the turn. Note distortion in outside edge.

Now, split seconds later, the turn gets sharper. You can see that the distortion in the outside edges increases. That's because turning puts terrific stress on your tires every time you take a corner—even at low speeds.

Here the tire is in full turn. Distortion on the outside edges is extreme, but there's little action in center ribs. That's why B. F. Goodrich puts more rubber in the outside edges where tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge!

Action photos shot through "glass highway" show severe pressure on outside edge of turning tire. That's where B.F.Goodrich puts extra rubber to fight wear...it's

THE BIG EDGE!

Other tires have narrow edges, as this diagram shows. Following tradition, the rubber is concentrated in the center ribs. But in today's driving, that's a "dead center," where tire action and tire wear are least. Look at your own tires and you'll see the first signs of wear are on the outside edges.

BFG Silvertown's radical new tread design puts up to twice as much rubber as other major-brand, first-line tires in the tread's outside edges. That's where today's tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge—and a big edge in safety and mileage for you! Yet you pay no more for a Silvertown!

Manager Patsy Algieri's Jaycees reeled off their fifth straight victory and moved within 2½ games of first place in the Hot Stove Baseball League by whipping the Outdoor Club yesterday at Mason Road Field by the score of 5-2.

Mike Adams (3-3) went the route for the league's second place club and held O.D.C. to two hits. One was a homer by Jim Graham who also batted in the other tally with a sacrifice fly. Phillips singled for the other Outdoor safety.

A hit batsman, a walk, two singles and Tom Zembower's double produced three Jaycee tallies in the third inning.

Adams accounted for two of the winners' four safeties.

Skipper Ced Miller's Bedford Road Optimists remained a half game back of the Jaycees by downing the Salvation Army last evening at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 12-0.

It was the fourth whitewashing suffered by the S.A. nine this season.

Jim Willis, Bedford Road hurler, bagged his sixth victory and fired the third strike past 14 batsmen. He yielded only three safeties, singles by Deffenbaugh, Fix and Kyhos.

Willis also sparker the Optimists at the plate with four-for-five, including a double. Carl Morrison collected a double and single, Carl Thomas had two singles and Dave Martin larruped a triple.

Federal Judge Invalidates NFL 2-Year Television Pact

Nine Million Deal With CBS Violated Decision Of 1953

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Federal judge Thursday invalidated the National Football League's television contract for 1961-62.

Judge Allan K. Grim of U.S. District Court, ruled that the $9,300,000 package deal for two years between the NFL and the Columbia Broadcasting System violated a decision he handed down Dec. 12, 1953, and therefore was in violation of anti-trust laws.

"I am obliged the construe the final judgement (of the court) as prohibiting execution and performance of the contract dated April 28, 1961," the ruling said.

Deal Is Questioned

The Department of Justice questioned the legality of the new NFL-CBS deal, concluded by League Commissioner Pete Rozelle and giving CBS the right to telecast all league games through the next two seasons.

It was in response to this opposition that Grim gave his ruling Thursday.

Under the terms of the contract, which the 14 member clubs of the NFL authorized Rozelle to negotiate and sign, all clubs would have shared the annual $4,650,000 fee, after certain exemption and deductions.

In the past, the clubs made their own deals for the telecasting of their games. The new contract departs from that practice, the judge noted, in that the member clubs agreed that each will not sell its television rights separate and apart from the others, but would sell all their pooled rights in a package.

"By this agreement," the ruling said, "the member clubs. . .have eliminated competition among themselves in the sale of television rights to their games.

"Clearly this restricts the individual clubs from determining from which areas the telecasts of their games may be made, since defendants (the NFL) have by their contract given to CBS the pwer to determine which games shall be telecast and where."

Rozelle Answers

In New York, Rozelle made the following statement:

"This decision will have far reaching effect on televised sports events. The National Football League contract with CBS-TV is the same type that has been employed by other sports leagues and heretofore has gone unchallenged.

"I am keenly disappointed with this decision, and we are consulting our attorneys as to the possible future course of action.

"The NFL entered into this contract in order to insure continuation of its policy to televising all road games of a league team to its home area. This unique plan has played a major part in the development of professional football and has been widely acclaimed by sports fans throughout the country."

Billy Stacy, rookie safetyman for the St. Louis Cardinals' football team last season, is hoping to play as an offensive halfback this fall.

Thorp hit a home run and Ken Layman and Jim Pinto each had two hits for the winners while Colosimo doubled in a losing cause for the Rotary. The results:

Caseys Defeat VFW, 6-4, Moose Top Ritter's, 9-1

Pittsburgh Plate	9	11	.450

Rallying for four runs in the fifth inning, the Knights of Columbus scored a 6-4 come-from-behind victory over the V.F.W. yesterday at Stitcher Field and cut the leaders' margin in the Rocking Chair Softball League to three games over the Loyal Order of Moose tossers who reeled off their fifth consecutive victory over Ritter's A. C. in a 9-1 contest staged at Campobello.

Trailing 4-2 going into the fifth frame, the Caseys coupled singles by George Geatz and Allan Sheetz with Norm Sell's walk, an error and Mickey Clark's sacrifice fly to put the game on ice. Collins and Clark batted in one run each and Sheetz's two-run single put the Knights ahead at 5-4.

The win gave the Caseys a 2-1 lead in the series.

Sheetz recorded his sixth win of the campaign while Jack Eckard dropped his second game in a row and is now 8-2. Eckard fanned seven as did Sheetz.

Tom Mullaney rapped a triple for the K. of C. while Ted Durbin collected two hits and Mel Dean and Vern Penner smacked two base hits.

Phillips Bags Fifth

Hayden Phillips made it 5-0 for the season in tossing a one-hitter against Ritter's. The Moose ace whiffed seven, getting the side in the third and two batsmen each in the fourth and sixth innings.

Glenn Kauffman suffered his second straight setback and is now 9-7.

The high-flying Moose slapped the offerings of Kauffman for 16 hits. Johnny Price led the attack with three blows while Woody Woodson, Pete Cecil and Fradiska had two blows each, including a two-bagger by the latter.

Ritter's had won the first two games of the series from the Moose.

The only run scored by the R. A. C. came on errors in the second inning. Kauffman beat out a bunt for the losers' only safety in the fifth frame.

Shuck Notches 11th

Nile Shuck registered his 11th win of the season in hurling third place Celanese A. A. to an 8-3 decision over the Elks, who dropped their third game in a row, at Celanese Field.

Manager John Vocke's club blasted Jack Stotler and Paul Roeder for 12 safeties. Mick Cunningham and Jim Manges had two singles each, Ozzie Nelson obtained a triple and double and Don Harden smashed a home run. Jack Connelly had two of the Elks' eight hits, a double and single.

The C. & P. Telephone Company went down to defeat for the eleventh straight time as Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company whipped the Phonemen at Fort Hill Field, 8 to 4.

Bill Thompson (8-8) limited C. & P. to five hits, including triples by Brown and Burns and two blows by Kahl.

Kreiger Belts Homer

Fred Kreiger was the "big gun" for P. P. G. with three-run homer in the 7th inning in addition to a two-base belt. Ronnie Ingram also had two hits for the victors. Scores:

Federal Judge Invalidates NFL 2-Year Television Pact

Nine Million Deal With CBS Violated Decision Of 1953

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Federal judge Thursday invalidated the National Football League's television contract for 1961-62.

Judge Allan K. Grim of U.S. District Court, ruled that the $9,300,000 package deal for two years between the NFL and the Columbia Broadcasting System violated a decision he handed down Dec. 12, 1953, and therefore was in violation of anti-trust laws.

"I am obliged the construe the final judgement (of the court) as prohibiting execution and performance of the contract dated April 28, 1961," the ruling said.

Deal Is Questioned

The Department of Justice questioned the legality of the new NFL-CBS deal, concluded by League Commissioner Pete Rozelle and giving CBS the right to telecast all league games through the next two seasons.

It was in response to this opposition that Grim gave his ruling Thursday.

Under the terms of the contract, which the 14 member clubs of the NFL authorized Rozelle to negotiate and sign, all clubs would have shared the annual $4,650,000 fee, after certain exemption and deductions.

In the past, the clubs made their own deals for the telecasting of their games. The new contract departs from that practice, the judge noted, in that the member clubs agreed that each will not sell its television rights separate and apart from the others, but would sell all their pooled rights in a package.

"By this agreement," the ruling said, "the member clubs. . .have eliminated competition among themselves in the sale of television rights to their games.

"Clearly this restricts the individual clubs from determining from which areas the telecasts of their games may be made, since defendants (the NFL) have by their contract given to CBS the pwer to determine which games shall be telecast and where."

Rozelle Answers

In New York, Rozelle made the following statement:

"This decision will have far reaching effect on televised sports events. The National Football League contract with CBS-TV is the same type that has been employed by other sports leagues and heretofore has gone unchallenged.

"I am keenly disappointed with this decision, and we are consulting our attorneys as to the possible future course of action.

"The NFL entered into this contract in order to insure continuation of its policy to televising all road games of a league team to its home area. This unique plan has played a major part in the development of professional football and has been widely acclaimed by sports fans throughout the country."

Billy Stacy, rookie safetyman for the St. Louis Cardinals' football team last season, is hoping to play as an offensive halfback this fall.

Phil Colosimo was the losing pitcher for Rotary.

Thorp hit a home run and Ken Layman and Jim Pinto each had two hits for the winners while Colosimo doubled in a losing cause for the Rotary. The results:

Lions	134	000—8	7 2

George Thorp and Jim Pinto. Phil Colosimo, Rick Kerr (2), Gary Loar (3) and Glenn Kerr.

Rallying for four runs in the fifth inning, the Knights of Columbus scored a 6-4 come-from-behind victory over the V.F.W. yesterday at Stitcher Field and cut the leaders' margin in the Rocking Chair Softball League to three games over the Loyal Order of Moose tossers who reeled off their fifth consecutive victory over Ritter's A. C. in a 9-1 contest staged at Campobello.

Trailing 4-2 going into the fifth frame, the Caseys coupled singles by George Geatz and Allan Sheetz with Norm Sell's walk, an error and Mickey Clark's sacrifice fly to put the game on ice. Collins and Clark batted in one run each and Sheetz's two-run single put the Knights ahead at 5-4.

The win gave the Caseys a 2-1 lead in the series.

Sheetz recorded his sixth win of the campaign while Jack Eckard dropped his second game in a row and is now 8-2. Eckard fanned seven as did Sheetz.

Tom Mullaney rapped a triple for the K. of C. while Ted Durbin collected two hits and Mel Dean and Vern Penner smacked two base hits.

Phillips Bags Fifth

Hayden Phillips made it 5-0 for the season in tossing a one-hitter against Ritter's. The Moose ace whiffed seven, getting the side in the third and two batsmen each in the fourth and sixth innings.

Glenn Kauffman suffered his second straight setback and is now 9-7.

The high-flying Moose slapped the offerings of Kauffman for 16 hits. Johnny Price led the attack with three blows while Woody Woodson, Pete Cecil and Fradiska had two blows each, including a two-bagger by the latter.

Ritter's had won the first two games of the series from the Moose.

The only run scored by the R. A. C. came on errors in the second inning. Kauffman beat out a bunt for the losers' only safety in the fifth frame.

Shuck Notches 11th

Nile Shuck registered his 11th win of the season in hurling third place Celanese A. A. to an 8-3 decision over the Elks, who dropped their third game in a row, at Celanese Field.

Manager John Vocke's club blasted Jack Stotler and Paul Roeder for 12 safeties. Mick Cunningham and Jim Manges had two singles each, Ozzie Nelson obtained a triple and double and Don Harden smashed a home run. Jack Connelly had two of the Elks' eight hits, a double and single.

The C. & P. Telephone Company went down to defeat for the eleventh straight time as Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company whipped the Phonemen at Fort Hill Field, 8 to 4.

Bill Thompson (8-8) limited C. & P. to five hits, including triples by Brown and Burns and two blows by Kahl.

Kreiger Belts Homer

Fred Kreiger was the "big gun" for P. P. G. with three-run homer in the 7th inning in addition to a two-base belt. Ronnie Ingram also had two hits for the victors. Scores:

Kress' Sub-Par 70 Wins At Pittsburgh

Steve Johnson, spring golf champion of the Cumberland Country Club and Maryland Jaycee junior champion, finished in fifth place in the qualifying round of the United States Golf Association Junior Tournament held Tuesday at Edgewood in Pittsburgh.

Johnson's card for the 18 holes was 40-39—79.

Mike Kress of Alcoma shot a one-under-par 70 to qualify for the national tournament at the Cornell University course, Ithaca, N. Y., August 2-5.

Kress broke par despite a double bogey five on the par three 12th hole by getting consecutive birdies on 16 and 17, two par fives.

Stocks Close Irregular In Dull Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks never got warmed up Thursday, closing as they opened — narrowly mixed and dull.

Volume for the session was the smallest of the month, totaling 2,530,000 against 2,940,000 in the previous session.

The market was the narrowest since July 3 with only 1,213 issues crossing the tape — 37 less than the prior session and 42 less than the same day last week. A total of 456 issues advanced, 11 to new highs, and 517 declined, 31 to new lows.

Standard & Poor's comprehensive 500 stock index wound up at 64.71 for a paltry gain of 0.01.

The Dow-Jones 30 industrial average posted a gain of 0.23 to finish at 682.97 with Procter & Gamble, up a point, and General Electric, down ⅞ on profit-taking, the widest movers.

Utilities closed up 0.51 at 113.72 with Public Service Electric & Gas up 1¼ and People's Gas down 1.

Stocks Close Irregular In Dull Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks never got warmed up Thursday, closing as they opened — narrowly mixed and dull.

Volume for the session was the smallest of the month, totaling 2,530,000 against 2,940,000 in the previous session.

The market was the narrowest since July 3 with only 1,213 issues crossing the tape — 37 less than the prior session and 42 less than the same day last week. A total of 456 issues advanced, 11 to new highs, and 517 declined, 31 to new lows.

Standard & Poor's comprehensive 500 stock index wound up at 64.71 for a paltry gain of 0.01.

The Dow Jones 30 industrial average posted a gain of 0.23 to finish at 682.97 with Procter & Gamble, up a point, and General Electric, down ⅞ on profit-taking, the widest movers.

Utilities closed up 0.51 at 113.72 with Public Service Electric & Gas up 1¼ and People's Gas down 1.

Walt Disney Productions was the most active issue losing 1⅝ points on a turnover of 37,300 shares. A block of 26,600 shares, off 2¾ near the close, made up a large portion of the total.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

C D D Z D D G P D G W X G V X L,
W S T C D D Z G D B T C D V Y Z D G C B S L
— M G W A.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —July soybeans expired with a 2-cent range Thursday to feature an irregular grain market on the last day of trading in old crop deliveries.

Wheat closed off ¼ to up ⅜ on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn was off ⅛ to up ⅛. Oats were ⅛ to up ⅞. Rye off ⅛ to 2¼, soybeans off 1 to up 6.

Evening up and profit-taking dominated the market through most of the session, although prices began rallying shortly before the close.

Most interest centered in the nervous July soybean contract. Open commitments totaled 13,500,000 bushels at the start, with 526,000 bushels tendered.

The old soybean contract rose 3¼ cents in early trading, but the advance was quickly lost as selling increased. Heavy buying appeared again near the close. Meal and oil also fell off sharply.

Despite some liquidation, wheat futures were buoyed by light hedge sales and buying for mill and export account. Commission houses bought to stem an early decline. Yesterday's reportedly took 800,000 bushels of red and hard wheat.

Corn began easing late in the day after trading Commission selling was stepped up, especially in deferred months. Operators bought July and sold September at a difference of 3¼ cents.

Commission pressure and a downturn at Winnipeg touched off stop orders in rye. Prices dropped sharply, with nearby positions falling nearly 3 cents a bushel.

Oats were weak and mostly lower. Commission houses worked both sides of the market. Northwest interests sold December.

Outside markets were also mostly lower.

Cards of Thanks

We take this means to thank our friends and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Raymond Yantz. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

WIFE AND SON

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Robert Patterson Doman, who died in Korea, July 21, 1952:

SOMEWHERE

How can I cease to pray for thee?
Somewhere in God's great universe thou art today;
Can He not reach thee with His tender care?
Can He not hear me when for thee I pray?
What matters it to Him who holds within
The hollow of His hand all worlds, all space,
That thou art done with earthly pain and sin?
Somewhere within His ken thou hast a place.
Somewhere thou livest and hast need of Him:
Somewhere thy soul sees higher heights to climb;
And somewhere still there may be valleys dim,
That thou must pass to reach the hills sublime.
Then all the more, because thou cans't not hear
Poor human words of blessing, will I pray,
O true, brave hear! God bless thee whereso'er
In His great universe thou art today!
When we step beyond life's gateway,
As our loving son now has done,
We shall find a land of beauty
With a never setting sun.

Cards of Thanks

We take this means to thank our friends and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Raymond Yantz. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

WIFE AND SON

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Robert Patterson Doman, who died in Korea, July 21, 1952.

SOMEWHERE

How can I cease to pray for thee?
Somewhere in God's great universe thou art today;
Can He not reach thee with His tender care?
Can He not hear me when for thee I pray?
What matters it to Him who holds within
The hollow of His hand all worlds, all space,
That thou art done with earthly pain and sin?
Somewhere within His ken thou hast a place.
Somewhere thou livest and hast need of Him:
Somewhere thy soul sees higher heights to climb;
And somewhere still there may be valleys dim,
That thou must pass to reach the hills sublime.
Then all the more, because thou cans't not hear
Poor human words of blessing, will I pray,
O true, brave hear! God bless thee whereso'er
In His great universe thou art today!
When we step beyond life's gateway,
As our loving son now has done,
We shall find a land of beauty
With a never setting sun.

Congressional Viewpoint
by Sen. John M. Butler

Last fall, during the Presidential campaign, three different federal employes attempted to place stickers on their cars boosting a candidate. Supervisors in their agencies handed down three different rulings: (1) that an employe could place a sticker on his car at all times; (2) that an employe could not place a sticker on his car at any time; (3) that an employe could place it on his car except when going to and from work.

Because of such contradictory misinterpretations of the Hatch Political Activities Act, I have introduced a bill which spells out positively activities in which a government employe can legitimately engage without fear of reprisal. Of course, some rules are needed. Government employes should be prevented from using their position to influence the casting of votes or to perpetuate one party or the other. And "assessments" on government officials and subordinates should be strictly forbidden.

Approximately three million Americans are fully subject to the Hatch Act. If we consider that last November's election was decided by only 113,000 votes, we can understand how important is the interpretation of the Act. How many government employes failed to exercise their legal rights last year to engage in political activities. For example, it was reported to my office that several federal workers walked out of the Absentee Voters' Bureau in Washington when asked for their names for fear their jobs would be jeopardized!

My bill will make the following activities clearly legitimate for government workers. (1) attendance at political meetings, conventions and caucuses as well as membership in political clubs; (2) the right to express views at these meetings on any political candidate or subject under discussion; (3) the right to contribute money to political parties, to wear political buttons and to display pictures and posters in their homes and on their automobiles. The legislation will also erase the mistaken notion that the wives and husbands of government employes are prohibited from actively engaging in political activities.

I have been informed by the chairman of the Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections that public hearings will soon be forthcoming on my bill. I am hopeful that this legislation will encourage government employes everywhere to exercise not only the right to vote but their obligation to strengthen and improve their party—whichever it may be.

Massendale Ties Hawkins For Lead

By DANIEL HANLEY JR.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Two "hungry" Texans, Fred Hawkins of El Paso and Don Massendale of Jacksboro, both shot torrid, five-under par 65s Thursday to take the lead after the first round of the second annual $30,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

Hawkins, 37, in his 15th year on the professional tour, had a low front nine total of 30, with five birdies, and came in with a par 35 on the back nine with one birdie and a bogey. Hawkins, a consistent money-winner in the past, hasn't had a finish in the top ten money in a tournament all season.

Massendale, 24, former Texas State amateur and Southwest Conference champion, turned in nines of 34 and 31, with two birdies and a bogey on the front nine and five birdies and a bogey on the back nine. Massendale has managed to win only about $1,700 on the tour so far this year.

A total of 132 professionals and 11 amateurs teed off on the 6,410 yard, par 70 North Hills Country Club course.

Jacky Cupit, 23, Longview, Tex. the sensational rookie professional, fresh from winning last weekend's Canadian Open, and hefty Tommy Veech Milwaukee, were one stroke back with 66's. On the front nine Cupit had birdies on the 2nd, 4th and 6th holes for a 32. He had a 34 on the back nine with three birdies and two bogies. Veech, playing his home course, turned in nines of 34 and 32, with five birdies and one bogie.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, the current Big Ten and NCAA champion, and veteran Tommy Bolt, Crystal River, Fla., a former U.S. Open champion, and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., were tied with 67's.

Corky Hickle chalked up his 7th consecutive pitching triumph of the season yesterday when he twirled the LaVale Maroons to a 10-0 decision over Tri-State Memorial at Parkside Field and enabled his team to maintain a half game lead in the Pen-Mar Little League.

Hickle tossed a 6-hitter, fanned seven and aided his cause by belting a home run.

The Maroons' nine-hit attack also included Mark Freeman's triple, double and single and two hits each by Mark Perry and Dickie Eyler. Tom Barton blasted a triple and single and Bobby Deremer had a pair of base knocks for the losers.

Barrelville stayed right in the thick of the pennant race by trimming the Eagles at Cresaptown to the tune of 5-1.

Steve Rice and Jim Williams limited the Eagles to five hits and the former received credit for the win, his fourth of the season. John Helmick obtained two hits and Williams walloped a homer for Barrelville. Bobby Philips socked a triple and single and Floyd Skelly had two singles for the Eagles. Scores:

Ty Cobb Finished Autobiography Six Weeks Before Death

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —Baseball immortal Ty Cobb finished his autobiography, "My Life in Baseball," only six weeks before he died of cancer, his collaborator said Thursday.

Al Stump of Santa Barbara, a magazine writer, said the 125,000-word book will be published in September by Doubleday and Co. It contains a foreword by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a longtime Cobb fan.

The book seeks to give Cobb's explanation of many controversial incidents and stories concerning his diamond career, Stump said. It was written in the last 10 months of his life while he was in considerable pain in hospitals at Stanford, Calif., Atlanta, Ga., and here. He finished it here.

Cobb died Monday at Atlanta and was buried Wednesday.

A High School Rec League all-star team composed of players in the schoolboy loop and in the Pen Mar Baseball League will meet the Fort Cumberland Post, Junior American Legion nine in an exhibition game Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

The contest, scheduled as a tuneup for the local Mountain District Legion winners prior to their sectional playoffs next week in Frederick, will feature 21 of the top players in the Rec League plus Wayne Johnson and Fay Often from the Pen Mar circuit.

The Cumberland Junior American Legion team has been idle since clinching the Mountain District title with an 11-8 triumph over Frostburg on July 11. The Fort Cumberland Post tossers will play a best-of-three series at Frederick beginning with a doubleheader on Saturday, July 29. A third game, if necessary will be played at Frederick on Sunday, July 30.

The Rec League stars will be piloted by Bob Shelley and Frank Zahradka while George Zegles is manager of the Legion nine.

Barton Upset By Zihlman In Twilight Loop

Braves Lose, 3-2; Franklin Wins First

Zihlman	14	9	.609
Westernport	12	10	.545
Danville	5	18	.217
Franklin	1	22	.043

Zihlman upset the league-leading Barton Braves, 3-2, as Klondyke pulled within a half-game of the top with a 7-3 triumph over Westernport in the feature games of the Twilight Baseball League yesterday.

And in the third contest, Franklin's cellar-dwellers snapped a 22-game losing streak by rallying for three runs in last of the seventh to edge Danville's 220 Rebels, 7-6, at Zihlman when Hank Winner tripled with the bases full in the fifth inning, overcoming a 2-0 Barton lead.

George Lauder smashed a solo home run for Barton's initial run in the first inning and Graves added another tally in the third on a wild pitch.

Ken Harris opened Zihlman's rally in the fifth by reaching base on an error. Pat Folk singled and Terry Rizer beat out a bunt to load the sacks, setting the stage for Winner's game-winning blow.

Klondyke's Colts took advantage of the Barton loss to edge closer to the leaders by turning back Westernport at Midland.

Jim Winters hurled all the way on a nine-hitter for Klondyke as the Colts picked up their 18th triumph of the season. Moose Arnone had three doubles and Andy Felker hit for the circuit to pace the Colt attack.

Jay Hill's three hits led the Westernport batters.

At Westernport, Franklin pounded Harry Iser for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to edge Danville,7-6, to win its first game of the year after dropping 22 in a row for one of the area's longest losing streaks this year.

Ed Laupert went the route for Franklin, yielding six singles and fanning six to pick up the win. Iser was the loser in relief of Jim Lease.

Bill Bennett and Don Bradley each hit a double and single for the winners.

Danville pulled a triple play in the second inning to snuff out a Franklin rally when Norman Raines caught a line drive to center and Franklin runners were caught off second and first base on the relay to Iser at shortstop and to Ahern at first.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

Last fall, during the Presidential campaign, three different federal employes attempted to place stickers on their cars boosting a candidate. Supervisors in their agencies handed down three different rulings: (1) that an employe could place a sticker on his car at all times; (2) that an employe could not place a sticker on his car at any time; (3) that an employe could place it on his car except when going to and from work.

Because of such contradictory misinterpretations of the Hatch Political Activities Act, I have introduced a bill which spells out positively activities in which a government employe can legitimately engage without fear of reprisal. Of course, some rules are needed. Government employes should be prevented from using their position to influence the casting of votes or to perpetuate one party or the other. And "assessments" on government officials and subordinates should be strictly forbidden.

Approximately three million Americans are fully subject to the Hatch Act. If we consider that last November's election was decided by only 113,000 votes, we can understand how important is the interpretation of the Act. How many government employes failed to exercise their legal rights last year to engage in political activities. For example, it was reported to my office that several federal workers walked out of the Absentee Voters' Bureau in Washington when asked for their names for fear their jobs would be jeopardized!

My bill will make the following activities clearly legitimate for government workers. (1) attendance at political meetings, conventions and caucuses as well as membership in political clubs; (2) the right to express views at these meetings on any political candidate or subject under discussion; (3) the right to contribute money to political parties, to wear political buttons and to display pictures and posters in their homes and on their automobiles. The legislation will also erase the mistaken notion that the wives and husbands of government employes are prohibited from actively engaging in political activities.

I have been informed by the chairman of the Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections that public hearings will soon be forthcoming on my bill. I am hopeful that this legislation will encourage government employes everywhere to exercise not only the right to vote but their obligation to strengthen and improve their party—whichever it may be.

Ty Cobb Finished Autobiography Six Weeks Before Death

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —Baseball immortal Ty Cobb finished his autobiography, "My Life in Baseball," only six weeks before he died of cancer, his collaborator said Thursday.

Al Stump of Santa Barbara, a magazine writer, said the 125,000-word book will be published in September by Doubleday and Co. It contains a foreword by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a longtime Cobb fan.

The book seeks to give Cobb's explanation of many controversial incidents and stories concerning his diamond career, Stump said. It was written in the last 10 months of his life while he was in considerable pain in hospitals at Stanford, Calif., Atlanta, Ga., and here. He finished it here.

Cobb died Monday at Atlanta and was buried Wednesday.

A total of 132 professionals and 11 amateurs teed off on the 6,410 yard, par 70 North Hills Country Club course.

Jacky Cupit, 23, Longview, Tex. the sensational rookie professional, fresh from winning last weekend's Canadian Open, and hefty Tommy Veech Milwaukee, were one stroke back with 66's. Carport Bid Is Tabled By Zoning Board

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night tabled the application of Espy T. Barley to build a carport at his home, 105 Karns Avenue.

James C. Gardner, chairman, told Mr. Barley the board will study all of the factors in the application and will try to make a decision by next Wednesday.

Mr. Barley has applied for a permit to build the 10-by-20 foot open carport and told the board he wants to get his car and a jeep off the street, which is heavily traveled.

He said his next-door neighbor has no objections and that the only opening the carport would obstruct is his neighbor's basement window.

Mr. Gardner said the board is sympathetic with the desire to get cars off the street, but that a decision cannot be made until all of the facts in the case are studied.

The testimony was heard by Mr. Gardner and Sidney H. Storer Sr., a member of the board.

$15,000 Damage Suit Filed In Circuit Court

Roof Collapses, Woman Injured

A $15,000 damage suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by a McMullen Highway tavern operator whose wife was injured when a section of the inn's roof collapsed on her after a supporting post was struck by an auto.

James S. Fitzpatrick, RD 3, Keyser, W. Va., through his counsel, Thomas Lohr Richards, local attorney, and Howard P. Shores, Keyser attorney, filed the suit against Herbert Hart, also of RD 3, Keyser.

The plaintiff claims that on December 12, 1960, the defendant started to drive his car away from the property of the plaintiff known as Rustic Inn on U.S. Route 220.

While still on the property the operator of the car in a "negligent and reckless manner" hit a post supporting the roof in front of the inn, causing the roof to collapse.

Josephine B. Fitzpatrick, his wife, and co-operator of the inn, was standing under the roof and was injured. She sustained a broken right hip, head injuries and bruises and contusions and was confined to Memorial Hospital here for 11 days.

The plaintiff claims his wife has been permanently disabled and has not been able to continue her occupation at the business establishment.

He said he was deprived of his wife's assistance and services, and also incurred hospital and medical expenses.

Traffic Lights Are Turned On

Police said an officer will be on duty at all times during the trial period, so the system can be turned off if it fails to function properly.

Maryland Heart Fund For 1961 Goes Over Top

The Maryland Heart Association, which closed its 1961 fund-raising campaign June 30, raised a total of $493,275.24 for research, education and community service, in the continuing war against America's No. 1 killer.

This figure compares with $482,960.13 donated in the previous year, or an increase of over $10,000.

In a letter and report to F. Allan Weatherholt, 1961 fund raising chairman for the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, Nelson T. Offutt, Baltimore, general chairman for the state drive, said an analysis shows that the local association had a high percentage increase over previous years.

Mr. Offutt, a native of Oakland and now an insurance executive in Baltimore, congratulated Mr. Weatherholt and all the local heart volunteers for the excellent campaign conducted in these two counties. He said, "Your campaign collected $2,886.81 over 1960, and represents the largest amount ever raised in your two counties for the war against heart disease."

Besides Baltimore city, there are nine associations in the state. Frederick County Heart Association showed an increase in giving over last year, as did Harford County Association; Montgomery County Association; Prince George's Association; Southern Maryland Association and Upper Shore Association.

Decreases were noted in Baltimore City, Washington County and the Lower Eastern Shore associations, attributed largely to heavy unemployment in those areas compared to last year.

Increased giving in seven county chapters, Mr. Offutt said, put the drive over the top. The nine chapters in the county gave $216,615.69 this year compared to $200,696.82 last year. Baltimore City area collected a total of $276,659.55 this year, compared to $282,263.31 last year, the report shows.

Carport Bid Is Tabled By Zoning Board

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night tabled the application of Espy T. Barley to build a carport at his home, 105 Karns Avenue.

James C. Gardner, chairman, told Mr. Barley the board will study all of the factors in the application and will try to make a decision by next Wednesday.

Mr. Barley has applied for a permit to build the 10-by-20 foot open carport and told the board he wants to get his car and a jeep off the street, which is heavily traveled.

He said his next-door neighbor has no objections and that the only opening the carport would obstruct is his neighbor's basement window.

Mr. Gardner said the board is sympathetic with the desire to get cars off the street, but that a decision cannot be made until all of the facts in the case are studied.
